U.S. Offers Assurance To NATO Allies

Stands By Promise To Supply Nuclear Missiles For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States hastily offered assurance to the NATO allies Friday that it stands by its promise to supply them with medium range nuclear missiles for defense against Soviet might.

The State Department issued a statement to that effect in an obvious effort to head off possible confusion in Europe resulting from a news conference held Thursday by Secretary of Defense McElroy.

McElroy said that the farther along the weapons designers move toward perfection of the 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile, the less interesting becomes the deployment of additional 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missiles to overseas locations.

Gained By Some

The impression was gained by some that the United States was de-emphasizing IRBMs in favor of concentrating on ICBMs based in the United States.

Such a course would mean reversing the program of IRBM bases in Europe which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles urged upon the North Atlantic allies in a meeting at Paris last December.

But the State Department, worried about Allied reaction to these implications, asserted that this is not the case at all.

"There have in fact been no basic changes in U.S. defense policy," the statement said. "It has been our consistent policy to build up the strength of our allies and at the same time to maintain both U.S. strategic forces and mobile forces capable of dealing with local situations.

"The purpose of our missiles program is to add to the over-all effectiveness of the free world's defenses. The IRBM and the ICBM programs are in fact but complementary parts of this single effort, both of which will add to the West's over-all security.

Best Suited

"The IRBM program is best suited to strengthening that part of the free world's defenses which lies in Europe. There is certainly no lessening of our intention to proceed with making IRBMs available to our European allies in accordance with the decision of the NATO heads-of-government meeting last December."

McElroy himself said that the United States will go ahead with production of all IRBMs now scheduled for production and overseas use.

Bandits Slay Bank Official

NEW YORK (UPI) —A 55-year-old bank vice president was shot to death Friday when he boldly ordered two masked bandits to get out of his bank in the midst of a holdup.

The gunmen, ignoring his orders, scooped up $11,500 and escaped in a getaway car driven by a third person. A customer was slightly wounded when he was hit by a ricocheting bullet that passed through the vice president's body.

Police said the bank had neither a burglar alarm nor a guard on duty.

The holdup took place at 11 a.m. at a branch of the United National Bank of Long Island in New York at Richmond Hills, Queens. Ten bank employes and four customers were in the bank at the time.

Agree To Pact

PARIS (UPI)—France and Russia Friday agreed on a three-year extension of a trade pact that will increase trade volume by 25 per cent and involve $285,714,045 worth of goods.

Family Censured For Not Wanting Elderly Father

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Varga, 83, stood in police court with bowed head Friday while his daughter summed up the complaint again him.

"We don't want him any more."

Varga had spent the night in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct signed by one of his four children, Mrs. Emily Kapcia, 55. He was arrested in the Kapcia home.

"We don't want him any more," Mrs. Kapcia told Judge Alfonse Wells. "He has three other children besides me, and none of them want him."

The judge dismissed the charge again Varga.

"In all my life I have never heard anything like this," he said, pointing a finger at Mrs. Kapcia. "You are the one who should be put in jail."

Moscow Rejects U.S. Plan For Control Of Tests

GENEVA (AP)—Moscow clearly rejected Friday ni_ht an American plan for controlled suspension of nuclear weapon tests. This left the three-power talks as far away from agreement as on their opening two weeks ago.

In Russia's first public comment on the talks since the plan was submitted, Moscow radio accused Britain and the United States of "clumsy maneuvers" to prevent an immediate, permanent cessation of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

The broadcast reiterated the Soviet claim that the first task of the Geneva negotiations is to reach agreement on test suspension rather than on an international control system to police such a ban.

Western sources said the United States and Britain regard this as a completely upside-down approach to the problem. This argument has been the main stumbling block to any progress in the talks since they opened here Oct. 31.

The American plan contained provision for a double commitment. Under it the atomic weapons powers would obligate themselves both to suspend tests and to work for a control system.

The West maintained that only through such a linking of obligations can a safe, meaningful ending of nuclear tests ever be achieved.

Moscow broadcast a long statement by Tass, the official Soviet news agency. The broadcast contained no direct analysis of the American plan but attacked the whole concept on which it is based.

The broadcast said if the U.S. and British governments are "really willing to accept the cessation of nuclear weapon tests, the Soviet government, as hitherto, is willing to sign immediately an agreement with them."

Pope's Coat Of Arms Published

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The new coat of arms of Pope John XXIII was published in L'Osservatore Romano Friday.

It combines the Roncalli family symbols and those of Venice, of which Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli was the patriarch until he was elected Pope.

The coat of arms shows a tower on a silver and red background, symbol of the Roncalli family, and two silver fleur-de-lis which he added when he was titular archbishop of Aeropolis and Mesembria. They are topped by the St. Mark lion, historical symbol of the Venetian Republic. The lion is holding an open book with the inscription in Latin: "Peace to you, Mark my evangelist." The Pope's tiara and St. Peter's crossed keys complete the design.

Transport Crew Bails Out When Its Engine Quits

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—The crew of an Air Force C119 transport plane parachuted Friday after the plane developed trouble in one engine.

Col. Frederick Betz, information services officer at nearby Hill Air Force Base, said he did not know how many persons were aboard. He said the radio report indicated only the crew was aboard. The plane normally carries a crew of five.

He said a radio message from the plane said the crew was bailing out shortly after the plane passed Ft. Bridger, Wyo., about 110 miles northeast of here.

Betz said the flight originated at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex.

The aircraft was flying at 12,000 feet when one of its engines quit, Betz said, and the crew decided to abandon it rather than risk losing altitude in the rugged mountain country between here and Ft. Bridger.

Betz said he didn't think the plane could have gotten much beyong the Utah-Wyoming state line, about 45 miles west of Ft. Bridger.

It was snowing at the time the men bailed out.

A helicopter and another C119 from Hill Air Force Base began searching.

Hammarskjold Hears Jordan's Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Jordanian Minister Thabet Khalidi took up with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold Friday his government's charges that Syrian jet fighters set upon King Hussein's plane.

Khalidi told a reporter he discussed the matter fully with Hammarskjold, but that he had not yet received instructions to bring charges before the Security Council.

Jordan declared that Syrian jets turned Hussein's plane back Monday when the monarch was flying to Europe for a vacation.

Oldest Civil War Vet Has Cake On 116th Birthday

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) —Walter Old Reb Williams, the oldest veteran of the Civil War, celebrated his 116th birthday Friday with a piece of cake, a "toddy" and a puff from a big cigar.

He only nibbled at the cake but insisted that Dr. Russell Wolfe, his regular physician, eat a piece with him. Dr. Wolfe said Williams felt better than he had in weeks.

"Father has been feeling poorly for the past few days, but he seemed to perk up quite a bit yesterday afternoon," his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, said.

'It probably was because he knew his birthday is today and he always enjoys the special attention he gets on his birthday."

Williams and John Salling, 112, of Slant, Va., are the only two Civil War veterans alive. Salling also is a Confederate.

Williams has been bedridden for the past year. He lives in Mrs. Bowles' home on a pension from the state. Mrs. Bowles said that because of his condition, she allowed him to have only a "token" party.

Two or three friends, in addition to Dr. Wolfe, visited him. Williams is almost totally blind and deaf.

He is the father of 27 children and has outlived two wives. His second wife died a year ago when she was 84.

Gregg Sherwood Goes On Trial In Assault Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Blonde Gregg Sherwood, 34, ex-showgirl wife of automobile executive Horace E. Dodge II, went on trial Friday on charges she attacked police officers after she was arrested on a drunk charge Aug. 26.

Miss Sherwood, wearing a form-fitting sheer, gray wool suit with a brown mink collar, was accompanied into municipal court by her wealthy husband. Selection of a jury began immediately.

The former showgirl, now Mrs. Dora Dodge, was jailed after what police said was a virtual free-for-all in which she assertedly kicked and spat at officers.

Two policewomen were treated for bruises and scratches following the wild, pre-dawn scene at city jail.

Mrs. Dodge's companion at the time of her arrest was Chicago newspaper columnist Irv Kupcinet, 46, who is scheduled to face trial on a drunk driving charge in December.

FBI Arrests Mafia Suspect

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — FBI agents Friday seized Joseph (Guiseppe) Bonanno, 53, a "delegate" to last year's gangland convention at Apalachin, N. Y. and suspected Mafia leader.

Bonanno was taken at his Tucson home, and was scheduled for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner. He was taken on the first anniversary of the hoodlum conclave in Apalachin, which was broken up by state police at the hilltop mansion of Joseph Barbara, Sr.

When arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Thomas McKay, bond was set at $75,000 upon the request of Assistant U. S. Dist. Atty. Kenneth Steinberg of Brooklyn. Hearing was set for Nov. 28 before McKay.

Joseph McMann, special agent in charge of the Phoenix office of the FBI, said Bonanno was arrested on a material witness warrant issued earlier Friday by U.S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein in Brooklyn. The warrant was issued after Bonanno refused to appear before a federal grand jury in Brooklyn.

Mediators Enter Chrysler Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Mediators brought Chrysler officials and striking office workers together Friday for the first time since the United Auto Workers called the production crippling walkout three days ago.

At the same time, the company gave the striking locals permission to send key personnel into the plants to get out a five-million-dollar payroll.

Hourly employes missed payday Friday after the office workers' strike halted work on payroll tabulation. The union said it hopes to complete the back payroll by Tuesday.

Soviet People Told Of Better Life By Leaders

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has promised the Soviet people a better life in his seven-year drive to outstrip capitalism in industrial production.

The Soviet citizens read Friday in newspapers about his program with its strong emphasis on heavy industry, on work and on expansion in every field of Communist endeavor.

They heard about it on Radio Moscow. Teams of commentators explained how Khrushchev in the next seven years proposes to boost national income by from 62 to 65 per cent, cut the work day to six hours, the work week to five days and still outproduce even the United States in many areas of the economy.

The Soviet program, which envisages an 80 per cent boost in gross industrial output by 1965, will lean on a new labor force of millions of school-age youths.

Linked to his seven-year plan, Khrushchev has developed a program of "work while you learn" that will cut deeply into the education period of Soviet children. It will give many of them more work in factories and on farms and less time in the classrooms.

The resulting man-hours of labor will contribute substantially to the Kremlin's seven-year industrial program.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda and the government newspaper Izvestia spread Khrushchev's theses and the announcements of the party Central Committee session over the bulk of their special 10-page editions.

Tucked into almost every section of Khrushchev's proposals on the seven-year plan was a promise of a better life in the future for the Soviet people.

He promised the average man and woman of the Soviet Union that eventually theirs would be the highest standard of living in the world.

He said major industrial programs still must come first, that heavy industry still must form the keystone of Soviet endeavor.

Khrushchev promised that if the program works out as planned, the Soviet people will enjoy the shortest work day and shortest work week in the world, more food than even in the United States, and everything needed to make living standards in the Soviet Union the world's highest.

The brief mention of Khrushchev's "education and work" program indicated a more detailed announcement of this phase of Soviet expansion is on the way.

Ogden New Veep Of Managing Editors

Ogden was elected by the APME Board of Directors, succeeding Coleman A. Harwell of the Nashville Tennessean.

U.S. Convoy Is Delayed By Soviets

Trucks Held Up 8½ Hours Trying To Leave Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet army held a convoy of three U.S. Army trucks for 8½ hours Friday. The trucks were stopped while seeking to leave isolated Berlin on a routine run to West Germany.

A U. S. Army spokesman said the Soviets at a check point outside West Berlin demanded a right to inspect the cargoes of the trucks — contrary to established procedures.

When the U. S. personnel with the trucks refused to bow to these demands, the Soviets held them.

The spokesman said the trucks were finally released after a protest was filed with Soviet army headquarters in East Berlin.

First Harassment

The halting of the convoy was the first such harassment since Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday demanded that Western troops pull out of West Berlin.

There have been repeated incidents in recent years when Soviet authorities have demanded inspection of trucks on the 110-mile highway link to west Germany. Such demands have been rejected consistently.

Allied officials indicated they could not be sure that the latest incident did not signal the start of a new Soviet campaign against Allied supply lines. It raised the specter of the 1948-49 Soviet blockade of Berlin that was overcome by the Allied airlift.

Civilian highway traffic, air and rail services were normal in and out of West Berlin.

Western Big Three officials conferred earlier in West Berlin on how to cope with Khrushchev's move to oust Allied troops from this divided city.

U. S., British and French political officials of the Allied garrisons met in an atmosphere somewhat less tense than when the Russian leader exploded his bombshell Monday.

Calls For End

Khrushchev called for an end to the four-power status of Berlin and said Soviet troops would hand over their occupation functions to Communist East Germany.

"We do not expect the Russians to withdraw unilaterally from any of the four-power agreements on Berlin," said a U. S. mission spokesman after the meeting.

Allied diplomats privately were less confident than the bravado of this line indicated.

West Berliners and their Allied protectors no longer are so apprehensive of an immediate blockade. They now believe Khrushchev is aiming at getting Allied troops out of both Berlin and West Germany through a four - power package deal.

But it is expected that he will try to needle the West toward such a deal through harassment of West Berlin and its exposed supply lines to West Germany, 110 miles away.

Soviet Man Is 150

LONDON (AP)—Mahmud Eivazov, oldest inhabitant of Soviet Azerbaijan, was 150 Friday and says he wouldn't mind living another 150 years, according to Radio Moscow.

His recipe for long life: "Work and good humor. A sad man cannot outlive misfortunes."

50-Cent Phone Call Costs Man From Boston $50

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—It cost Nelson Padron of Boston $50 to make a 50-cent telephone call.

This is how he did it, according to testimony in Southbridge District Court:

Padron, 27, who lives in Roxbury, appealed from a three-month House of Correction sentence for driving on the Massachusetts Turnpike after suspension of his license. He was given permission to call a Boston bondsman for $500 bail.

Policeman Thomas H. Peterson testified he watched Padron at the telephone, saw him use a worthless slug in the police station pay telephone, and promptly rearrested him.

On that charge, Padron was fined $50.

Gasoline Tax Raise Believed To Be Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials indicated Friday President Eisenhower is almost certain to ask Congress to increase the federal gasoline tax so superhighway construction won't strain the budget.

They also disclosed that Budget Director Maurice Stans and Postmaster General Summerfield conferred this week on the possibility of urging another increase in postal rates.

The search for additional revenue has been spurred by the prospect of a record peacetime budget deficit of more than 12 billion dollars in the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

Officials hope the budget which Eisenhower sends to Congress in January will indicate a substantially lower deficit for the 1960 fiscal year which begins next July 1. The impact of any revenue increases provided by Congress at this next session wouldn't be felt until fiscal 1960.

Sources at the Treasury and Budget Bureau said a proposal to increase the gas tax is one of about a dozen measures which Eisenhower may include in his 1959 legislative program. They emphasized no final decisions have been made. The President will have to act soon, however, so budget blueprints can be completed.

One informant said the plan currently under discussion would increase the gas tax 1 to 1½ cents a gallon from the present 3 cents.

Officials agreed it is virtually a foregone conclusion Eisenhower will ask for some boost in charges levied against highway users.

Gasoline taxes now net about $1,600,000,000 a year for the trust fund set up to finance the 41,000-mile network of interstate superhighways. Officials figure construction costs will exceed revenues by about 900 million dollars next fiscal year. The deficit could be held to about 240 million dollars, however, by using a surplus which will be available in the fund at the start of the year.

Stans told reporters in September he felt another increase in postal rates warranted serious consideration since Congress did not give the administration as big an increase as it asked for this year.

Ike Plays Golf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower, again taking advantage of Indian summer weather, played golf at the Burning Tree Club Friday for the third day in a row.

UN Overrides Russians; Seeks Free Korea Voting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly overrode Soviet objections Friday and once more called for free elections to bring about a unified democratic Korea.

The Assembly approved 54-9 with 17 abstentions a 13-nation resolution urging Communist North Korea to agree to the elections under U.N. supervision. Nepal was absent.

The resolution was sponsored by the United States and 12 other nations who fought in Korea under the U.N. flag. It earlier had been approved by the Assembly's Political Committee. The no votes were cast by the Soviet bloc. The division was the same as in the Assembly last year.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the Assembly its action amounted to a vote in favor of "the deadlock in which the Korean question has been floundering all this time."

He said it also meant the "sanctioning of the American occupation of Korea," and added: "No doubt the gallant and freedom-loving people of South Korea will not remain reconciled to American occupation."

In another action the Assembly voted 51-9 with 17 abstentions to continue the present U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev denounced the force as illegal and charged it contained "the aggressive idea of an international police force." The Soviet bloc nations have refused to pay any assessments for maintaining UNEF.

The Assembly passed over without comment the idea for creation of a U.N. standby peace force. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles both expressed a desire for the U.N. to arrange for such a force, but the move found no general support in the Assembly's special political committee.

Red Economy Plan Seeks To Pass U.S.

1970 Set For Soviet Eclipse Of America In Industry Power

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev has taken the wraps off his economic timetable for licking the United States.

The Soviet Premier and Communist party chieftain, in presenting his theses for the 21st Communist party meeting in Moscow in January set 1970 as the year for Soviet eclipse of the United States as the world's No. 1 industrial power.

And it follows, from the Soviet way of thinking, that on this basis the Soviet Union will have taken over world political leadership by then as well.

The Khrushchev plans make up a document testifying to the very real possibilities and potentialities of the Soviet Union in economic development.

Seven-Year Plan

They advance a new seven-year plan for Soviet economic development from 1959 through 1965 which would, if realized, put the U.S.S.R. within striking distance of overtaking the United States in economic might in five additional years.

Experience since the end of World War II indicates that even if there are failures in some particular areas, the over-all development plan announced by Khrushchev will be fulfilled.

American economic experience indicates that though the United States perhaps will make some progress between now and 1965 in increasing industrial and other output, such progress will be slow and characterized by ups and downs. The Soviets aim to increase their production at a much more rapid rate.

If the Soviet Union, by 1970, succeeds:

1. It will be able to produce more weapons, equip more armies, build larger fleets on the ocean and in the air, construct more and bigger missiles, provide more arms to allies and spend more money on military-scientific research than the United States.

More Economic Aid

2. It will be able to furnish more economic aid to underdeveloped nations, to spend more money on subversion of foreign politicians and organs of the press, to finance more espionage and subversive activity in non-Communist lands, to use its might in foreign trade to disrupt western channels of foreign trade. In short, it will be able to convert its economic power into political power abroad.

3. It will be able to devote far more capital than it can at the present time to the economic buildup of Communist China and other Communist countries. By this means it will add their increasing economic might to that of the Soviet Union in the world power struggle.

Army Forces Cut Is Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strength of the U.S. Army ground force may be cut by 30,000 men within the next few months.

This developed Friday from news conference statements of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff when asked about proposed reductions in Army and Marine manpower.

Taylor noted that the proposals were not new—they were part of the administration's budget proposals early this year—and added "There has never been any suggestion that we were not going to execute the President's budget."

The budget message suggested a cut in the Army strength from 900,000 to 870,000 men by next July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year. The cut was held off, however, because of a crisis in the Middle East last summer.

Taylor made plain that he would not oppose the reduction order, although he commented that he testified before congressional committees earlier this year that he believed Army strength should be 925,000.

What if a later move cut the Army even below 870,000?

"I would be very unhappy," Taylor said.

He said a radio message from the plane said the crew was bailing out shortly after the plane passed Ft. Bridger, Wyo., about 110 miles northeast of here.

Betz said the flight originated at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex.

The aircraft was flying at 12,000 feet when one of its engines quit, Betz said, and the crew decided to abandon it rather than risk losing altitude in the rugged mountain country between here and Ft. Bridger.

Betz said he didn't think the plane could have gotten much beyong the Utah-Wyoming state line, about 45 miles west of Ft. Bridger.

It was snowing at the time the men bailed out.

A helicopter and another C119 from Hill Air Force Base began searching.

Hammarskjold Hears Jordan's Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Jordanian Minister Thabet Khalidi took up with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold Friday his government's charges that Syrian jet fighters set upon King Hussein's plane.

Khalidi told a reporter he discussed the matter fully with Hammarskjold, but that he had not yet received instructions to bring charges before the Security Council.

Jordan declared that Syrian jets turned Hussein's plane back Monday when the monarch was flying to Europe for a vacation.

Gregg Sherwood Goes On Trial In Assault Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Blonde Gregg Sherwood, 34, ex-showgirl wife of automobile executive Horace E. Dodge II, went on trial Friday on charges she attacked police officers after she was arrested on a drunk charge Aug. 26.

Miss Sherwood, wearing a form-fitting sheer, gray wool suit with a brown mink collar, was accompanied into municipal court by her wealthy husband. Selection of a jury began immediately.

The former showgirl, now Mrs. Dora Dodge, was jailed after what police said was a virtual free-for-all in which she assertedly kicked and spat at officers.

Two policewomen were treated for bruises and scratches following the wild, pre-dawn scene at city jail.

Mrs. Dodge's companion at the time of her arrest was Chicago newspaper columnist Irv Kupcinet, 46, who is scheduled to face trial on a drunk driving charge in December.

FBI Arrests Mafia Suspect

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — FBI agents Friday seized Joseph (Guiseppe) Bonanno, 53, a "delegate" to last year's gangland convention at Apalachin, N. Y. and suspected Mafia leader.

Bonanno was taken at his Tucson home, and was scheduled for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner. He was taken on the first anniversary of the hoodlum conclave in Apalachin, which was broken up by state police at the hilltop mansion of Joseph Barbara, Sr.

When arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Thomas McKay, bond was set at $75,000 upon the request of Assistant U. S. Dist. Atty. Kenneth Steinberg of Brooklyn. Hearing was set for Nov. 28 before McKay.

Joseph McMann, special agent in charge of the Phoenix office of the FBI, said Bonanno was arrested on a material witness warrant issued earlier Friday by U.S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein in Brooklyn. The warrant was issued after Bonanno refused to appear before a federal grand jury in Brooklyn.

Mediators Enter Chrysler Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Mediators brought Chrysler officials and striking office workers together Friday for the first time since the United Auto Workers called the production crippling walkout three days ago.

At the same time, the company gave the striking locals permission to send key personnel into the plants to get out a five-million-dollar payroll.

Hourly employes missed payday Friday after the office workers' strike halted work on payroll tabulation. The union said it hopes to complete the back payroll by Tuesday.

Soviet People Told Of Better Life By Leaders

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has promised the Soviet people a better life in his seven-year drive to outstrip capitalism in industrial production.

The Soviet citizens read Friday in newspapers about his program with its strong emphasis on heavy industry, on work and on expansion in every field of Communist endeavor.

They heard about it on Radio Moscow. Teams of commentators explained how Khrushchev in the next seven years proposes to boost national income by from 62 to 65 per cent, cut the work day to six hours, the work week to five days and still outproduce even the United States in many areas of the economy.

The Soviet program, which envisages an 80 per cent boost in gross industrial output by 1965, will lean on a new labor force of millions of school-age youths.

Linked to his seven-year plan, Khrushchev has developed a program of "work while you learn" that will cut deeply into the education period of Soviet children. It will give many of them more work in factories and on farms and less time in the classrooms.

The resulting man-hours of labor will contribute substantially to the Kremlin's seven-year industrial program.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda and the government newspaper Izvestia spread Khrushchev's theses and the announcements of the party Central Committee session over the bulk of their special 10-page editions.

Tucked into almost every section of Khrushchev's proposals on the seven-year plan was a promise of a better life in the future for the Soviet people.

He promised the average man and woman of the Soviet Union that eventually theirs would be the highest standard of living in the world.

He said major industrial programs still must come first, that heavy industry still must form the keystone of Soviet endeavor.

Khrushchev promised that if the program works out as planned, the Soviet people will enjoy the shortest work day and shortest work week in the world, more food than even in the United States, and everything needed to make living standards in the Soviet Union the world's highest.

The brief mention of Khrushchev's "education and work" program indicated a more detailed announcement of this phase of Soviet expansion is on the way.

Ogden New Veep Of Managing Editors

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — Michael J. Ogden of the Providence Journal-Bulletin was elevated Friday from vice president to president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn.

Ogden was elected by the APME Board of Directors, succeeding Coleman A. Harwell of the Nashville Tennessean.

U.S. Convoy Is Delayed By Soviets

Trucks Held Up 8½ Hours Trying To Leave Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet army held a convoy of three U.S. Army trucks for 8½ hours Friday. The trucks were stopped while seeking to leave isolated Berlin on a routine run to West Germany.

A U. S. Army spokesman said the Soviets at a check point outside West Berlin demanded a right to inspect the cargoes of the trucks — contrary to established procedures.

When the U. S. personnel with the trucks refused to bow to these demands, the Soviets held them.

The spokesman said the trucks were finally released after a protest was filed with Soviet army headquarters in East Berlin.

First Harassment

The halting of the convoy was the first such harassment since Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday demanded that Western troops pull out of West Berlin.

There have been repeated incidents in recent years when Soviet authorities have demanded inspection of trucks on the 110-mile highway link to west Germany. Such demands have been rejected consistently.

Allied officials indicated they could not be sure that the latest incident did not signal the start of a new Soviet campaign against Allied supply lines. It raised the specter of the 1948-49 Soviet blockade of Berlin that was overcome by the Allied airlift.

Civilian highway traffic, air and rail services were normal in and out of West Berlin.

Western Big Three officials conferred earlier in West Berlin on how to cope with Khrushchev's move to oust Allied troops from this divided city.

U. S., British and French political officials of the Allied garrisons met in an atmosphere somewhat less tense than when the Russian leader exploded his bombshell Monday.

Calls For End

Khrushchev called for an end to the four-power status of Berlin and said Soviet troops would hand over their occupation functions to Communist East Germany.

"We do not expect the Russians to withdraw unilaterally from any of the four-power agreements on Berlin," said a U. S. mission spokesman after the meeting.

Allied diplomats privately were less confident than the bravado of this line indicated.

West Berliners and their Allied protectors no longer are so apprehensive of an immediate blockade. They now believe Khrushchev is aiming at getting Allied troops out of both Berlin and West Germany through a four - power package deal.

But it is expected that he will try to needle the West toward such a deal through harassment of West Berlin and its exposed supply lines to West Germany, 110 miles away.

Soviet Man Is 150

LONDON (AP)—Mahmud Eivazov, oldest inhabitant of Soviet Azerbaijan, was 150 Friday and says he wouldn't mind living another 150 years, according to Radio Moscow.

His recipe for long life: "Work and good humor. A sad man cannot outlive misfortunes."

50-Cent Phone Call Costs Man From Boston $50

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—It cost Nelson Padron of Boston $50 to make a 50-cent telephone call.

This is how he did it, according to testimony in Southbridge District Court:

Padron, 27, who lives in Roxbury, appealed from a three-month House of Correction sentence for driving on the Massachusetts Turnpike after suspension of his license. He was given permission to call a Boston bondsman for $500 bail.

Policeman Thomas H. Peterson testified he watched Padron at the telephone, saw him use a worthless slug in the police station pay telephone, and promptly rearrested him.

On that charge, Padron was fined $50.

Gasoline Tax Raise Believed To Be Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials indicated Friday President Eisenhower is almost certain to ask Congress to increase the federal gasoline tax so superhighway construction won't strain the budget.

They also disclosed that Budget Director Maurice Stans and Postmaster General Summerfield conferred this week on the possibility of urging another increase in postal rates.

The search for additional revenue has been spurred by the prospect of a record peacetime budget deficit of more than 12 billion dollars in the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

Officials hope the budget which Eisenhower sends to Congress in January will indicate a substantially lower deficit for the 1960 fiscal year which begins next July 1. The impact of any revenue increases provided by Congress at this next session wouldn't be felt until fiscal 1960.

Sources at the Treasury and Budget Bureau said a proposal to increase the gas tax is one of about a dozen measures which Eisenhower may include in his 1959 legislative program. They emphasized no final decisions have been made. The President will have to act soon, however, so budget blueprints can be completed.

One informant said the plan currently under discussion would increase the gas tax 1 to 1½ cents a gallon from the present 3 cents.

Officials agreed it is virtually a foregone conclusion Eisenhower will ask for some boost in charges levied against highway users.

Gasoline taxes now net about $1,600,000,000 a year for the trust fund set up to finance the 41,000-mile network of interstate superhighways. Officials figure construction costs will exceed revenues by about 900 million dollars next fiscal year. The deficit could be held to about 240 million dollars, however, by using a surplus which will be available in the fund at the start of the year.

Stans told reporters in September he felt another increase in postal rates warranted serious consideration since Congress did not give the administration as big an increase as it asked for this year.

Ike Plays Golf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower, again taking advantage of Indian summer weather, played golf at the Burning Tree Club Friday for the third day in a row.

UN Overrides Russians; Seeks Free Korea Voting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly overrode Soviet objections Friday and once more called for free elections to bring about a unified democratic Korea.

The Assembly approved 54-9 with 17 abstentions a 13-nation resolution urging Communist North Korea to agree to the elections under U.N. supervision. Nepal was absent.

The resolution was sponsored by the United States and 12 other nations who fought in Korea under the U.N. flag. It earlier had been approved by the Assembly's Political Committee. The no votes were cast by the Soviet bloc. The division was the same as in the Assembly last year.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the Assembly its action amounted to a vote in favor of "the deadlock in which the Korean question has been floundering all this time."

He said it also meant the "sanctioning of the American occupation of Korea," and added: "No doubt the gallant and freedom-loving people of South Korea will not remain reconciled to American occupation."

In another action the Assembly voted 51-9 with 17 abstentions to continue the present U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev denounced the force as illegal and charged it contained "the aggressive idea of an international police force." The Soviet bloc nations have refused to pay any assessments for maintaining UNEF.

The Assembly passed over without comment the idea for creation of a U.N. standby peace force. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles both expressed a desire for the U.N. to arrange for such a force, but the move found no general support in the Assembly's special political committee.

Red Economy Plan Seeks To Pass U.S.

1970 Set For Soviet Eclipse Of America In Industry Power

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev has taken the wraps off his economic timetable for licking the United States.

The Soviet Premier and Communist party chieftain, in presenting his theses for the 21st Communist party meeting in Moscow in January set 1970 as the year for Soviet eclipse of the United States as the world's No. 1 industrial power.

And it follows, from the Soviet way of thinking, that on this basis the Soviet Union will have taken over world political leadership by then as well.

The Khrushchev plans make up a document testifying to the very real possibilities and potentialities of the Soviet Union in economic development.

Seven-Year Plan

They advance a new seven-year plan for Soviet economic development from 1959 through 1965 which would, if realized, put the U.S.S.R. within striking distance of overtaking the United States in economic might in five additional years.

Experience since the end of World War II indicates that even if there are failures in some particular areas, the over-all development plan announced by Khrushchev will be fulfilled.

American economic experience indicates that though the United States perhaps will make some progress between now and 1965 in increasing industrial and other output, such progress will be slow and characterized by ups and downs. The Soviets aim to increase their production at a much more rapid rate.

If the Soviet Union, by 1970, succeeds:

1. It will be able to produce more weapons, equip more armies, build larger fleets on the ocean and in the air, construct more and bigger missiles, provide more arms to allies and spend more money on military-scientific research than the United States.

More Economic Aid

2. It will be able to furnish more economic aid to underdeveloped nations, to spend more money on subversion of foreign politicians and organs of the press, to finance more espionage and subversive activity in non-Communist lands, to use its might in foreign trade to disrupt western channels of foreign trade. In short, it will be able to convert its economic power into political power abroad.

3. It will be able to devote far more capital than it can at the present time to the economic buildup of Communist China and other Communist countries. By this means it will add their increasing economic might to that of the Soviet Union in the world power struggle.

Army Forces Cut Is Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strength of the U.S. Army ground force may be cut by 30,000 men within the next few months.

This developed Friday from news conference statements of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff when asked about proposed reductions in Army and Marine manpower.

Taylor noted that the proposals were not new—they were part of the administration's budget proposals early this year—and added "There has never been any suggestion that we were not going to execute the President's budget."

The budget message suggested a cut in the Army strength from 900,000 to 870,000 men by next July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year. The cut was held off, however, because of a crisis in the Middle East last summer.

Taylor made plain that he would not oppose the reduction order, although he commented that he testified before congressional committees earlier this year that he believed Army strength should be 925,000.

What if a later move cut the Army even below 870,000?

"I would be very unhappy," Taylor said.

Wheaton Mayor Arrested For Molesting Girl

CHICAGO (UPI) —The mayor of suburban Wheaton, Ill., was arrested as he sat in his car with a 14-year-old girl Friday. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Assistant State's Attorney Patrick Egan quoted the girl as saying the mayor, Edwin Farrar, 46, had made a telephone date with her and had started improper advances moments before the arrest.

Farrar, mayor of Wheaton since 1955 and a prominent attorney and civic leader, denied the story. He said the girl lived across the street from his office, and, when he saw her standing on a street corner in another suburb, Oak Park, he stopped his car and offered her a ride home.

Egan ordered Farrar booked after questioning both the mayor and the girl. Bond was set at $300 and Farrar made arrangements to be released Friday night. He was ordered to appear in court on the charges next Thursday.

Egan said the girl told him Farrar had been telephoning her since July, at first chatting, then asking for dates, and finally talking of intimacies. The girl consented to meet the mayor on the Oak Park corner, Egan said, and then told her parents. He and other authorities indicated the parents then notified Cook County authorities to be on the watch for the couple.

Egan quoted the girl as saying Farrar drove past her, then honked his auto horn twice, turned around, and stopped in front of her.

"Hello—come on, get in the car," the girl said Farrar told her.

As they drove, Egan quoted the girl as saying, Farrar talked of the price of a sweater he had promised to buy her. He finally gave her $10 to buy the sweater, Egan said.

Then, while the car was stopped at a traffic light, Egan said the girl told him, Farrar began making advances. He suggested they could "go to a motel if he had more time," Egan quoted the girl as saying. At almost the same moment, sheriff's police approached and put Farrar under arrest.

Farrar denied making any calls to the girl, a student at Wheaton Community High School, or offering to buy her anything, Egan said.

Mob Stones Gomez Office

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A mob of about 100 persons Friday night attacked the office of Argentine Vice President Alejandro Gomez, breaking windows and destroying papers.

Gomez was accused of heading a plot to unseat President Arturo Frondizi in midweek.

After the attack Gomez appealed for police protection but was told by police to make his request of the Interior Ministry.

Gomez was in his office in the Argentine Congress at the time of the attack but was reported unhurt.

Since the frustration of the alleged plot by Frondizi's show of force Wednesday night, Gomez has resisted efforts to throw him out of office.

He told reporters any impeachment moves against him would "really be a laugh."

A few hours before the attack on his office Gomez was the center of a cheering display outside by about 40 persons loudly voicing approval of his stand.

Butler Predicts Demo President

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Friday that his party would win the presidency in 1960 because it had "a great wealth of talent."

But he refused to name possible presidential candidates, except to say that Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts were "great men."

Butler, here to confer with former President Truman on party strategy for the next two years, said the prospects for the Democrats look good.

"With what we achieved in 1958 and the record we will have in the 86th Congress, we will be in a very strong position," Butler said.

Change In Sex Doesn't Alter Birth Certificate

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI)—The Swiss Federal (Supreme) Court has ruled that a birth certificate may not be revised because of a change in sex.

Roger Cugny underwent an operation in 1956 and doctors testified to the change of sex. He changed his name to Gilda and asked the courts to confirm the change and amend his birth certificate.

But the Vaud cantonal authorities objected. The cantonal court last May upheld the authorities and Cugny took the issue to the Supreme Court.

The high tribunal endorsed the lower court decision.

Man Has $1,020 Although He's Now Penny-Less

WOONSOCKET, R. I. (AP)—A Woonsocket man is penny-less yet has $1,020.

Antonio J. Valois, electrical contractor, assisted by two husky helpers, hauled 102,000 zinc-covered pennies to a bank. The pennies were minted in the war year 1943 to save copper.

It took Valois eight years to salt away his board of "white" pennies. It took the bank's automatic coin machines five hours to count and roll them.

Valois said he decided to convert the pennies into folding money only because his safe was overloaded, and his wife became tired of seeing them around the house.

But, he said, he is going to start collecting all over again.

Storm Warnings Issued Despite Indian Summer

By United Press International

The first snow storm of the season blew out of the northwest into the great plains Friday, but Indian summer was breaking records in the Middle West.

Elsewhere on the nation's weather map, forecasters issued warnings of thunderstorms and tornadoes for extreme northeast Texas, southwest Arkansas and northwest Louisiana. The threatened zone stretched 60 miles on either side of a line running from 50 miles southwest of Tyler, Tex., to 50 miles east of Texarkana, Ark.

A small twister tore into a Baton Rouge, La., suburb, tipped over a carport, and then swept into a wooded area. Police said there was little damage and no injuries. One officer said "it was just a small twister...more or less a cleaning up mess."

While gray fog blanketed the East from the lower Hudson River to Chesapeake Bay early Friday, skies cleared over the Middle West and the mercury shot to a Nov. 14 record of 71 degrees at Chicago and a record-tying 67 at Milwaukee.

In the West, however, the snow was on the ground, there was an ominous nip in the air, and the wind was rising. Ranchers began to worry about their stock and highway authorities got ready for snow-clogged traffic jams.

A full-fledged snow storm was centered over Idaho and had plastered three feet of snow on the Cascade Mountains. There was eight inches of snow in northwest Wyoming and eight to 10 inches in Utah's Logan Valley near the Idaho border.

The Weather Bureau at Kansas City issued due warning that the snow and cold were pushing east and south.

Traffic Police Chief Arrested

COPENHAGEN (AP) Copenhagen's traffic police chief Friday was sentenced to 14 days in jail for drunken driving. He lost his right to drive for one year.

Inspector Povl Brondt, 51, was arrested last September while driving a police car from headquarters to his suburban home. He testified he drank a bottle of beer and three glasses of sherry to celebrate a police anniversary before starting home.

British Drinking Habits Under Study

LONDON (AP) — The British drinking man — hitting the bottle harder than at any time since before World War II — is to come under an official microscope. So is the British drinking woman.

Convictions for drunkenness soared sharply last year — 11.3 per cent more than in 1956. The total of proved offenders was 67,002. Of these, 62,042 were men—the highest number in 20 years.

Announcing a government probe into drunkenness, Home Secretary Richard Butler told the House of Commons police records would be sifted in selected areas.

Children Protest

ILFRACOMBE, England (UPI)—Thirty striking school children presented a complaint to local authorities Friday that their school bus was overcrowded. The children, aged between 11 and 15 took a day off from school and set up a "strike committee" which submitted the protest to authorities.

Negro Suspect In Slayings Is Found By Posse

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (UPI) — Two members of a 400-man posse caught a suspected Negro gunman in a field Friday and turned him over to police for questioning about the slaying of two white women.

Sheriff R. Garnett Brooks of Caroline County identified the suspect as William Brown, 56, a "drifter" from Shelbyville, Tenn. He was taken quickly to state police headquarters in Richmond, 40 miles away.

Officers said Brown was carrying a .38 caliber pistol and answered the description of the killer who Thursday night held three women, four children and a man captive for two hours before shooting two of the women.

State police said they were positive Brown was the man who killed Mrs. Frank S. Brooks, 33, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Lewis Brooks, 74.

Sheriff Brooks, no relation to the victims, said the suspect "admitted he was in the house" but had made no further confession.

O. C. Crabtree and D. G. Rozelle captured the suspect three miles north of Bowling Green.

"We spotted the man crouched behind a bush in the broomstraw field," Crabtree said. "We leveled our guns at him. He held up his hands and put them behind his head. He offered no resistance."

The capture was made about one mile north of the comfortable, two-story white frame house that became a prison of terror late Thursday afternoon when the gunman gained entrance with a plea for food.

More People Use Airlines To Cross Atlantic Ocean

MONTREAL (AP)—The International Air Transport Assn. announced Friday that more people flew across the Atlantic this summer than ever before. Two-thirds traveled economy class, the cheapest fare the airlines offer.

The 466,893 passengers traveling both ways over the Atlantic during July, August and September represented an increase of 35.2 per cent over the record number during the same three months last year.

Larrazabal Plans To Seek Presidency

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal resigned Friday as chief of the junta that has run Venezuela since last January so he can run for president in the Dec. 7 election.

He was succeeded as president by Dr. Edgar Sanabria, another of the five-member junta which took over government of the country when dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez was overthrown in a revolution.

Larrazabal, who headed the junta since that time, is the candidate of the middle-of-the-road Republican Democratic Union. He will be opposed for the presidency by Romulo Gallegos of the Democratic Action Party and Dr. Rafael Caldera of the Christian Democratic Party.

Civil War Correspondent's Estate Dedicated As Park

SOUTH MOUNTAIN, Md. (AP)—He was the Hal Boyle or the Ernie Pyle of his day. Except that he covered Grant and Lee instead of Patton and MacArthur.

And built a monstrosity of a monument on a lonesome hillside to the memory of war correspondents that even his profession never has claimed.

His name was George Alfred Townsend, but his Civil War readers knew him simply as Gath. That's the way he signed his dispatches.

Today appropriate dignitaries climbed a small knoll in this Western Maryland area so rich in Civil War lore and dedicated Townsend's run-down estate and the monument as a public park.

In a way, it's been a story of futility.

Gath began as a reporter on the Philadelphia Inquirer at 19. A year later he switched to the New York Herald, which promptly sent him off to cover the Civil War, just starting.

He covered the second Manassas. Then he came down with Chickahominy fever, a sort of diarrhea, and went back to New York to recuperate.

Later he returned to cover the closing battles and Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

But that was only the beginning. From there, Gath went to Washington and became a political writer. He hit pay dirt, largely because of his wartime reputation, and soon had more than 100 newspapers subscribing to his two to four columns daily. His income amounted to more than $100,000 a year.

Suddenly plush, he brought himself half a mountain and began building. First an enormous stone home. Then an elaborate study. And guest cottages. The bill ran to a half-million, in the days of the hard dollar.

The climax was an inspiration for a monument for war correspondents like himself.

Most natives say the monument was inspired by a fire house and the railroad station at nearby Hagerstown. Looking at it, you can believe them.

At the bottom is a large Moorish arch. Above that are three smaller arches, more Roman in design. One side of the monument extends up 50 feet to what might be a Gothic war tower. The other side is just a column.

On one side of the tower, on a stone plaque, are listed the names of 134 reporters who covered the war between the States. Among them are Charles Carlton Coffin of the Boston Journal, who scooped them all on the battle of Gettysburg; Victor Lawson, one of the founders of The Assoniated Press; Whitelaw Reid, publisher of the New York Tribune, and Matthew B. Brady, who took most of the photographs of the war.

In 1905, Gath's health began to fail. He moved to Washington, then to New York. He planned to be buried at his mountain retreat, in a vault with the epitaph, "Good Night, Gath," but he never made it back. He died and was buried in New York in 1914.

After his death, his daughter sold the mountainside estate for $9,500. Twenty years later, it was sold again, for $750, after vandals and bums had all but torn down all but the monument.

Within recent years, the county and state have taken over the 101 acres. Today's ceremonies formally made it a perpetual memorial to all war correspondents—and Gath.

Once the site of a grandiose dream, now the playground for squirrels and picknickers.

Star Guild Votes Strike Authority

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star unit of the American Newspaper Guild voted Thursday night to give unit officers authority to call a strike if necessary in the unit's disagreement with management over a new contract.

The old, two-year contract covering editorial and commercial employes of the Star expired Sept. 1. Negotiations for a new contract have been under way since late August. Last week the company asked assistance of a federal mediator in an attempt to resolve the disagreement.

About 100 guild members attended the meeting. There were two dissenting votes on the strike question.

Caril Fugate Says She Tried To Flee Slayer

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) —Caril Ann Fugate tried to escape from Charles Starkweather after she saw him shoot and kill farmer August Meyer, the 15-year-old girl testified Friday at her murder trial.

"But he hollered 'come around here' and I did—I was scared to death," she said. "He told me that if I didn't do what he said, I'd get what Mr. Meyer got."

Caril said she had been forced to stay with Starkweather when she returned home from school Jan. 21 and found him alone in her house. She said he told her that her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett, and their two-year-old daughter, Betty Jean, were being held hostage and "if I said anything to anybody, my family would be killed."

Starkweather, already sentenced to death for one of the 11 murders he admitted committing last winter, had already killed the Bartletts and hid the three bodies in an outhouse. In one of his several contradictory confessions, Starkweather said Caril watched him kill the Bartletts, but the girl insists she thought they were still alive until she was arrested Jan. 29 in Wyoming.

They remained in the Bartlett home for six days and turned away all relatives and police, she testified, with the story that her family was ill.

On Jan. 27, she said, she and Starkweather drove out in the country and when their car became stalled they went to the farm of August Meyer, 70, to seek help. Meyer agreed to lend them horses and turned to walk into his house, she said.

"Charles followed him," she related. "When he got to the door, Charles suddenly ran up to him, raised the gun and shot him.

"I started to walk away but I could hardly move. I was weak. Charles hollered 'come around here' and I did."

Caril said her redhaired boyfriend ordered her to follow him as he looted Meyer's home of ammunition, clothing and money.

European Nations Approve Rail Fare

DUISBURG, Germany (AP) — Thirteen European nations have approved introduction of a new $125 railway ticket for overseas tourists enabling them to travel on as many European trains as they wish during two-month periods.

This was announced Friday at the end of the world meeting of the Federation of International Travel Agencies. The ticket goes on sale next Jan. 1.

It will be valid in Belgium, Germany, Denmark, France, Britain, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Austria, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland.

Wheaton Mayor Arrested For Molesting Girl

CHICAGO (UPI) —The mayor of suburban Wheaton, Ill., was arrested as he sat in his car with a 14-year-old girl Friday. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Assistant State's Attorney Patrick Egan quoted the girl as saying the mayor, Edwin Farrar, 46, had made a telephone date with her and had started improper advances moments before the arrest.

Farrar, mayor of Wheaton since 1955 and a prominent attorney and civic leader, denied the story. He said the girl lived across the street from his office, and, when he saw her standing on a street corner in another suburb, Oak Park, he stopped his car and offered her a ride home.

Egan ordered Farrar booked after questioning both the mayor and the girl. Bond was set at $300 and Farrar made arrangements to be released Friday night. He was ordered to appear in court on the charges next Thursday.

Egan said the girl told him Farrar had been telephoning her since July, at first chatting, then asking for dates, and finally talking of intimacies. The girl consented to meet the mayor on the Oak Park corner, Egan said, and then told her parents. He and other authorities indicated the parents then notified Cook County authorities to be on the watch for the couple.

Egan quoted the girl as saying Farrar drove past her, then honked his auto horn twice, turned around, and stopped in front of her.

"Hello—come on, get in the car," the girl said Farrar told her.

As they drove, Egan quoted the girl as saying, Farrar talked of the price of a sweater he had promised to buy her. He finally gave her $10 to buy the sweater, Egan said.

Then, while the car was stopped at a traffic light, Egan said the girl told him, Farrar began making advances. He suggested they could "go to a motel if he had more time," Egan quoted the girl as saying. At almost the same moment, sheriff's police approached and put Farrar under arrest.

Farrar denied making any calls to the girl, a student at Wheaton Community High School, or offering to buy her anything, Egan said.

Mob Stones Gomez Office

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A mob of about 100 persons Friday night attacked the office of Argentine Vice President Alejandro Gomez, breaking windows and destroying papers.

Gomez was accused of heading a plot to unseat President Arturo Frondizi in midweek.

After the attack Gomez appealed for police protection but was told by police to make his request of the Interior Ministry.

Gomez was in his office in the Argentine Congress at the time of the attack but was reported unhurt.

Since the frustration of the alleged plot by Frondizi's show of force Wednesday night, Gomez has resisted efforts to throw him out of office.

He told reporters any impeachment moves against him would "really be a laugh."

A few hours before the attack on his office Gomez was the center of a cheering display outside by about 40 persons loudly voicing approval of his stand.

Butler Predicts Demo President

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Friday that his party would win the presidency in 1960 because it had "a great wealth of talent."

But he refused to name possible presidential candidates, except to say that Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts were "great men."

Butler, here to confer with former President Truman on party strategy for the next two years, said the prospects for the Democrats look good.

"With what we achieved in 1958 and the record we will have in the 86th Congress, we will be in a very strong position," Butler said.

Change In Sex Doesn't Alter Birth Certificate

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) —The Swiss Federal (Supreme) Court has ruled that a birth certificate may not be revised because of a change in sex.

Roger Cugny underwent an operation in 1956 and doctors testified to the change of sex. He changed his name to Gilda and asked the courts to confirm the change and amend his birth certificate.

But the Vaud cantonal authorities objected. The cantonal court last May upheld the authorities and Cugny took the issue to the Supreme Court.

The high tribunal endorsed the lower court decision.

Man Has $1,020 Although He's Now Penny-Less

WOONSOCKET, R. I. (AP)—A Woonsocket man is penny-less yet has $1,020.

Antonio J. Valois, electrical contractor, assisted by two husky helpers, hauled 102,000 zinc-covered pennies to a bank. The pennies were minted in the war year 1943 to save copper.

It took Valois eight years to salt away his board of "white" pennies. It took the bank's automatic coin machines five hours to count and roll them.

Valois said he decided to convert the pennies into folding money only because his safe was overloaded, and his wife became tired of seeing them around the house.

But, he said, he is going to start collecting all over again.

Storm Warnings Issued Despite Indian Summer

By United Press International

The first snow storm of the season blew out of the northwest into the great plains Friday, but Indian summer was breaking records in the Middle West.

Elsewhere on the nation's weather map, forecasters issued warnings of thunderstorms and tornadoes for extreme northeast Texas, southwest Arkansas and northwest Louisiana. The threatened zone stretched 60 miles on either side of a line running from 50 miles southwest of Tyler, Tex., to 50 miles east of Texarkana, Ark.

A small twister tore into a Baton Rouge, La., suburb, tipped over a carport, and then swept into a wooded area. Police said there was little damage and no injuries. One officer said "it was just a small twister... more or less a cleaning up mess."

While gray fog blanketed the East from the lower Hudson River to Chesapeake Bay early Friday, skies cleared over the Middle West and the mercury shot to a Nov. 14 record of 71 degrees at Chicago and a record-tying 67 at Milwaukee.

In the West, however, the snow was on the ground, there was an ominous nip in the air, and the wind was rising. Ranchers began to worry about their stock and highway authorities got ready for snow-clogged traffic jams.

A full-fledged snow storm was centered over Idaho and had plastered three feet of snow on the Cascade Mountains. There was eight inches of snow in northwest Wyoming and eight to 10 inches in Utah's Logan Valley near the Idaho border.

The Weather Bureau at Kansas City issued due warning that the snow and cold were pushing east and south.

Traffic Police Chief Arrested

COPENHAGEN (AP) Copenhagen's traffic police chief Friday was sentenced to 14 days in jail for drunken driving. He lost his right to drive for one year.

Inspector Povl Brondt, 51, was arrested last September while driving a police car from headquarters to his suburban home. He testified he drank a bottle of beer and three glasses of sherry to celebrate a police anniversary before starting home.

British Drinking Habits Under Study

LONDON (AP) — The British drinking man — hitting the bottle harder than at any time since before World War II — is to come under an official microscope. So is the British drinking woman.

Convictions for drunkenness soared sharply last year — 11.3 per cent more than in 1956. The total of proved offenders was 67,002. Of these, 62,042 were men—the highest number in 20 years.

Announcing a government probe into drunkenness, Home Secretary Richard Butler told the House of Commons police records would be sifted in selected areas.

Children Protest

ILFRACOMBE, England (UPI) —Thirty striking school children presented a complaint to local authorities Friday that their school bus was overcrowded. The children, aged between 11 and 15 took a day off from school and set up a "strike committee" which submitted the protest to authorities.

Business As Usual

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Dr. J. S. Brown celebrated his 92nd birthday Friday by delivery of his 6,547th baby shortly before dawn. Later, he was in his office as usual.

GATH'S TRIBUTE—This architectural monstrosity, erected by George Alfred Townsend, himself a Civil War correspondent, to honor others in his profession, was dedicated yesterday as a state park at South Mountain, Md. Townsend, who signed all his dispatches "Gath" covered many of the battles of the Civil War in history-rich Western Maryland areas. (AP Photofax).

Negro Suspect In Slayings Is Found By Posse

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (UPI) — Two members of a 400-man posse caught a suspected Negro gunman in a field Friday and turned him over to police for questioning about the slaying of two white women.

Sheriff R. Garnett Brooks of Caroline County identified the suspect as William Brown, 56, a "drifter" from Shelbyville, Tenn. He was taken quickly to state police headquarters in Richmond, 40 miles away.

Officers said Brown was carrying a .38 caliber pistol and answered the description of the killer who Thursday night held three women, four children and a man captive for two hours before shooting two of the women.

State police said they were positive Brown was the man who killed Mrs. Frank S. Brooks, 33, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Lewis Brooks, 74.

Sheriff Brooks, no relation to the victims, said the suspect "admitted he was in the house" but had made no further confession.

O. C. Crabtree and D. G. Rozelle captured the suspect three miles north of Bowling Green.

"We spotted the man crouched behind a bush in the broomstraw field," Crabtree said. "We leveled our guns at him. He held up his hands and put them behind his head. He offered no resistance."

The capture was made about one mile north of the comfortable, two-story white frame house that became a prison of terror late Thursday afternoon when the gunman gained entrance with a plea for food.

More People Use Airlines To Cross Atlantic Ocean

MONTREAL (AP)—The International Air Transport Assn. announced Friday that more people flew across the Atlantic this summer than ever before. Two-thirds traveled economy class, the cheapest fare the airlines offer.

The 466,893 passengers traveling both ways over the Atlantic during July, August and September represented an increase of 35.2 per cent over the record number during the same three months last year.

Larrazabal Plans To Seek Presidency

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal resigned Friday as chief of the junta that has run Venezuela since last January so he can run for president in the Dec. 7 election.

He was succeeded as president by Dr. Edgar Sanabria, another of the five-member junta which took over government of the country when dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez was overthrown in a revolution.

Larrazabal, who headed the junta since that time, is the candidate of the middle-of-the-road Republican Democratic Union. He will be opposed for the presidency by Romulo Gallegos of the Democratic Action Party and Dr. Rafael Caldera of the Christian Democratic Party.

Civil War Correspondent's Estate Dedicated As Park

SOUTH MOUNTAIN, Md. (AP) —He was the Hal Boyle or the Ernie Pyle of his day. Except that he covered Grant and Lee instead of Patton and MacArthur.

And built a monstrosity of a monument on a lonesome hillside to the memory of war correspondents that even his profession never has claimed.

His name was George Alfred Townsend, but his Civil War readers knew him simply as Gath. That's the way he signed his dispatches.

Today appropriate dignitaries climbed a small knoll in this Western Maryland area so rich in Civil War lore and dedicated Townsend's run-down estate and the monument as a public park.

In a way, it's been a story of futility.

Gath began as a reporter on the Philadelphia Inquirer at 19. A year later he switched to the New York Herald, which promptly sent him off to cover the Civil War, just starting.

He covered the second Manassas. Then he came down with Chickahominy fever, a sort of diarrhea, and went back to New York to recuperate.

Later he returned to cover the closing battles and Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

But that was only the beginning. From there, Gath went to Washington and became a political writer. He hit pay dirt, largely because of his wartime reputation, and soon had more than 100 newspapers subscribing to his two to four columns daily. His income amounted to more than $100,000 a year.

Suddenly plush, he brought himself half a mountain and began building. First an enormous stone home. Then an elaborate study. And guest cottages. The bill ran to a half-million, in the days of the hard dollar.

The climax was an inspiration for a monument for war correspondents like himself.

Most natives say the monument was inspired by a fire house and the railroad station at nearby Hagerstown. Looking at it, you can believe them.

At the bottom is a large Moorish arch. Above that are three smaller arches, more Roman in design.

One side of the monument extends up 50 feet to what might be a Gothic war tower. The other side is just a column.

On one side of the tower, on a stone plaque, are listed the names of 134 reporters who covered the war between the States. Among them are Charles Carlton Coffin of the Boston Journal, who scooped them all on the battle of Gettysburg; Victor Lawson, one of the founders of The Assoniated Press; Whitelaw Reid, publisher of the New York Tribune, and Matthew B. Brady, who took most of the photographs of the war.

In 1905, Gath's health began to fail. He moved to Washington, then to New York. He planned to be buried at his mountain retreat, in a vault with the epitaph, "Good Night, Gath," but he never made it back. He died and was buried in New York in 1914.

After his death, his daughter sold the mountainside estate for $9,500. Twenty years later, it was sold again, for $750, after vandals and bums had all but torn down all but the monument.

Within recent years, the county and state have taken over the 101 acres. Today's ceremonies formally made it a perpetual memorial to all war correspondents—and Gath.

Once the site of a grandiose dream, now the playground for squirrels and picknickers.

Star Guild Votes Strike Authority

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star unit of the American Newspaper Guild voted Thursday night to give unit officers authority to call a strike if necessary in the unit's disagreement with management over a new contract.

The old, two-year contract covering editorial and commercial employes of the Star expired Sept. 1. Negotiations for a new contract have been under way since late August. Last week the company asked assistance of a federal mediator in an attempt to resolve the disagreement.

About 100 guild members attended the meeting. There were two dissenting votes on the strike question.

Army Announces Shifts

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — U. S. Eighth Army headquarters announced Friday that Lt. [illegible] Emerson L. Cummings, commander of U.S. Army Forces in Japan, would move to Seoul Dec. 2 as deputy to Eighth Army Commander Gen. George H. Decker. Cummings will be replaced in Japan by Maj. Gen. David H. Tulley, now in the United States.

Caril Fugate Says She Tried To Flee Slayer

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) —Caril Ann Fugate tried to escape from Charles Starkweather after she saw him shoot and kill farmer August Meyer, the 15-year-old girl testified Friday at her murder trial.

"But he hollered 'come around here' and I did—I was scared to death," she said. "He told me that if I didn't do what he said, I'd get what Mr. Meyer got."

Caril said she had been forced to stay with Starkweather when she returned home from school Jan. 21 and found him alone in her house. She said he told her that her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett, and their two-year-old daughter, Betty Jean, were being held hostage and "if I said anything to anybody, my family would be killed."

Starkweather, already sentenced to death for one of the 11 murders he admitted committing last winter, had already killed the Bartletts and hid the three bodies in an outhouse. In one of his several contradictory confessions, Starkweather said Caril watched him kill the Bartletts, but the girl insists she thought they were still alive until she was arrested Jan. 29 in Wyoming.

They remained in the Bartlett home for six days and turned away all relatives and police, she testified, with the story that her family was ill.

On Jan. 27, she said, she and Starkweather drove out in the country and when their car became stalled they went to the farm of August Meyer, 70, to seek help. Meyer agreed to lend them horses and turned to walk into his house, she said.

"Charles followed him," she related. "When he got to the door, Charles suddenly ran up to him, raised the gun and shot him.

"I started to walk away but I could hardly move. I was weak. Charles hollered 'come around here' and I did."

Caril said her redhaired boyfriend ordered her to follow him as he looted Meyer's home of ammunition, clothing and money.

European Nations Approve Rail Fare

DUISBURG, Germany (AP) — Thirteen European nations have approved introduction of a new $125 railway ticket for overseas tourists enabling them to travel on as many European trains as they wish during two-month periods.

This was announced Friday at the end of the world meeting of the Federation of International Travel Agencies. The ticket goes on sale next Jan. 1.

It will be valid in Belgium, Germany, Denmark, France, Britain, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Austria, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland.

B-P Women To Select Christmas Gift Project

"Today's challenge to the churches" is the theme of the program for the regular 5:30 dinner meeting of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club to be held on Tuesday at Central YMCA.

Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, Fellowship chairman, will speak briefly on "Religion in American Life" and will introduce the short movie, "Today's Religions." Projectionist will be Robert Adams, a junior at Allegany High School. The inspirational reading, "America's Greatness," will be given by Mrs. Ethel Northcraft.

Following the program, Mrs. Kathleen Burke will preside at the business session. Discussion will concern the selection of the organization to which the club will make its Christmas gift and jingles for club members. Club suggestions for the state program theme for 1959-60 will be given to Miss Gerardine Pritchard, state program coordinator.

Mrs. Karl G. Perry will report on the hobby show, and Miss Helen Beck, general chairman, will announce the next meeting of the 1959 state convention steering committee.

Serving on the fellowship committee with Miss Pritchard are Mrs. Northcraft and Miss Marion Dennison.

Union Grove Club Holds Memorial

A memorial service for Miss Venia M. Kellar was held at the meeting of the Union Grove Homemakers Club Wednesday evening at the club house. Mrs. William Rilling presided and led the flag salute. Mrs. Holmes Cessna read an article about Miss Kellar from the University Extension News; and a poem, "I Shall not Pass this Way Again." The group sang, "The Bells of St. Mary's," which was Miss Kellar's favorite song.

The history of the hymn of the month, "Now Thank We All Our God," was given by Mrs. Albert Windish and sung by the group. They also sang, "Prayer of Thanksgiving." Mrs. Joseph Franklin offered the quotation for the month. Roll call was answered with "What We most Enjoy Doing as a Family." Routine reports were given by Mrs. Steve Bowling, Mrs. Helen White and Mrs. Ruthella Fey gave the sunshine report. Mrs. Albert Smouse reported on the card party.

Miss Mary Wise demonstrated planning a home laundry. An auditing committee was appointed. It consists of Mrs. Bowling, Mrs. George Yeager and Mrs. Charles Gillum.

Plans were formulated for a Christmas party, which will be in the form of a covered dish supper and will be in conjunction with the meeting December 10, at which time officers will be installed. It will be at the home of Mrs. Holmes Cessna. Each member is to bring canned food to pack a basket for a needy family, a jingle, covered dish and place setting. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. Albert Windish, Mrs. John Wentling, Mrs. Helen White, Mrs. William Rilling and Mrs. Ruthella Fey.

One guest, Miss Pauline Hallahan and 18 members attended. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mrs. Fred Purnell and Mrs. Douglas Heavner.

Donation Made For Parsonage

Projects were selected and reports were given at the meeting of the WSCS of Melvin Methodist Church, Wednesday. Mrs. Blanche Speir presided. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Jane Fier and Mrs. Millie Alderton. Mrs. Robert Streett reported that the group will study the book "Isaiah Speaks." Mrs. Virginia Golden gave the sunshine report. Mrs. Eleanor Delagrange announced that $290 from the sale of apple butter would be given to the parsonage fund. The group decided to send $5 to the Swartzell Home for Children and to pay for a basketball uniform for the church team. Announcement was made of the meeting of the Prayer Group November 19 at 7:30. Plans were made for a Christmas jingle party for the next meeting with each member bringing an apron for a gift.

Following the business meeting the group went to Centre Street Methodist Church to hear Miss Kathryn Eye, medical missionary to Belgian Congo.

B-P Women To Select Christmas Gift Project

"Today's challenge to the churches" is the theme of the program for the regular 5:30 dinner meeting of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club to be held on Tuesday at Central YMCA.

Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, Fellowship chairman, will speak briefly on "Religion in American Life" and will introduce the short movie, "Today's Religions." Projectionist will be Robert Adams, a junior at Allegany High School. The inspirational reading, "America's Greatness," will be given by Mrs. Ethel Northcraft.

Following the program, Mrs. Kathleen Burke will preside at the business session. Discussion will concern the selection of the organization to which the club will make its Christmas gift and jingles for club members. Club suggestions for the state program theme for 1959-60 will be given to Miss Gerardine Pritchard, state program coordinator.

Mrs. Karl G. Perry will report on the hobby show, and Miss Helen Beck, general chairman, will announce the next meeting of the 1959 state convention steering committee.

Serving on the fellowship committee with Miss Pritchard are Mrs. Northcraft and Miss Marion Dennison.

Union Grove Club Holds Memorial

A memorial service for Miss Venia M. Kellar was held at the meeting of the Union Grove Homemakers Club Wednesday evening at the club house. Mrs. William Rilling presided and led the flag salute. Mrs. Holmes Cessna read an article about Miss Kellar from the University Extension News; and a poem, "I Shall not Pass this Way Again." The group sang, "The Bells of St. Mary's," which was Miss Kellar's favorite song.

The history of the hymn of the month, "Now Thank We All Our God," was given by Mrs. Albert Windish and sung by the group. They also sang, "Prayer of Thanksgiving." Mrs. Joseph Franklin offered the quotation for the month. Roll call was answered with "What We most Enjoy Doing as a Family." Routine reports were given by Mrs. Steve Bowling, Mrs. Helen White and Mrs. Ruthella Fey gave the sunshine report. Mrs. Albert Smouse reported on the card party.

Miss Mary Wise demonstrated planning a home laundry. An auditing committee was appointed. It consists of Mrs. Bowling, Mrs. George Yeager and Mrs. Charles Gillum.

Plans were formulated for a Christmas party, which will be in the form of a covered dish supper and will be in conjunction with the meeting December 10, at which time officers will be installed. It will be at the home of Mrs. Holmes Cessna. Each member is to bring canned food to pack a basket for a needy family, a jingle, covered dish and place setting. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. Albert Windish, Mrs. John Wentling, Mrs. Helen White, Mrs. William Rilling and Mrs. Ruthella Fey.

One guest, Miss Pauline Hallahan and 18 members attended. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mrs. Fred Purnell and Mrs. Douglas Heavner.

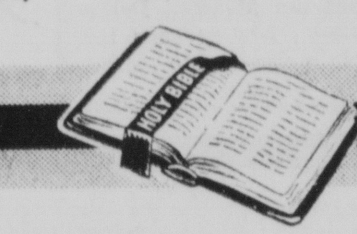
THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I John	1	1-4
Monday	Luke	8	11-15
Tuesday	John	5	24-39
Wednesday	Proverbs	6	21-23
Thursday	Psalms	19	7-11
Friday	Deuteronomy	30	11-14
Saturday	Revelation	22	1-21



Through every generation and in every nation—people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.

But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.

Go then to the Book that Lives. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions in every corner of the globe. Discover anew your life through the Book that Lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I John	1	1-4
Monday	Luke	8	11-15
Tuesday	John	5	24-39
Wednesday	Proverbs	6	21-23
Thursday	Psalms	19	7-11
Friday	Deuteronomy	30	11-14
Saturday	Revelation	22	1-21

Through every generation and in every nation—people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.

But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.

Go then to the Book that Lives. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions in every corner of the globe. Discover anew your life through the Book that Lives.

Keyser Scouts Exposition Set November 22

Second Annual Event At PSC

KEYSER—The second annual Boy Scout Exposition will be held Saturday, November 22, at Potomac State College gymnasium from 6 to 10 p. m. Sponsored by Tri-Valley District, the event will feature 30 booths.

Fred Anderson, district commissioner, has invited 35 Cub Scout, Boy Scout, and Explorer units of the Tri-Towns, Keyser and South Branch areas to occupy booths and display to the visiting public merit badge advancement, crafts, skills and specialized aspects of the year-round program of Scouting.

Pack 39 of Grace Methodist Church will display electives and achievements and Pack 33 of Trinity Methodist Church will demonstrate a Cub Scout weather station.

Post 26, sponsored by the Lonaconing Rotary Club, will feature camp sites and equipment. Safety has been selected by Troop 30, first aid by Troop 63, marksmanship by Troop 27, advancement by Troop 26 and wild game conservation by Troop 39.

Construction of booths will be supervised by James Fuller and Lester McDowell of Keyser. Units will decorate their areas Saturday. Tickets have been distributed to units by Dr. Paul Giffin for the Keyser area; Dr. Donald Whitworth for the Tri-Towns area, and Timothy Parks for Romney, Moorefield, and Petersburg. The traditional trading post will be under the supervision of Tobias Stickley of Burlington.

Wilbert Sifton, district field executive, has estimated that 1,500 persons will view the display. Printed programs will be provided visitors so that all participating units may be identified and located quickly. David Nuzum, district chairman, announced that each participant and patron will receive a souvenir.

Two awards will be made for the most effective booth demonstrations: Cub Scout division and troop-post division. Units will present continuous performances from 6 to 10.

Woman's Club Hears Talk On Communism

KEYSER — The Keyser Woman's Club met at Potomac State College a recent evening with Mrs. Thomas McBride and Capt. Jack Fessenden as guest speakers.

Mrs. McBride, a native of California, spoke from her experiences as an employe of the American Red Cross for four years. She told of her duties in an Army hospital in Tokyo and in the Clubmobile unit in Korea.

She came to Keyser last spring with her husband, Capt. Thomas McBride of Potomac State College ROTC.

Capt. Jack Fessenden, also of the local college ROTC, addressed the group on "A Profile of Communism." He gave a brief history of Communism, describing Soviet strategy during the past 40 years, explaining the development of USSR's military power.

He explained the slave labor projects, the length of time the average citizen serves on military duty and the effective propaganda machine in Russia.

Mrs. Earl Hess presided at the business meeting with Mrs. K. S. McKee leading the devotions on the Thanksgiving theme.

Valley Sends 5 Delegates To Future Teachers Meet

LONACONING—Julieann Baker, Bonnie Rennie, Carol Ann Dye, Rita Hartman and Sharon Phillips will represent Valley High School Future Teachers of America at the ninth annual fall convention of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America at State Teachers College, Towson, today.

The five Valley delegates will attend with 700 high school and college students from 92 high school FTA clubs and 13 college Student Education Associations at this professional-type meeting.

Registration will be on Campus in Newell Hall Foyer from 9 to 10:30 a. m. Saturday and the program will conclude with a farewell tea at 3:45 p. m. The theme is "Specialties Within a Specialty" emphasizing teaching in six different areas of instruction.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of the College, will be Convention speaker. The MAFTA organization program is an effective means of encouraging qualified students to consider teaching as a career.

James D. Preaskorn is faculty sponsor of FTA at Valley and has organized the delegation to attend the fall convention.

Rifle Safety Is Outlined At College

FROSTBURG—Ott Wuenschell, formerly advisor Pennsylvania Department of Education in recreation and outdoor education and now representative for Sportsmen's Service Bureau, gave a lecture and demonstration on the use of firearms and their place in outdoor education before the student body of Frostburg State Teachers College this week. Wuenschell then lectured before the class in camp counseling.

In the lecture and demonstration he pointed out many safety factors which should be followed by all persons handling firearms. He demonstrated how two or more persons before entering the woods with guns should decide how they should shoot without endangering each other, by knowing their approximate position and never shooting in that direction. He also explained the uses of different types of guns, ammunition and handling of guns safely while carrying, getting in and out of cars and crossing fences.

The program was presented by the assembly committee composed of Charles I. Sager, chairman, Dorothy Stone White, secretary; John Edward Lester, treasurer; Miss Roseann Langhans and Dr. Howard Louis Briggs, faculty, and Maurice L. Wiles, Sandra Cadarette and Carol Lannon, students. Kenneth Babcock, head of the athletic department made the contact for the committee.

W.Va. Municipal League Meeting At Blackwater

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia League of Municipalities meeting at nearby Blackwater Falls State Park Saturday probably will be asked to endorse legislation to legalize over-the-bar sales of liquor in the state.

The recommendation is to be presented by a district planning committee representing five Northern Panhandle cities. The cities are Wheeling, Moundsville, Follansbee, Weirton and Glendale.

The same group recommended a state revenue measure in the form of a state income tax of 1 per cent on an individual's salary.

The proposal on liquor-by-the-drink legislation would allow local voters to decide for themselves whether they want to legalize whisky sales.

The league meeting continues through Sunday. Election of officers is scheduled Saturday.

Mt. Savage School Holds Two Assemblies

MT. SAVAGE—Students of Mt. Savage School were guests at two assembly programs recently.

One was presented by the second grade under the direction of Mrs. Louise Himmelwright. Participants included Donald Dunn, Albert Culley, Debbie Rizer, Vicki Shaffer, Fay Bowman, Martha Miller, Sharon Winebrenner, James Gillespie, David Weidner, Greg Diehl, Billy Gulbronson, Patti Bridges, Cathy Winebrenner and Dennis Winebrenner.

The second program was an interpretation of West Coast jazz by a musical group called The Note-Smiths. This quartet consisting of a guitarist, tenor sax, drummer and bass violinist was under the direction of Norwood Edmondson of Cumberland.

Health Group Plans Hygiene Conference

Yuletide Party Also Scheduled

CRESAPTOWN — The Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group met recently at the Cresaptown School Health Center with Mrs. James Armstrong presiding. Routine reports were given by Mrs. James Ritchie and Mrs. Lester McGill. Assigned as aides to assist Miss Margaret Morrissey, health nurse, at the school inspection clinics were: Friday, Mrs. Donnelly Kidwell and December 2, Mrs. Frank Ferrone.

A child hygiene conference will be held November 25. Workers include Mrs. Hubert Martz, Mrs. James Niner, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. Thomas Beachy and Mrs. McGill.

A pre-natal clinic at the Cumberland City Hall will be worked by Mrs. Harry Grimes. The blood and immunization clinic each Wednesday morning will be in charge of Mrs. A. G. Wallis.

Mrs. Aden Everstine, psychiatric social worker for the Allegany County Health Department, who is presenting a series of lectures on mental hygiene to the group, spoke on the development of children and teenagers from nine through 15 years of age. After the talk she conducted a discussion period.

The group voted to donate draperies for a day room in the newly constructed Esther Loring Richards Children's Center at Owings. Named to purchase the draperies were Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Paul Holler, whose brother is a nurse at the center.

The group voted to hold its annual Christmas luncheon at the next meeting December 4 at 12:30 p. m. in the Health Center. Members desiring to attend are to contact Mrs. Armstrong, general chairman, who will be assisted by Mrs. Fermen Helmstetter, Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Mrs. Donnelly Kidwell and Mrs. Frank Ferrone. Members are to bring a 50-cent jingle to be exchanged.

Mrs. Paul Orendorf, sunshine chairman, reported that gifts and cards had been sent to Miss Morrissey, who had returned to her home after being a medical patient at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Earl Moreland and Mrs. John Barton were enrolled as new members.

Women Hear Talk On Plan To Lose Weight

LONACONING—Mrs. Jeannine Burns gave an illustration on "Reduce and Love It" at the Lonaconing Women's Club meeting Tuesday night at the VFW home. The home reducing plan was demonstrated to the Women's Club by Mrs. Burns.

Mrs. Ella Evans, chairman, Mrs. Betty Long, Mrs. Mildred James, Mrs. Inez Kiddy, Mrs. Laura Lancaster, Mrs. Betty James, Mrs. Mary Keyes and Mrs. Helen Dillon served refreshments. Mrs. Fred Sloan Jr. was a guest.

Mrs. Wanda Gardner, president, announced that members interested in a hooking rug demonstration should contact her. Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, member of Lonaconing Homemakers Club, attended the hooking rug demonstration at the county workshop in Cumberland and would give a demonstration to Women's club members.

Mrs. Ann Miller, chairman, Mrs. Wilma Robertson, Mrs. Betty Fazenbaker, Mrs. Ella Evans and Mrs. Idella Chappell are members of the social committee appointed by Mrs. Gardner for the Christmas buffet dance.

Plans were made for the buffet dance to be held on Monday, December 29, from 9 to 12 p.m. at the VFW home for members, husbands and guests.

Man Convicted Of Forging Narcotic Prescriptions Sentenced To 20 Years

KEYSER — A 42-year-old itinerant, John Pollock, was sentenced in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser to 20 years in prison on charges of forging prescriptions for narcotics.

In addition the "three-time loser" was fined $5,000 by Judge Ernest A. See. The fine was one of the stiffest meted out in the court's history, attaches said.

Pollock, who lists no permanent address but is believed to be from the Clarksburg area, was convicted November 5 by a petit jury of forging the name of a doctor in order to secure narcotics. He was tried on only one of 21 counts in an indictment against him.

The defendant was accused of obtaining prescriptions 10 times from Dr. William A. Flick, of Keyser, and with forging the name of Dr. W. C. McDonald, of Hampshire County, to 11 other prescriptions.

Indictments charged the felonies were committed during June and July of 1957, and state the prescriptions were filled at Keyser drug stores for either morphine or dilaudid, an opium derivative.

Pollock, who has a record of narcotic violations dating back to 1934, was arrested by State Police in Grafton and returned to Mineral County when several prescription blanks bearing Dr. Flick's name were found in his pockets.

Judge See quashed an indictment about two weeks ago against Dr. Flick, terming it faulty. It charged the physician with illegally prescribing narcotics.

Prosecuting Attorney Donald Hott afterwards stated he plans to seek a new indictment in January against Dr. Flick on charges of narcotics violations.

Pollock will be taken to the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Citizen Of Year At Keyser To Be Selected

KEYSER—Ballot boxes for the nomination for the annual Keyser Citizen of the Year, have again been placed by the Keyser Kiwanis Club. This award, made for the first time in 1954, has been given to H. John Freeland, former Keyser mayor; Paul Davis, local banker; David Nuzum, of the faculty at Potomac State College and Richard Romig, present mayor of Keyser and a local pharmacist.

The voting boxes have been placed in the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, offices of the C & P Telephone Company, Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company and Potomac Light & Power Company. Appropriate voting blanks have been placed at the back of the boxes.

Persons making nominations are asked to consider as a nominee a person who has contributed to the good of Keyser, outside of his normal professional or vocational pursuit, without personal gain.

The selection committee is composed of representatives of Keyser Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Lions Club and Soroptimist Club. Nominations will close on December 2, 1958.

Keyser Scouts Exposition Set November 22

Second Annual Event At PSC

KEYSER--The second annual Boy Scout Exposition will be held Saturday, November 22, at Potomac State College gymnasium from 6 to 10 p. m. Sponsored by Tri-Valley District, the event will feature 30 booths.

Fred Anderson, district commissioner, has invited 35 Cub Scout, Boy Scout, and Explorer units of the Tri-Towns, Keyser and South Branch areas to occupy booths and display to the visiting public merit badge advancement, crafts, skills and specialized aspects of the year-round program of Scouting.

Pack 39 of Grace Methodist Church will display electives and achievements and Pack 33 of Trinity Methodist Church will demonstrate a Cub Scout weather station.

Post 26, sponsored by the Lonaconing Rotary Club, will feature camp sites and equipment. Safety has been selected by Troop 30, first aid by Troop 63, marksmanship by Troop 27, advancement by Troop 26 and wild game conservation by Troop 39.

Construction of booths will be supervised by James Fuller and Lester McDowell of Keyser. Units will decorate their areas Saturday. Tickets have been distributed to units by Dr. Paul Giffin for the Keyser area; Dr. Donald Whitworth for the Tri-Towns area, and Timothy Parks for Romney, Moorefield, and Petersburg. The traditional trading post will be under the supervision of Tobias Stickley of Burlington.

Wilbert Sifton, district field executive, has estimated that 1,500 persons will view the display. Printed programs will be provided visitors so that all participating units may be identified and located quickly. David Nuzum, district chairman, announced that each participant and patron will receive a souvenir.

Two awards will be made for the most effective booth demonstrations: Cub Scout division and troop-post division. Units will present continuous performances from 6 to 10.

Woman's Club Hears Talk On Communism

KEYSER — The Keyser Woman's Club met at Potomac State College a recent evening with Mrs. Thomas McBride and Capt. Jack Fessenden as guest speakers.

Mrs. McBride, a native of California, spoke from her experiences as an employe of the American Red Cross for four years. She told of her duties in an Army hospital in Tokyo and in the Clubmobile unit in Korea.

She came to Keyser last spring with her husband, Capt. Thomas McBride of Potomac State College ROTC.

Capt. Jack Fessenden, also of the local college ROTC, addressed the group on "A Profile of Communism." He gave a brief history of Communism, describing Soviet strategy during the past 40 years, explaining the development of USSR's military power.

He explained the slave labor projects, the length of time the average citizen serves on military duty and the effective propaganda machine in Russia.

Mrs. Earl Hess presided at the business meeting with Mrs. K. S. McKee leading the devotions on the Thanksgiving theme.

Valley Sends 5 Delegates To Future Teachers Meet

LONACONING—Julieann Baker, Bonnie Rennie, Carol Ann Dye, Rita Hartman and Sharon Phillips will represent Valley High School Future Teachers of America at the ninth annual fall convention of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America at State Teachers College, Towson, today.

The five Valley delegates will attend with 700 high school and college students from 92 high school FTA clubs and 13 college Student Education Associations at this professional-type meeting.

Registration will be on Campus in Newell Hall Foyer from 9 to 10:30 a. m. Saturday and the program will conclude with a farewell tea at 3:45 p. m. The theme is "Specialties Within a Specialty" emphasizing teaching in six different areas of instruction.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of the College, will be Convention speaker. The MAFTA organization program is an effective means of encouraging qualified students to consider teaching as a career.

James D. Preaskorn is faculty sponsor of FTA at Valley and has organized the delegation to attend the fall convention.

Rifle Safety Is Outlined At College

FROSTBURG—Ott Wuenschell, formerly advisor Pennsylvania Department of Education in recreation and outdoor education and now representative for Sportsmen's Service Bureau, gave a lecture and demonstration on the use of firearms and their place in outdoor education before the student body of Frostburg State Teachers College this week. Wuenschell then lectured before the class in camp counseling.

In the lecture and demonstration he pointed out many safety factors which should be followed by all persons handling firearms. He demonstrated how two or more persons before entering the woods with guns should decide how they should shoot without endangering each other, by knowing their approximate position and never shooting in that direction. He also explained the uses of different types of guns, ammunition and handling of guns safely while carrying, getting in and out of cars and crossing fences.

The program was presented by the assembly committee composed of Charles I. Sager, chairman, Dorothy Stone White, secretary; John Edward Lester, treasurer; Miss Roseann Langhans and Dr. Howard Louis Briggs, faculty, and Maurice L. Wiles, Sandra Cadarette and Carol Lannon, students. Kenneth Babcock, head of the athletic department made the contact for the committee.

W.Va. Municipal League Meeting At Blackwater

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia League of Municipalities meeting at nearby Blackwater Falls State Park Saturday probably will be asked to endorse legislation to legalize over-the-bar sales of liquor in the state.

The recommendation is to be presented by a district planning committee representing five Northern Panhandle cities. The cities are Wheeling, Moundsville, Follansbee, Weirton and Glendale.

The same group recommended a state revenue measure in the form of a state income tax of 1 per cent on an individual's salary.

The proposal on liquor-by-the-drink legislation would allow local voters to decide for themselves whether they want to legalize whisky sales.

The league meeting continues through Sunday. Election of officers is scheduled Saturday.

Mt. Savage School Holds Two Assemblies

MT. SAVAGE—Students of Mt. Savage School were guests at two assembly programs recently.

One was presented by the second grade under the direction of Mrs. Louise Himmelwright. Participants included Donald Dunn, Albert Culley, Debbie Rizer, Vicki Shaffer, Fay Bowman, Martha Miller, Sharon Winebrenner, James Gillespie, David Weidner, Greg Diehl, Billy Gulbronson, Patti Bridges, Cathy Winebrenner and Dennis Winebrenner.

The second program was an interpretation of West Coast jazz by a musical group called The Note-Smiths. This quartet consisting of a guitarist, tenor sax, drummer and bass violinist was under the direction of Norwood Edmondson of Cumberland.

Health Group Plans Hygiene Conference

Yuletide Party Also Scheduled

CRESAPTOWN — The Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group met recently at the Cresaptown School Health Center with Mrs. James Armstrong presiding. Routine reports were given by Mrs. James Ritchie and Mrs. Lester McGill. Assigned as aides to assist Miss Margaret Morrissey, health nurse, at the school inspection clinics were: Friday, Mrs. Donnelly Kidwell and December 2, Mrs. Frank Ferrone.

A child hygiene conference will be held November 25. Workers include Mrs. Hubert Martz, Mrs. James Niner, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. Thomas Beachy and Mrs. McGill.

A pre-natal clinic at the Cumberland City Hall will be worked by Mrs. Harry Grimes. The blood and immunization clinic each Wednesday morning will be in charge of Mrs. A. G. Wallis.

Mrs. Aden Everstine, psychiatric social worker for the Allegany County Health Department, who is presenting a series of lectures on mental hygiene to the group, spoke on the development of children and teenagers from nine through 15 years of age. After the talk she conducted a discussion period.

The group voted to donate draperies for a day room in the newly constructed Esther Loring Richards Children's Center at Owings. Named to purchase the draperies were Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Paul Holler, whose brother is a nurse at the center.

The group voted to hold its annual Christmas luncheon at the next meeting December 4 at 12:30 p. m. in the Health Center. Members desiring to attend are to contact Mrs. Armstrong, general chairman, who will be assisted by Mrs. Fermen Helmstetter, Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Mrs. Donnelly Kidwell and Mrs. Frank Ferrone. Members are to bring a 50-cent jingle to be exchanged.

Mrs. Paul Orendorf, sunshine chairman, reported that gifts and cards had been sent to Miss Morrissey, who had returned to her home after being a medical patient at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Earl Moreland and Mrs. John Barton were enrolled as new members.

Women Hear Talk On Plan To Lose Weight

LONACONING—Mrs. Jeannine Burns gave an illustration on "Reduce and Love It" at the Lonaconing Women's Club meeting Tuesday night at the VFW home. The home reducing plan was demonstrated to the Women's Club by Mrs. Burns.

Mrs. Ella Evans, chairman, Mrs. Betty Long, Mrs. Mildred James, Mrs. Inez Kiddy, Mrs. Laura Lancaster, Mrs. Betty James, Mrs. Mary Keyes and Mrs. Helen Dillon served refreshments. Mrs. Fred Sloan Jr. was a guest.

Mrs. Wanda Gardner, president, announced that members interested in a hooking rug demonstration should contact her. Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, member of Lonaconing Homemakers Club, attended the hooking rug demonstration at the county workshop in Cumberland and would give a demonstration to Women's club members.

Mrs. Ann Miller, chairman, Mrs. Wilma Robertson, Mrs. Betty Fazenbaker, Mrs. Ella Evans and Mrs. Idella Chappell are members of the social committee appointed by Mrs. Gardner for the Christmas buffet dance.

Plans were made for the buffet dance to be held on Monday, December 29, from 9 to 12 p.m. at the VFW home for members, husbands and guests.

Man Convicted Of Forging Narcotic Prescriptions Sentenced To 20 Years

KEYSER — A 42-year-old itinerant, John Pollock, was sentenced in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser to 20 years in prison on charges of forging prescriptions for narcotics.

In addition the "three-time loser" was fined $5,000 by Judge Ernest A. See. The fine was one of the stiffest meted out in the court's history, attaches said.

Pollock, who lists no permanent address but is believed to be from the Clarksburg area, was convicted November 5 by a petit jury of forging the name of a doctor in order to secure narcotics. He was tried on only one of 21 counts in an indictment against him.

The defendant was accused of obtaining prescriptions 10 times from Dr. William A. Flick, of Keyser, and with forging the name of Dr. W. C. McDonald, of Hampshire County, to 11 other prescriptions.

Indictments charged the felonies were committed during June and July of 1957, and state the prescriptions were filled at Keyser drug stores for either morphine or dilaudid, an opium derivative.

Pollock, who has a record of narcotic violations dating back to 1934, was arrested by State Police in Grafton and returned to Mineral County when several prescription blanks bearing Dr. Flick's name were found in his pockets.

Judge See quashed an indictment about two weeks ago against Dr. Flick, terming it faulty. It charged the physician with illegally prescribing narcotics.

Prosecuting Attorney Donald Hott afterwards stated he plans to seek a new indictment in January against Dr. Flick on charges of narcotics violations.

Pollock will be taken to the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Parking Lot Set On Site Of Windsor Hotel

One of Cumberland's oldest landmarks, which figured in one of the most daring raids in the Civil War, the Windsor Hotel, will fall to the wreckers' hammers around the first of the year.

The large brick building at the corner of Baltimore and North George Streets was constructed around 1842.

The Windsor Hotel Company, owners of the 100-room structure, said yesterday that a parking lot is contemplated on the site.

The building has been owned by the Mullaney family since 1901, having been purchased from Cooley Hedges.

On February 21, 1865, in one of the most daring episodes of the Civil War, Maj. Gen. B. F. Kelly, commander of the Military District of West Virginia, was whisked out from under the noses of Union troops and captured by a small band of McNeil's Rangers.

At that time the hotel was known as Barnum House, and as late as 1861 was called Barnum Salon.

On the same night in 1865, Maj. Gen. George Crook was taken by another group of the band of 65 Confederates from the Revere House, which is now the Kenneweg Building.

When the two generals were captured and subsequently taken to Richmond, there were from 8,000 to 10,000 federal troops encamped in Cumberland.

In 1901, the hotel was purchased from Hedges by Matthew J. Mullaney, John P. Mullaney and Henry Mullaney.

Matthew J. Mullaney had been operator of the Oxford House in Washington before moving here in 1901.

In 1910, the three brothers corporated the hotel business into the Windsor Hotel Company.

Henry Mullaney operated a mercantile business and a coal mine in Mt. Savage before coming here in 1918.

The present officers are Mrs. Loretto Mullaney, widow of Henry Mullaney, president; Matthew J. Mullaney, vice president; Mrs. Alice N. Schellhaus, secretary; Thomas H. Mullaney, treasurer and manager; John E. Mullaney, assistant treasurer and manager, and Hugh A. Mullaney, assistant manager.

For many years the Windsor Restaurant was operated by Frank Diamond on the Baltimore Street front of the building. Diamond retired this spring and the restaurant has been vacant since then.

Between the restaurant and the old marble floored lobby is the David Miller barbershop which Miller has operated for the past 40 years.

The hotel has 100 rooms but only 80 of them have been used in recent years.

There is also a bar on the North George Street side and some small shops on that side.

The building occupying one of the choicest downtown locations is L-shaped. It fronts 67½ feet on Baltimore Street, is 245 feet deep and is 100 feet wide in the rear. A building on the upper side occupies the inner part of the L.

Elks Dance Tonight

A floor show will be presented during intermission at the Elks Club dance tonight in the cotillion room. It will include a precision line routine by the Dixettes; song and dance by Sue Powers; and selections by Janet Heming and the Three Twisters. Russ Reynolds will be master of ceremonies.

Peck Mills will play for the dancing, beginning at 9:30. The floor show will be at 11:30. The Social sessions committee is in charge.

Officials To Discuss Sinking Fund Draft

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Huntington officials plan to confer Friday in Charleston with state officials and representatives of the West Virginia Sinking Fund Commission.

Huntington City Manager Robert M. Hoisington said the city wants to withdraw a $400,000 carryover balance it has paid into the commission to meet old debts and for proposed new construction.

The balance in the sinking fund is an accumulation of excess payments by the city on past bond issues.

"Traffic experts feel that we should remove all parking from certain streets in the City. If there are repeated violations of our parking regulations by any person or business, you should call the matter to the attention of your shift sergeant, who in turn can report the same to the chief and, after this information has been compiled, the chief will make his report to me.

"Violations for parking on red and yellow lines and in "no stopping" areas constitute an entirely different matter and in each case you will have to say whether or not an arrest should be made. In this connection, you must treat all violators in the same manner.

"There are very few areas in the downtown section of sufficient width to permit loading and unloading through rear entrances so, therefore, of necessity we must tolerate some technical violations of our parking ordinances, due to the fact that we do not want to put any undue burden on our businesses.

"In the near future each of you will be supplied with a book containing courtesy tickets which you can issue to 'foreign' cars parked overtime at our meters. These tickets are to be used at your discretion and should not be used for flagrant violations.

"Whether or not traffic conditions improve in Cumberland depends on each one of you. I have perfect trust and confidence in you and we must all work together so that all of our citizens will know that the members of the Cumberland Police Department are dedicated to their work."

Luck Deserts Man's Masquerade

VIENNA (UPI) — Luck finally ran out on a man who masqueraded as a woman for 30 years.

Police in Amstetten in Lower Austria arrested Francisus Boeck and held him for possible deportation. Boeck, who called himself "Marianne," told police he adopted the pose in 1925 to escape service in the Polish armed forces.

Asked why he continued the pose, police quoted Boeck as saying: "I thought I would have more luck as a woman than a man".

According to reports, Boeck aroused the suspicion of monks by asking for presents. A police report said Boeck did not have a residence permit and had been ordered to leave Austria more than a year ago.

RHODES TO 'PEN'

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charles G. Rhodes, 43 former president of the West Virginia Assn. of Realtors, was transferred Friday to Moundsville Penitentiary where he will serve a 1-10 year prison sentence. Rhodes pleaded guilty to forging a note on which he obtained a $19,852 loan.

Maryland-Virginia Fishing Fight Nears Settlement

By FRANK E. TAYLOR
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maryland and Virginia differences over Potomac River fishing rights moved nearer settlement Friday with an agreement to recommend a two-state regulatory agency.

The agency would be composed of Virginia's three fisheries commissioners and Maryland's three-man Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

The Maryland and Virginia study groups, named to seek an out-of-court settlement of the long-time fishing and oyster war on the Maryland - owned Potomac, will meet again, probably before Christmas, to put final touches to their report.

Their recommendations then will go to the legislatures of the two states for final consideration.

Carlyle Barton, chairman of the Maryland group, said he hopes the recommendations can be offered in January to the Maryland Legislature.

Virginia's General Assembly does not meet in regular session until 1960. But Chairman Mills E. Godwin of the Virginia group said if a special session were called the recommendation could be submitted then.

Two subcommittees were named to work out final drafts of the agreement. Named to one subcommittee were Barton and Godwin. The other group members are William J. McWilliams of Maryland and Robert Y. Button of Virginia.

The two study groups were appointed after Virginia filed suit in the Supreme Court against action by the Maryland Legislature in tossing out the 1785 Potomac River Compact.

Retired Justice Stanley F. Reed was named special master. He suggested the states try for a settlement.

The groups, after a closed door session in historic Decatur House, lunched with Reed. The groups then held another closed session in the afternoon.

The 1785 compact provided Virginians with equal rights in the Potomac although Maryland owns the river. Maryland lawmakers nullified the compact after contending Virginians repeatedly ignored Potomac conservation laws, particularly the ban on oyster dredging.

Barton said prior to Friday's session that members of the two state fisheries commissions are as well qualified as any men the states could get to serve on the proposed two-state agency.

There was earlier speculation that the two state agencies, which have not always seen eye-to-eye on fishing problems, would be bypassed when a new commission was named.

Baltimore Police Come For Local Man

Baltimore Detective Austin Callahan and Police Officer Thomas Nichols came to the Allegany County Jail yesterday for James Edward Crowe, who is wanted in Baltimore on a larceny charge. They returned to Baltimore immediately.

Crowe, a former Cumberlander, had been living in Baltimore but returned here this week. He was arrested Thursday by Constable Robert W. Turnbull at the local office of the Department of Employment Security when he applied for unemployment compensation.

Parking Lot Set On Site Of Windsor Hotel

One of Cumberland's oldest landmarks, which figured in one of the most daring raids in the Civil War, the Windsor Hotel, will fall to the wreckers' hammers around the first of the year.

The large brick building at the corner of Baltimore and North George Streets was constructed around 1842.

The Windsor Hotel Company, owners of the 100-room structure, said yesterday that a parking lot is contemplated on the site.

The building has been owned by the Mullaney family since 1901, having been purchased from Cooley Hedges.

On February 21, 1865, in one of the most daring episodes of the Civil War, Maj. Gen. B. F. Kelly, commander of the Military District of West Virginia, was whisked out from under the noses of Union troops and captured by a small band of McNeil's Rangers.

At that time the hotel was known as Barnum House, and as late as 1861 was called Barnum Salon.

On the same night in 1865, Maj. Gen. George Crook was taken by another group of the band of 65 Confederates from the Revere House, which is now the Kenneweg Building.

When the two generals were captured and subsequently taken to Richmond, there were from 8,000 to 10,000 federal troops encamped in Cumberland.

In 1901, the hotel was purchased from Hedges by Matthew J. Mullaney, John P. Mullaney and Henry Mullaney.

Matthew J. Mullaney had been operator of the Oxford House in Washington before moving here in 1901.

In 1910, the three brothers corporated the hotel business into the Windsor Hotel Company.

Henry Mullaney operated a mercantile business and a coal mine in Mt. Savage before coming here in 1918.

The present officers are Mrs. Loretto Mullaney, widow of Henry Mullaney, president; Matthew J. Mullaney, vice president; Mrs. Alice N. Schellhaus, secretary; Thomas H. Mullaney, treasurer and manager; John E. Mullaney, assistant treasurer and manager, and Hugh A. Mullaney, assistant manager.

For many years the Windsor Restaurant was operated by Frank Diamond on the Baltimore Street front of the building. Diamond retired this spring and the restaurant has been vacant since then.

Between the restaurant and the old marble floored lobby is the David Miller barbershop which Miller has operated for the past 40 years.

The hotel has 100 rooms but only 80 of them have been used in recent years.

There is also a bar on the North George Street side and some small shops on that side.

The building occupying one of the choicest downtown locations is L-shaped. It fronts 67½ feet on Baltimore Street, is 245 feet deep and is 100 feet wide in the rear. A building on the upper side occupies the inner part of the L.

Elks Dance Tonight

A floor show will be presented during intermission at the Elks Club dance tonight in the cotillion room. It will include a precision line routine by the Dixettes; song and dance by Sue Powers; and selections by Janet Heming and the Three Twisters. Russ Reynolds will be master of ceremonies.

Peck Mills will play for the dancing, beginning at 9:30. The floor show will be at 11:30. The Social sessions committee is in charge.

"There are very few areas in the downtown section of sufficient width to permit loading and unloading through rear entrances so, therefore, of necessity we must tolerate some technical violations of our parking ordinances, due to the fact that we do not want to put any undue burden on our businesses.

"In the near future each of you will be supplied with a book containing courtesy tickets which you can issue to 'foreign' cars parked overtime at our meters. These tickets are to be used at your discretion and should not be used for flagrant violations.

"Whether or not traffic conditions improve in Cumberland depends on each one of you. I have perfect trust and confidence in you and we must all work together so that all of our citizens will know that the members of the Cumberland Police Department are dedicated to their work."

Luck Deserts Man's Masquerade

VIENNA (UPI) — Luck finally ran out on a man who masqueraded as a woman for 30 years.

Police in Amstetten in Lower Austria arrested Francisus Boeck and held him for possible deportation. Boeck, who called himself "Marianne," told police he adopted the pose in 1925 to escape service in the Polish armed forces.

Asked why he continued the pose, police quoted Boeck as saying: "I thought I would have more luck as a woman than a man".

According to reports, Boeck aroused the suspicion of monks by asking for presents. A police report said Boeck did not have a residence permit and had been ordered to leave Austria more than a year ago.

RHODES TO 'PEN'

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charles G. Rhodes, 43 former president of the West Virginia Assn. of Realtors, was transferred Friday to Moundsville Penitentiary where he will serve a 1-10 year prison sentence. Rhodes pleaded guilty to forging a note on which he obtained a $19,852 loan.

Maryland-Virginia Fishing Fight Nears Settlement

By FRANK E. TAYLOR
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maryland and Virginia differences over Potomac River fishing rights moved nearer settlement Friday with an agreement to recommend a two-state regulatory agency.

The agency would be composed of Virginia's three fisheries commissioners and Maryland's three-man Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

The Maryland and Virginia study groups, named to seek an out-of-court settlement of the long-time fishing and oyster war on the Maryland - owned Potomac, will meet again, probably before Christmas, to put final touches to their report.

Their recommendations then will go to the legislatures of the two states for final consideration.

Carlyle Barton, chairman of the Maryland group, said he hopes the recommendations can be offered in January to the Maryland Legislature.

Virginia's General Assembly does not meet in regular session until 1960. But Chairman Mills E. Godwin of the Virginia group said if a special session were called the recommendation could be submitted then.

Two subcommittees were named to work out final drafts of the agreement. Named to one subcommittee were Barton and Godwin. The other group members are William J. McWilliams of Maryland and Robert Y. Button of Virginia.

The two study groups were appointed after Virginia filed suit in the Supreme Court against action by the Maryland Legislature in tossing out the 1785 Potomac River Compact.

Retired Justice Stanley F. Reed was named special master. He suggested the states try for a settlement.

The groups, after a closed door session in historic Decatur House, lunched with Reed. The groups then held another closed session in the afternoon.

The 1785 compact provided Virginians with equal rights in the Potomac although Maryland owns the river. Maryland lawmakers nullified the compact after contending Virginians repeatedly ignored Potomac conservation laws, particularly the ban on oyster dredging.

Barton said prior to Friday's session that members of the two state fisheries commissions are as well qualified as any men the states could get to serve on the proposed two-state agency.

There was earlier speculation that the two state agencies, which have not always seen eye-to-eye on fishing problems, would be bypassed when a new commission was named.

Baltimore Police Come For Local Man

Baltimore Detective Austin Callahan and Police Officer Thomas Nichols came to the Allegany County Jail yesterday for James Edward Crowe, who is wanted in Baltimore on a larceny charge. They returned to Baltimore immediately.

Crowe, a former Cumberlander, had been living in Baltimore but returned here this week. He was arrested Thursday by Constable Robert W. Turnbull at the local office of the Department of Employment Security when he applied for unemployment compensation.

New, Unnecessary Crisis In Berlin

Just 10 years after the Soviet Union created an international crisis of the first magnitude with the Berlin blockade, Nikita Khrushchev is threatening to create a new one at the same location.

Khrushchev has bluntly demanded that the United States, Britain and France get out of Berlin and turn the old German capital over to the East German Communists. He asserted that the Soviet Union had every reason "to free ourselves of those obsolete treaty obligations" bound up with the Potsdam pact.

Then, having threatened that Russia would abrogate the treaty and deny the Western powers the right to free communication and transport with Berlin, he declared that the Soviet Union will go to East Germany's aid if Britain, France and the United States try to defend their treaty rights.

Washington has already said, as it has said on numerous occasions and demonstrated in 1948, that the Western powers are ready to fight if necessary to defend West Berlin's freedom and that no power can walk out of the occupation agreement on its own.

Khrushchev must have known that this would be the answer before he made his speech. Why, then, did he take this position and make these demands?

One answer is that he is bent on heating up the cold war again. This seems to be in line with the increasingly truculent attitude the Soviet Union is adopting at international conferences and in other areas.

There is little doubt that the Russians, for all their military might, are dismayed by West Germany's rising prosperity and strength. It probably never occurs to them that the West would have been happy to see a demilitarized Germany if the Soviet Union, by its threatening attitude, had not made it essential for us to help arm any people who could be regarded as our friends.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Republican Twilight

Republicans are discouraged because most of them assume that come what may, they can make no recovery and that their party is dead. This I have heard regularly from 1932 to 1952; then came Eisenhower and the Republicans were jubilant. The difficulty was that Eisenhower was Eisenhower and not a Republican or Democrat but just a soldier who had become a popular figure.

Now, six years later, Eisenhower has been rebuffed by the American people who gave him in 1956 a plurality of more than 9,000,000 votes. The Democratic landslide, as Khrushchev interprets it, is a repudiation of Eisenhower.

But it is not quite as simple as that. Many local and personal situations affected that vote and there is no telling where it will come out. Extremely wise and conniving persons are already settling what will happen in 1960. They know precisely what the sun spots will do to human sanity and what Khrushchev will do to the peace of the world, and what kind of an economy we shall be having under the pressures of the Cold War or even a Hot War, should it come.

Nobody can be too wise these days and opinions are worth a dime a dozen because nobody can know for sure that he knows all the components of the equation. So one listens to synthetic and even pompous wisdom with a sense of frustration. For instance, among missing facts is the Soviet production of gold and its distribution in world markets and the relationship of that distribution to the exodus of dollars and dollar stocks from the United States. I have been studying this problem for about 20 years and have very little reliable data.

Politics is supposed to be the science of government but it is also the art of controlling human beings. A truly able politician, like Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill or J. Stalin, to say nothing of Louis XIV or Bismarck, usually understands the breaking point beyond which his particular human beings will not tolerate controls. After that point, comes revolution.

Mediocre politicians fail to realize that their art is the control of men. They depend upon convincing devices of approach which lend to their personalities favorable appearance. The reason Wendell Willkie failed was that he never quite understood what he was called upon to do to defeat Roosevelt. His task was to tear away from Roosevelt, if he could, the mask of personality which gave Roosevelt acceptability. The people have an unerring way of discovering the essential weakness of a ruler and they often knock him off as they did Louis XVI and Nicholas II to say nothing of the English Stuarts who were Scots.

The 1960 election will be in a frame that is very different from 1958. In the first place, it will be national in tone not parochial as 1958 was. Nelson Rockefeller even now takes the position that he was chosen to deal with the administrative and fiscal questions of New York State and that he has nothing to do with national or international questions. One can maintain such a position only as long as there is no clamor for place, but national and international questions obtrude themselves. Events are always happening.

Who knows how all this will affect the 1960 election and much more that happens in 80 odd nations of the world every day? We are on the brink of something explosive; it might be war; it could be revolution; it could be a new economic system as a human rebellion against the unscientific nature of socialism and the unscrupulous nature of mid-twentieth century capitalism.

The assumption that politicians go into national conventions without the restrictions which the will of their neighbors put upon them is cynically to resist the truth of our world. This is still a free country and politicians know when to avoid making deals which might offend the people to the degree that a revulsion is produced—often referred to as a "sweep." New York City is often unrelated to the responses of most American areas because of its enormous alien interests and although in a political convention, the New York delegation could be a controlling factor, it is growing less so annually.

To re-establish itself for 1960, the Republican Party will have to have a cause to justify its existence and a leadership of the sincerity of Abraham Lincoln. Conniving will not do.

School, Church Dynamitings Done By Central Ring Of Hate-Mongers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This writer has visited the chief cities where schools and places of worship have been dynamited recently and has come to the conclusion these bombings are the work of skilled dynamiters hired by a central ring of hate-mongers.

The bombings follow a pattern. The three major bombings have occurred on Sunday at Clinton, Tenn., Atlanta, and Osage, W. Va. The buildings were blown up by people who knew how to handle dynamite, not by crackpots or rabble-rousers. A rabble-rouser like John Kasper knows nothing about dynamite and would probably blow himself up if he tried to handle it.

At Clinton, three heavy charges of dynamite were placed in three key parts of the high school so the explosion would destroy the entire building. It did.

At Atlanta, the dynamite was placed outside the side door of the synagogue. It was a very heavy concentration of dynamite, and would have blown up most of the building had it been placed inside.

The school at Osage, W. Va., was blown up by two heavy concentrations of dynamite obviously placed by an expert. He ran a wire to a car in a parking lot outside the school and used a hand generator to touch off the explosion. The car was heard to start right afterward.

Almost any coal miner in West Virginia can handle dynamite. But no dynamite was found stolen or purchased in that area. Besides, the coal miners had been working side by side with Negro coal miners for years. They were good friends, enjoyed the finest of community relations and the school had been integrated for four years.

FBI Lags In Track-Down

The FBI has been extremely efficient in planting agents inside the Communist Party and for a long time also had agents inside the Ku Klux Klan. J. Edgar Hoover has known almost every move made by the Communists in the USA. However, he has been slow about tracking down either the current dynamiters or penetrating the secret ring which probably is financing them.

In fact the FBI and the Federal government were for a long time loath to step into these bombings at all.

When the Jewish Community Center was bombed in Nashville about a year ago, Rabbi William Silverman got a phone call.

"You have two children," said an unidentified voice, "you send them to school. Better take them out of school. You wouldn't want to see them hurt, would you?"

Dr. Silverman told me that he tried to get the FBI at that time to listen in on his telephone in order to trace other calls threatening his life. But the FBI said it could only tap his phone if they put a beeper on the wire which of course would immediately reveal that the phone was tapped. To tap a phone, FBI agents explained, was illegal.

This is true. But the FBI has tapped various telephones in Washington.

Lighter Side

Dr. Silverman was faced with the problem of keeping his children in school and risking bodily harm or taking them out and making them second-class citizens. He kept them in school. However, the local Nashville police insisted that he carry a revolver.

"I'm a man of God, not a policeman," protested Dr. Silverman.

However, he finally agreed to be sworn in as a deputy marshal and carried a gun in one pocket with a cartridge clip in the other. His children instead of being intimidated thought it was wonderful that their father carried a gun. They would have like to se him go one step further and ge a horse called "Lone Silver."

This was the lighter side o the bombing at Nashville. On th tragic side, the synagogue had t be guarded by special police da and night. And if you drive b the synagogue in Atlanta at nigh and stop your car you are certai to be questioned by the police.

This is not the way to worshi in a free America. It's neare what we accuse the Kremlin imposing in Russia.

The Justice Department als has been slow about realizing th danger of the terror and hat which has been creeping throug certain portions of the nation.

When rioters first began challenging the Nashville plan to integrate the first grade of it schools, Mayor Ben West telephoned the Justice Departmen in Washington for aid. The Federal government had decree that schools must be integrate in due course and the mayo wanted help from the Federa government in keeping law an order when these rulings wer being enforced.

"Disgusting Thing"

"We waited all day long fo word from Washington," sai Mayor West. "Long-distance call went back and forth. No results We kept waiting. Finally th superintendent of school and took matters into our own hand and asked for an injunctio against the rioters. We got it.

"We weren't going to let bunch of hoodlums interfer with education in our schools The police, I might add, did magnificent job.

"I don't like to involve Federa officials here in Nashville," continued Mayor West, "but the were disgusted with the way thei superiors in Washington ducke and dilly-dallied while we sa here waiting. It was the mos disgusting thing I have eve seen."

Talks with various state an city officials in southern state convinced me that the hate bombings, which have continue against schools and places o worship, first got started fro disrespect for law. When la breaks down at any one point disrespect becomes contagious It spreads from schools t churches, from the north to th south, and it becomes, as it ha today, a national problem.

Subtractions From The Theory Of The Deterrent

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS—These words are written in Paris because this reporter is again on his way to the troubled Middle East. The diplomats here are anxiously arguing about the meaning of Nikita Khrushchev's recent open threat to vulnerable, vital West Berlin.

Yet the storm signals abroad are very much less significant than the process going on in Washington — the President's painful, personal effort to prepare next year's defense budget. Now is literally the last chance (and it is very late by now) to deal with the problem of the oncoming missile gap. Hence, it seems worth trying to show how the missile gap will affect the whole theory of Western defense.

Very few persons outside the sacred circle of those having clearance realize how enormously American and Western defense theory has already changed in the Eisenhower years. To begin with, any idea of maintaining true offensive capability has long since been abandoned by the Eisenhower policy-makers.

You have no offensive capability, very obviously, if you dare not strike the first blow. In an exchange of nuclear weapons, no nation can even think about striking the first blow without full confidence of meeting one central requirement. The first blow must be heavy enough to prevent or cripple the return blow. Otherwise, the price of striking the first blow will be the immediate destruction of the nation that strikes it.

When President Eisenhower took office, the American Strategic Air Command still had the power to strike the first blow, but Soviet nuclear striking power was already growing fast, and the Eisenhower Administration decided not to make the great effort to maintain the American lead. Hence, SAC lost its true offensive capability rather early on. The Dulles doctrine of "massive retaliation" became massive nonsense not long after it was proclaimed.

Secretary Dulles was talking about striking a nuclear first blow in retaliation for non-nuclear aggression. The United States lost the power to retaliate in this manner by 1956, because by then SAC was no longer able to prevent or cripple the Soviet return blow. This did not mean, however, that the Soviets could in turn begin to think about striking a nuclear first blow. Even today, the Soviets are just as unable to prevent or cripple SAC's return blow as SAC is unable to prevent or cripple their return blow.

In this precariously balanced situation, all the actions of each side are limited by the other side's nuclear deterrent. This effect was clearly visible, even in such a strange local conflict as the fight at Quemoy.

On the American side, the President at once tore up his previous "bigger bang for a buck" directives authorizing our armed forces to use tactical nuclear weapons in almost any kind of local military spat. By the same token, the Soviets clearly held back the Chinese Communists, in order to avoid an uncontrollable widening of the war. One side was deterred from using tactical nuclear arms. The other side was deterred from bringing to bear the full weight of its conventional armaments. In both cases, the other side's strategic nuclear deterrent was the great persuader.

But what will happen when the balance of the nuclear deterrent changes again, during the period of the missile gap that now lies ahead? In order to answer this question coherently, it is first of all necessary to note that your true nuclear deterrent is what the other side thinks will be left over after their first blow. For the other side is certainly not going to be deterred by airplanes they count on destroying on the ground and bombs they believe will not be delivered.

Having noted this crucial point, it is then necessary to make a series of subtractions from the existing strengths of the American nuclear deterrent, in order to allow for the progress of Soviet arms. Above all, subtractions must be made because the Soviets are expected to have a full panoply of intermediate and intercontinental - range ballistic missiles by the end of 1962 or 1963.

Subtraction number one will be required because of the neutralization of the American overseas air bases by Soviet intermediate-range missiles. Even in 1962, approximately three-quarters of SAC's total striking power will be composed of short-range B-47 aircraft, which are heavily dependent on the overseas bases. When the overseas bases are neutralized, a very high proportion of the B-47s will simply become unusable. Very few suitable tankers will be available for B-47s to strike Russian targets from bases on this continent; and only these B-47s can be counted on for the return blow.

Subtraction number two will be required because even SAC's long-range bombers, based in the Western hemisphere, will not be immune to Soviet intercontinental missiles. In fact, only the relatively small proportion of B-52s and B-58s that are in the air or on 15-minute alert can be counted on for the return blow. These two subtractions, taken together, will thus reduce SAC's dependable retaliatory striking power by somewhere between 70 and 85 per cent.

Finally, a third subtraction must be made because of the great and continuous improvements of the Soviet air defense system. In the period that lies ahead, the Soviet war planners cannot only expect their first blow to destroy or neutralize a huge part of SAC's over-all striking power. They can also expect their air defense to destroy or turn back much of what is left over. Having made this third subtraction, the Soviet war planners will then ask themselves how much damage the American return blow can do. And if the answer to this final question is acceptable, the Kremlin will then consider that it has full freedom to strike the first blow if this seems desirable.

Such is the development that has to be guarded against. The prospect raises a whole series of pressing questions, now being debated in the Pentagon's recesses which will be examined in a further report.

Poland's Progress

By J. M. Roberts

Two years ago the United States gave limited approval to the Gomulka regime in Poland.

Gomulka was credited with trying to put Poland in somewhat the same position as Finland with relation to the Soviet Union. Peaceful coexistence was the order of the day, with an increase in the civil rights of the Polish people.

Free speech and religious tolerance seemed to be making some headway.

The negative results of outright revolution had just been made apparent by the Hungarian fiasco.

Gomulka appeared to be moving in the Tito direction, but without the provocations which have disturbed Yugoslav relations with the Soviet Union.

At first the Soviets showed signs of cutting off Poland's economic water. Contracts for ships under construction were canceled. Unemployment became a threat.

To help what it believed to be a limited liberalization movement, the Eisenhower administration persuaded a reluctant Congress to give Poland some aid from surplus stocks—food and cotton—and some machinery. It's been hardly more than a token—about 200 million dollars worth, but a help, nonetheless.

The liberalization movement, however, has seemed to be losing ground. There have been conflicts with religious and liberal elements. The Polish government has frequently seemed to be going farther than was necessary in supporting the International Communist propaganda campaign.

Warsaw's promotion of the idea of a demilitarized zone in Europe including Germany is a case in point.

Gomulka undoubtedly was put under heavy pressure during his recent visit to Moscow. He joined in some of Khrushchev's latest bombast. On his return home he said United States imperialism is the principal danger to peace.

The question now is how much of this acquiescence in the Soviet position is forced or whether some of it is gratuitous.

The administration still seems inclined to be lenient and understand him in a different way.

There has always been some suspicion that his liberalization program was designed to keep Poland in thralldom without revolution rather than as a truly progressive movement.

Gomulka always has been a Communist. Washington no longer forgets as easily as it once did that the ways of Communists are devious.

Have An Allergy? Cheer Up; You May Outlive It

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Allergic disorders tend to wear out as the years pass, and as a result are not as common in oldsters as in the young and middle-aged. This may be due to a lessened sensitivity to dust and weeds or to the quieter and more sheltered life of the retired person. Many move away from their troubles, including the hazards of industrial allergens.

Seasonal hay fever seldom appears in the later years of life; oldsters who have the conidtion usually carry it over from early life. The nasal membranes change with age; the lining becomes thinner and there are fewer blood vessels and mucous glands. This may explain why these tissues are less likely to misbehave when ragweed or other pollen is inhaled.

Somewhat similar changes occur in the skin, which is why hives and allergic eczema are uncommon after 60. Itching often becomes a nuisance but it is due to age and not contact with something to which the individual is susceptible. On the other hand, the skin and nasal membranes become more sensitive to physical agents such as cold, heat, and the sun. This may account for the tendency of older people to sniffle and sneeze more often than usual.

Asthma is the most important allergic disease among our senior citizens. It is more serious when the onset occurs after age 40 in contrast to the type of asthma that begins in childhood or youth. It is harder to control in the elderly and often is aggravated by the greater susceptibility to respiratory infections.

But this is only part of the story. There are other causes for wheezing at this age and errors in diagnosis may have serious consequences. Asthma due to heart trouble, for example, requires much different treatment from that produced by allergy.

Problems in treatment are met by attempting to find the causative allergen. The oldster's epidermis is thin and dry and reacts adversely to the usual skin tests. In addition, ephedrine and the steroids—so helpful in controlling symptoms in younger persons—may be too potent for those on in years who suffer from an ailing heart, poor circulation, or fragile bones.

STRONTIUM 90 IN MILK

Mrs. W. writes: We hear that milk today contains so much radioactivity it is dangerous to drink. Is there anything to this rumor?

REPLY

No. The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare studied this question for more than a year. It found the amount of radioactivity in milk below permissible limits. The national committee on radiation protection and measurement set a limit of 80.0 as the permissible concentration of strontium 90. In the milk studied, the amount varied from 3.4 to 7.4—well within safe limits.

SIZE OF ADAM'S APPLE

D. L. writes: Does the Adam's apple ever get smaller or bigger?

REPLY

Not normally, after reaching full growth. This part of the larynx may become more prominent if weight is lost, especially in men. It may enlarge due to inflammation or tumor.

CONSTRICTED ARTERIES

D. G. writes: Can anything be done for spastic arteries?

REPLY

Yes, but the need for treatment depends upon whether the spastic arteries are bothersome. Avoiding exposure to cold and emotional upheavals will help in some instances because these conditions encourage spasm. Drugs like papaverine, nitroglycerine, and alcohol relieve spasm and heat does the same.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

New, Unnecessary Crisis In Berlin

Just 10 years after the Soviet Union created an international crisis of the first magnitude with the Berlin blockade, Nikita Khrushchev is threatening to create a new one at the same location.

Khrushchev has bluntly demanded that the United States, Britain and France get out of Berlin and turn the old German capital over to the East German Communists. He asserted that the Soviet Union had every reason "to free ourselves of those obsolete treaty obligations" bound up with the Potsdam pact.

Then, having threatened that Russia would abrogate the treaty and deny the Western powers the right to free communication and transport with Berlin, he declared that the Soviet Union will go to East Germany's aid if Britain, France and the United States try to defend their treaty rights.

Washington has already said, as it has said on numerous occasions and demonstrated in 1948, that the Western powers are ready to fight if necessary to defend West Berlin's freedom and that no power can walk out of the occupation agreement on its own.

Khrushchev must have known that this would be the answer before he made his speech. Why, then, did he take this position and make these demands?

One answer is that he is bent on heating up the cold war again. This seems to be in line with the increasingly truculent attitude the Soviet Union is adopting at international conferences and in other areas.

There is little doubt that the Russians, for all their military might, are dismayed by West Germany's rising prosperity and strength. It probably never occurs to them that the West would have been happy to see a demilitarized Germany if the Soviet Union, by its threatening attitude, had not made it essential for us to help arm any people who could be regarded as our friends.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Republican Twilight

Republicans are discouraged because most of them assume that come what may, they can make no recovery and that their party is dead. This I have heard regularly from 1932 to 1952; then came Eisenhower and the Republicans were jubilant. The difficulty was that Eisenhower was Eisenhower and not a Republican or Democrat but just a soldier who had become a popular figure.

Now, six years later, Eisenhower has been rebuffed by the American people who gave him in 1956 a plurality of more than 9,000,000 votes. The Democratic landslide, as Khrushchev interprets it, is a repudiation of Eisenhower.

But it is not quite as simple as that. Many local and personal situations affected that vote and there is no telling where it will come out. Extremely wise and conniving persons are already settling what will happen in 1960. They know precisely what the sun spots will do to human sanity and what Khrushchev will do to the peace of the world, and what kind of an economy we shall be having under the pressures of the Cold War or even a Hot War, should it come.

Nobody can be too wise these days and opinions are worth a dime a dozen because nobody can know for sure that he knows all the components of the equation. So one listens to synthetic and even pompous wisdom with a sense of frustration. For instance, among missing facts is the Soviet production of gold and its distribution in world markets and the relationship of that distribution to the exodus of dollars and dollar stocks from the United States. I have been studying this problem for about 20 years and have very little reliable data.

Politics is supposed to be the science of government but it is also the art of controlling human beings. A truly able politician, like Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill or J. Stalin, to say nothing of Louis XIV or Bismarck, usually understands the breaking point beyond which his particular human beings will not tolerate controls. After that point, comes revolution.

Mediocre politicians fail to realize that their art is the control of men. They depend upon convincing devices of approach which lend to their personalities favorable appearance. The reason Wendell Willkie failed was that he never quite understood what he was called upon to do to defeat Roosevelt. His task was to tear away from Roosevelt, if he could, the mask of personality which gave Roosevelt acceptability. The people have an unerring way of discovering the essential weakness of a ruler and they often knock him off as they did Louis XVI and Nicholas II to say nothing of the English Stuarts who were Scots.

The 1960 election will be in a frame that is very different from 1958. In the first place, it will be national in tone not parochial as 1958 was. Nelson Rockefeller even now takes the position that he was chosen to deal with the administrative and fiscal questions of New York State and that he has nothing to do with national or international questions. One can maintain such a position only as long as there is no clamor for place, but national and international questions obtrude themselves. Events are always happening.

Who knows how all this will affect the 1960 election and much more that happens in 80 odd nations of the world every day? We are on the brink of something explosive; it might be war; it could be revolution; it could be a new economic system as a human rebellion against the unscientific nature of socialism, and the unscrupulous nature of mid-twentieth century capitalism.

The assumption that politicians go into national conventions without the restrictions which the will of their neighbors put upon them is cynically to resist the truth of our world. This is still a free country and politicians know when to avoid making deals which might offend the people to the degree that a revulsion is produced—often referred to as a "sweep." New York City is often unrelated to the responses of most American areas because of its enormous alien interests and although in a political convention, the New York delegation could be a controlling factor, it is growing less so annually.

To re-establish itself for 1960, the Republican Party will have to have a cause to justify its existence and a leadership of the sincerity of Abraham Lincoln. Conniving will not do.

School, Church Dynamitings Done By Central Ring Of Hate-Mongers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This writer has visited the chief cities where schools and places of worship have been dynamited recently and has come to the conclusion these bombings are the work of skilled dynamiters hired by a central ring of hate-mongers.

The bombings follow a pattern. The three major bombings have occurred on Sunday at Clinton, Tenn., Atlanta, and Osage, W. Va. The buildings were blown up by people who knew how to handle dynamite, not by crackpots or rabble-rousers. A rabble-rouser like John Kasper knows nothing about dynamite and would probably blow himself up if he tried to handle it.

At Clinton, three heavy charges of dynamite were placed in three key parts of the high school so the explosion would destroy the entire building. It did.

At Atlanta, the dynamite was placed outside the side door of the synagogue. It was a very heavy concentration of dynamite, and would have blown up most of the building had it been placed inside.

The school at Osage, W. Va., was blown up by two heavy concentrations of dynamite obviously placed by an expert. He ran a wire to a car in a parking lot outside the school and used a hand generator to touch off the explosion. The car was heard to start right afterward.

Almost any coal miner in West Virginia can handle dynamite. But no dynamite was found stolen or purchased in that area. Besides, the coal miners had been working side by side with Negro coal miners for years. They were good friends, enjoyed the finest of community relations and the school had been integrated for four years.

FBI Lags In Track-Down

The FBI has been extremely efficient in planting agents inside the Communist Party and for a long time also had agents inside the Ku Klux Klan. J. Edgar Hoover has known almost every move made by the Communists in the USA. However, he has been slow about tracking down either the current dynamiters or penetrating the secret ring which probably is financing them.

In fact the FBI and the Federal government were for a long time loath to step into these bombings at all.

When the Jewish Community Center was bombed in Nashville about a year ago, Rabbi William Silverman got a phone call.

"You have two children," said an unidentified voice, "you send them to school. Better take them out of school. You wouldn't want to see them hurt, would you?"

Dr. Silverman told me that he tried to get the FBI at that time to listen in on his telephone in order to trace other calls threatening his life. But the FBI said it could only tap his phone if they put a beeper on the wire which of course would immediately reveal that the phone was tapped. To tap a phone, FBI agents explained, was illegal.

This is true. But the FBI has tapped various telephones in Washington.

Lighter Side

Dr. Silverman was faced with the problem of keeping his children in school and risking bodily harm or taking them out and making them second-class citizens. He kept them in school. However, the local Nashville police insisted that he carry a revolver.

"I'm a man of God, not a policeman," protested Dr. Silverman.

However, he finally agreed to be sworn in as a deputy marshal and carried a gun in one pocket with a cartridge clip in the other. His children instead of being intimidated thought it was wonderful that their father carried a gun. They would have like to se him go one step further and ge a horse called "Lone Silver."

This was the lighter side o the bombing at Nashville. On th tragic side, the synagogue had t be guarded by special police day and night. And if you drive by the synagogue in Atlanta at nigh and stop your car you are certai to be questioned by the police.

This is not the way to worshi in a free America. It's neare what we accuse the Kremlin imposing in Russia.

The Justice Department als has been slow about realizing th danger of the terror and hat which has been creeping throug certain portions of the nation.

When rioters first began challenging the Nashville plan to integrate the first grade of it schools, Mayor Ben West telephoned the Justice Departmen in Washington for aid. The Federal government had decree that schools must be integrate in due course and the mayo wanted help from the Federa government in keeping law an order when these rulings wer being enforced.

"Disgusting Thing"

"We waited all day long fo word from Washington," sai Mayor West. "Long-distance call went back and forth. No results We kept waiting. Finally th superintendent of school and took matters into our own hand and asked for an injunctio against the rioters. We got it.

"We weren't going to let a bunch of hoodlums interfer with education in our schools The police, I might add, did a magnificent job.

"I don't like to involve Federa officials here in Nashville," continued Mayor West, "but the were disgusted with the way thei superiors in Washington ducke and dilly-dallied while we sa here waiting. It was the mos disgusting thing I have eve seen."

Talks with various state an city officials in southern state convinced me that the hate bombings, which have continue against schools and places o worship, first got started fro disrespect for law. When la breaks down at any one point, disrespect becomes contagious It spreads from schools t churches, from the north to th south, and it becomes, as it ha today, a national problem.

Subtractions From The Theory Of The Deterrent

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS—These words are written in Paris because this reporter is again on his way to the troubled Middle East. The diplomats here are anxiously arguing about the meaning of Nikita Khrushchev's recent open threat to vulnerable, vital West Berlin.

Yet the storm signals abroad are very much less significant than the process going on in Washington — the President's painful, personal effort to prepare next year's defense budget. Now is literally the last chance (and it is very late by now) to deal with the problem of the oncoming missile gap. Hence, it seems worth trying to show how the missile gap will affect the whole theory of Western defense.

Very few persons outside the sacred circle of those having clearance realize how enormously American and Western defense theory has already changed in the Eisenhower years. To begin with, any idea of maintaining true offensive capability has long since been abandoned by the Eisenhower policy-makers.

You have no offensive capability, very obviously, if you dare not strike the first blow. In an exchange of nuclear weapons, no nation can even think about striking the first blow without full confidence of meeting one central requirement. The first blow must be heavy enough to prevent or cripple the return blow. Otherwise, the price of striking the first blow will be the immediate destruction of the nation that strikes it.

When President Eisenhower took office, the American Strategic Air Command still had the power to strike the first blow, but Soviet nuclear striking power was already growing fast, and the Eisenhower Administration decided not to make the great effort to maintain the American lead. Hence, SAC lost its true offensive capability rather early on. The Dulles doctrine of "massive retaliation" became massive nonsense not long after it was proclaimed.

Secretary Dulles was talking about striking a nuclear first blow in retaliation for non-nuclear aggression. The United States lost the power to retaliate in this manner by 1956, because by then SAC was no longer able to prevent or cripple the Soviet return blow. This did not mean, however, that the Soviets could in turn begin to think about striking a nuclear first blow. Even today, the Soviets are just as unable to prevent or cripple SAC's return blow as SAC is unable to prevent or cripple their return blow.

In this precariously balanced situation, all the actions of each side are limited by the other side's nuclear deterrent. This effect was clearly visible, even in such a strange local conflict as the fight at Quemoy.

On the American side, the President at once tore up his previous "bigger bang for a buck" directives authorizing our armed forces to use tactical nuclear weapons in almost any kind of local military spat. By the same token, the Soviets clearly held back the Chinese Communists, in order to avoid an uncontrollable widening of the war. One side was deterred from using tactical nuclear arms. The other side was deterred from bringing to bear the full weight of its conventional armaments. In both cases, the other side's strategic nuclear deterrent was the great persuader.

But what will happen when the balance of the nuclear deterrent changes again, during the period of the missile gap that now lies ahead? In order to answer this question coherently, it is first of all necessary to note that your true nuclear deterrent is what the other side thinks will be left over after their first blow. For the other side is certainly not going to be deterred by airplanes they count on destroying on the ground and bombs they believe will not be delivered.

Having noted this crucial point, it is then necessary to make a series of subtractions from the existing strengths of the American nuclear deterrent, in order to allow for the progress of Soviet arms. Above all, subtractions must be made because the Soviets are expected to have a full panoply of intermediate and intercontinental - range ballistic missiles by the end of 1962 or 1963.

Subtraction number one will be required because of the neutralization of the American overseas air bases by Soviet intermediate-range missiles. Even in 1962, approximately three-quarters of SAC's total striking power will be composed of short-range B-47 aircraft, which are heavily dependent on the overseas bases. When the overseas bases are neutralized, a very high proportion of the B-47s will simply become unusable. Very few suitable tankers will be available for B-47s to strike Russian targets from bases on this continent; and only these B-47s can be counted on for the return blow.

Subtraction number two will be required because even SAC's long-range bombers, based in the Western hemisphere, will not be immune to Soviet intercontinental missiles. In fact, only the relatively small proportion of B-52s and B-58s that are in the air or on 15-minute alert can be counted on for the return blow. These two subtractions, taken together, will thus reduce SAC's dependable retaliatory striking power by somewhere between 70 and 85 per cent.

Finally, a third subtraction must be made because of the great and continuous improvements of the Soviet air defense system. In the period that lies ahead, the Soviet war planners cannot only expect their first blow to destroy or neutralize a huge part of SAC's over-all striking power. They can also expect their air defense to destroy or turn back much of what is left over. Having made this third subtraction, the Soviet war planners will then ask themselves how much damage the American return blow can do. And if the answer to this final question is acceptable, the Kremlin will then consider that it has full freedom to strike the first blow if this seems desirable.

Such is the development that has to be guarded against. The prospect raises a whole series of pressing questions, now being debated in the Pentagon's recesses which will be examined in a further report.

Have An Allergy? Cheer Up; You May Outlive It

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Allergic disorders tend to wear out as the years pass, and as a result are not as common in oldsters as in the young and middle-aged. This may be due to a lessened sensitivity to dust and weeds or to the quieter and more sheltered life of the retired person. Many move away from their troubles, including the hazards of industrial allergens.

Seasonal hay fever seldom appears in the later years of life; oldsters who have the conidtion usually carry it over from early life. The nasal membranes change with age; the lining becomes thinner and there are fewer blood vessels and mucous glands. This may explain why these tissues are less likely to misbehave when ragweed or other pollen is inhaled.

Somewhat similar changes occur in the skin, which is why hives and allergic eczema are uncommon after 60. Itching often becomes a nuisance but it is due to age and not contact with something to which the individual is susceptible. On the other hand, the skin and nasal membranes become more sensitive to physical agents such as cold, heat, and the sun. This may account for the tendency of older people to sniffle and sneeze more often than usual.

Asthma is the most important allergic disease among our senior citizens. It is more serious when the onset occurs after age 40 in contrast to the type of asthma that begins in childhood or youth. It is harder to control in the elderly and often is aggravated by the greater susceptibility to respiratory infections.

But this is only part of the story. There are other causes for wheezing at this age and errors in diagnosis may have serious consequences. Asthma due to heart trouble, for example, requires much different treatment from that produced by allergy.

Problems in treatment are met by attempting to find the causative allergen. The oldster's epidermis is thin and dry and reacts adversely to the usual skin tests. In addition, ephedrine and the steroids—so helpful in controlling symptoms in younger persons—may be too potent for those on in years who suffer from an ailing heart, poor circulation, or fragile bones.

STRONTIUM 90 IN MILK

Mrs. W. writes: We hear that milk today contains so much radioactivity it is dangerous to drink. Is there anything to this rumor?

REPLY

No. The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare studied this question for more than a year. It found the amount of radioactivity in milk below permissible limits. The national committee on radiation protection and measurement set a limit of 80.0 as the permissible concentration of strontium 90. In the milk studied, the amount varied from 3.4 to 7.4—well within safe limits.

SIZE OF ADAM'S APPLE

D. L. writes: Does the Adam's apple ever get smaller or bigger?

REPLY

Not normally, after reaching full growth. This part of the larynx may become more prominent if weight is lost, especially in men. It may enlarge due to inflammation or tumor.

CONSTRICTED ARTERIES

D. G. writes: Can anything be done for spastic arteries?

REPLY

Yes, but the need for treatment depends upon whether the spastic arteries are bothersome. Avoiding exposure to cold and emotional upheavals will help in some instances because these conditions encourage spasm. Drugs like papaverine, nitroglycerine, and alcohol relieve spasm and heat does the same.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Poland's Progress

By J. M. Roberts

Two years ago the United States gave limited approval to the Gomulka regime in Poland.

Gomulka was credited with trying to put Poland in somewhat the same position as Finland with relation to the Soviet Union. Peaceful coexistence was the order of the day, with an increase in the civil rights of the Polish people.

Free speech and religious tolerance seemed to be making some headway.

The negative results of outright revolution had just been made apparent by the Hungarian fiasco.

Gomulka appeared to be moving in the Tito direction, but without the provocations which have disturbed Yugoslav relations with the Soviet Union.

At first the Soviets showed signs of cutting off Poland's economic water. Contracts for ships under construction were canceled. Unemployment became a threat.

To help what it believed to be a limited liberalization movement, the Eisenhower administration persuaded a reluctant Congress to give Poland some aid from surplus stocks—food and cotton—and some machinery. It's been hardly more than a token—about 200 million dollars worth, but a help, nonetheless.

The liberalization movement, however, has seemed to be losing ground. There have been conflict with religious and liberal elements. The Polish government ha frequently seemed to be going farther than was necessary in supporting the International Communist propaganda campaign.

Warsaw's promotion of the ide of a demilitarized zone in Europ including Germany is a case i point.

Gomulka undoubtedly was pu under heavy pressure during hi recent visit to Moscow. He joine in some of Khrushchev's lates bombast. On his return home h said United States imperialism i the principal danger to peace.

The question now is how muc of this acquiescence in the Sovie position is forced or whether som of it is gratuitous.

The administration still seem inclined to be lenient and understand him in a different way.

There has always been som suspicion that his liberalizatio program was designed to keep Poland in thralldom without revolution rather than as a truly progressive movement.

Gomulka always has been a Communist. Washington no longer forgets as easily as it once did that the ways of Communists are devious.

By BILL FAIR

Allegany High's Campers concluded their last battle test before their annual Thanksgiving Day battle with Fort Hill last night by completely outclassing the Moorefield Yellow Jackets, 26-8, before a small stadium crown.

The Campers combatted penalty after penalty with a solid running and passing attack, both of which were conspicuously highlighted by halfback Richard "Baldy" Powell, to ground the inferior Jackets into submission.

Allegany coupled a pair of touchdowns in the first period and another pair in the final quarter while Moorefield, defeated last week here by LaSalle, tallied in the second frame and added a safety in the final heat. Injured Bobby Gaffney, Tim Miller, Powell and Frank Cawood accounted for Alco TDs, while Denton Thorne raced for the visitor's only six-pointer. Bud Allison and Gary Hiser each booted a point after touchdown for the Campers who are now 7-2 on the season.

Gaffney Scores First

Gaffney, operating on one bad cylinder, launched scoring for Coach Ed Schwarz' wards after Powell recovered a Denton Thorne fumble at the Hardy Countians' 29-yard line. Allegany moved to the 18, from where quarterback Gary Shook, on a clever pass pattern, plopped the leather into Gaffney's arms for the touchdown against shocked Moorefield secondary men, who were nowhere around the galloping halfback. Hiser's kick was good for a quick, 7-0, score.

In the same period, after Ronnie Riggs intercepted a Jimmy Paugh aerial at Alco's 30, the Campers inaugurated a sustained drive to the Moorefield six, resulting mainly from the relentless running of Gaffney. Shook sent Miller into the thick of the line for Allegany's second score. Allison "cross-fire" kick sailed wide to the left.

Thorne Recovers Fumble

Minutes after second quarter play opened, Jacket fullback Thorne scooped a Shook bobble at the Schwarzmen's 44 and hot-footed it all the way for the West Virginians lone trip into the end zone. Paugh's penalty-caused second kick for the PAT was slapped down by Mike McKenzie. The Campers, plagued by five rule infractions in the second stanza, dominated the period balance, losing the ball on downs at Moorefield's 22, three plays before intermission.

With Miller and the hard-running Cawood toting the leather, Alco brought about the only threat in the third quarter, advancing to the Jackets' 18 where Allison's fourth down field goal attempt fell short.

The Campers, however, unleashed another scoring attack with lightning-like rapidity in the closing period, the first of which culminated an 80-yard paydirt march shortly after the quarter opened. Powell, Gerald Horton and Miller did the leg work to set the stage for Shook's 29-yard touchdown pass.

The tricky signal-caller sent Powell down the middle and again distant, bewildered Moorefield pass defenders watched "Baldy" perform his act-ending solo for the score.

Makes Spectacular Catch

Several minutes later, following a Moorefield punt, Horton heaved a fullback pass to Powell who leaped between three defenders to make a spectacular catch at the visitors' nine-yard stripe. With excellent blocking, Cawood sped around end for the score, which was followed by Allison's placement to set the score at 26-6.

The Jackets followed with a drive to Alco's 2, but the reliable Powell recovered a Thorne fumble. Penalties and unsuccessful passes ensued and on Alco's fourth second down, husky Tom Hefner tackled Shook in the end zone for a safety just as the gun sounded. Lineups:

Bowl Bids Are At Stake In College Games Today

LSU, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Syracuse In Important Tests

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Does Louisiana State need incentive to defeat Mississippi State Saturday night in one of the top games on the weekend's college football schedule? Not on your life, brother. The facts speak for themselves.

By winning the Bayou Bengals can: (1) Virtually assure themselves Southeastern Conference representation in the Sugar Bowl; (2) Keep themselves undefeated with a 9-0 mark (3) Lay solid claim to retain the No. 1 ranking in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters; (4) Avenge a 14-6 loss to the Maroons last year; (5) All but lock up the SEC title. If they defeat Tulane next week the conference title job is done.

Bowl Bids At Stake

There are number of bowl bids at stake this weekend and a few conference titles to be decided as the season hits the four-fifths mark.

Iowa (No. 2) won the Big Ten title last week and the Rose Bowl trip. Now it has a grudge battle with Ohio State (No. 16) in its drive for the national championship. The Hawks haven't allowed Ohio State within their 30-yard line in the Ohioans last two visits. They also have a 17-14 defeat to avenge from last year at Ohio State.

Auburn (No. 4) meets Georgia in an SEC game. The Tigers have a slim chance for the conference crown. Auburn has a 4-0-1 SEC mark and LSU loss in its next two games would give the defending national champs the title—provided they keep winning. There is no bowl in sight for Auburn because of an NCAA violation that put them on indefinite probation.

Oklahoma Favored

Oklahoma (No. 6) entertains Missouri in a battle for the Big Eight title and the host spot in the Orange Bowl. The Sooners hurdled Colorado two weeks ago in a similar test and are favored to do the same to the Tigers in a game televised in the Big Eight region.

Down in the Southwest, ninth-ranked Texas Christian defends its share of the Southwest Conference lead against Texas. The other half, Rice (No. 17) meets conference foe Texas A&M. If both leaders win their date the following weekend should decide the champion and a Cotton Bowl slot.

Three of the top 10 play with no bowl bids in prospect. Third-ranked Army meets Villanova in its final tune-up before the No. 29 Army-Navy game. West Point superintendent Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson said no bowl for the Cadets, regardless of the season's success.

The two other clubs are in the Big Ten. Fifth-ranked Wisconsin plays Illinois in an attempt to solidify second place in the conference, while Purdue (No. 8) meets 13th-ranked Northwestern in a regionally telecast game.

Mississippi (No. 7), named as a bowl possibility for the Cotton, Orange and Gator Bowls, meets SEC foe Tennessee. The Air Force Academy (No. 10), with a possibility of playing in the Cotton or Gator bowl if it retains its undefeated, once-tied record, and gets an OK from the Air Force brass in Washington, meets Skyline Conference leader Wyoming.

Tar Heels Play Irish

North Carolina (No. 11), winner of six straight, runs into Notre Dame and its passing wizard George Izo. The Tar Heels are trying to look pretty for the Sugar, Orange, Cotton and Gator bowl selection committees, who have glanced their way recently.

Syracuse plays Colgate and the 12th rated Orangemen are in the running for the Cotton, Orange and Gator bowls. Pitt (No. 14), which found bowl-life with its 29-26 win over Notre Dame last week, meets Nebraska with the four Southern bowls looking its way.

Southern Methodist (No. 15) said to have a possibility of landing a bowl bid, plays SWC neighbor Arkansas and must win if it is to also stay in the winning for the conference title.

Rabbit, Quail Season Opens

The 12-day special deer season for bow hunters ended yesterday in Maryland and the rabbit, quail, pheasant and grouse season is scheduled to get under way today.

During the gunning season for deer, Dec. 1-6, the small game hunting season will be suspended. It will resume Monday, December 8 and continue through January 5.

Bow and arrow hunters may take deer during the gunning season next month but only males with two or more points to one antler and spike bucks with three inch antler.

Teams Share Title

The Giants, coached by Tom Emmart, and the Steelers, coached by Mike Fabbri, battled to a 13-13 tie this week at Frostburg and will share the championship in the Kids Football League for the 1958 season.

Football Schedule Dwindles To Three Games Thanksgiving

Only three more high school games remain on the 1958 football schedule in the tri-state area and they are the traditional tilts listed for Thanksgiving Day—November 27.

In the annual Turkey Day game here Allegany plays Fort Hill. LaSalle High's Explorers windup their season with the Beall Mountaineers at Frostburg and Martinsburg plays the Handley High School Judges at Winchester.

Two titles hinge on the outcome of the game here. The Campers and Sentinels play for the city championship and Fort Hill can windup in a tie with North High of Hagerstown for the CVAL title if victorious in the holiday game.

Allegany and Fort Hill are meeting for the 23rd time on Thanksgiving Day. The Sentinels lead in the series 11 to 9 in wins with two tie games. LaSalle and Beall will be tangling for the 13th time. The Explorers lead 8 to 3 in wins. One game ended in a tie.

Mel Ott, Wife Are Injured In Two-Car Crash

Other Car Driver Instantly Killed

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (UPI)—Former major league baseball great Mel Ott and his wife were critically injured near here Friday night in a two-car collision in which the driver of the second car was killed instantly.

Ott, who played with the New York Giants for 20 years and managed them for six years, and his wife were in a station wagon. They were pulling onto Highway 90 west of here when their vehicle collided with a car driven by Leslie F. Curry Sr., 50.

Curry was pinned in his car and died instantly.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., said Ott and his wife had been taken to Hancock County Hospital for emergency treatment.

Hospital authorities listed their condition as critical.

Hancock County Hospital authorities said Ott suffered fractures of both legs, lacerations of the left elbow and forehead and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Ott sustained concussions, a fractured left forearm, lacerations of the forehead and possible internal injuries.

LeBaron Has Flu

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Little Eddie LeBaron, the Washington Redskins' passing ace, was ordered to bed Friday with a 102-degree fever.

LeBaron, apparently suffering from flu, was unable to attend the Redskins' final practice session before meeting the Cleveland Browns here Sunday.

Whether he will be able to play Sunday appeared up in the air.

Frostburg GOP Wins

The Frostburg Republican Club won two out of three games from the Woodmen of the World last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League. Bill Hyde of Frostburg and Brant of the W.O.W. led the scorers with 29 points each.

Publishes Letter

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru celebrated his 69th birthday Friday with publication of a book of letters sent to him by world figures. The book, edited by Nehru, included letters from Mohandas Gandhi, Mao Tse-tung, Chiang Kai-shek and George Bernard Shaw.

Terps Post 26-14 Win At Miami

Forbes Stands Out, 26,747 See Battle

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Forbes, 190-pound package of dynamite, led the Maryland Terrapins to a 26-14 victory over the downtrodden University of Miami Hurricanes before 26,747 football fans in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

Forbes, 5-foot-10 junior from Basking Ridge, N. J., scored three Maryland touchdowns and ripped through the Miami line for great yardage when the Terps went on the march.

With quarterback Dick Scarbath of Baltimore engineering the drives, Maryland mixed occasional passes with line smashes to outgain and out-score the homestanding Hurricanes and send the Miamians down to their sixth defeat in seven games this fall.

Bonnie Yarbrough passed 79 yards to Bob Rosbaugh for Miami's second touchdown in the final quarter to make the score 20-14 but Maryland buckled down and choked off the Hurricanes' attempts to pull it out.

Miami took an early 7-0 lead in the first quarter but Maryland controlled the ball most of the second and held a 13-7 advantage at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, Maryland tallied again, driving 77 yards in 19 plays. Three plays later Yarbrough's pass which Rosbaugh caught on the 35 brought the crowd to its feet.

Rosbaugh outran the Maryland secondary for the touchdown and Jim Stevens kicked the extra point to make it 20-14.

Maryland scored again with only 36 seconds left in the game, Bob Rusevlyan taking it over from the one.

Ryder Cup Matches Go To California

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—The Professional Golfers' Assn. has announced the 1959 Ryder Cup matches will be played in California instead of Atlantic City, N.J.

PGA President Harold Sargent said the matches, originally scheduled for the Atlantic City, N. J., County Club Oct. 31-Nov. 1 would be played instead at the new El Dorado Country Club in Palm Desert, Calif.

The exact dates for the team play between American and British professionals will be announced later.

Brooks Is Victor In Nebraska Vote

OMAHA (AP)—Democrat Ralph Brooks defeated Republican Gov. Victor E. Anderson by about 1,700 votes on the basis of all but complete unofficial tabulations of the mail vote in last week's election in Nebraska.

Associated Press unofficial tabulations Friday night, including the mail vote from 90 of 93 counties, were: Brooks 210,973, Anderson 209,214—a margin of 1,759 for the McCook schoolman.

The three missing counties expected to complete their counting Saturday. They had about 250 mail votes.

Anderson refused to concede pending the official canvass early next month.

Novelist Obtains Nevada Divorce

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Novelist John P. Marquand Friday was granted a Nevada divorce from Adelaide H. Marquand, his wife of more than 21 years.

Marquand charged mental cruelty. The court was told the couple had signed an out of court agreement settling property rights and custody of three children, Blanche, 18; Timothy, 17, and Elon, 15.

The decree was granted after a brief hearing by District Judge Richard Hana.

Plane Search In Sixth Day

LISBON (UPI)—The search for the Portuguese seaplane that vanished off Cape St. Vincent last Sunday with 36 persons on board entered its sixth day Friday, with scant hope remaining of finding survivors.

The last contact made by the plane was a message flashed one hour after takeoff from Lisbon's Carbo Ruivo airport last Sunday: "Will land in emergency". It gave its position as about 180 miles from the Portuguese coast.

Handley High School's Judges notched their seventh victory of the season when they turned back the Beall High School Mountaineers at Frostburg by the score of 21-6.

All of the scoring was packed into the second half when Butler, Dick and Oates tallied for the Virginians, Rainsberger kicked three extra points and Bill Hyde accounted for Beall's six-pointer in the final stanza.

Beall's first scoring threat came in the first quarter when Hyde ran 57 yards to the Handley 23 before being pulled down from behind. The Mountaineers advanced to the 13 but there the Judges took over on downs.

In the second period, Handley drove to the three and with fourth down and goal to go, Jim Evans intercepted Oates pass as the half ended.

The Winchester team crashed the scoring column in the third period when Butler returned a punt 76 yards for the TD. He was accorded good blocking on his long gallop.

Early in the final period, a 51-yard pass play executed by Oates and Dick produced Handley's second score and Rainsberger's conversion gave the visitors a 14-0 edge.

A Beall fumble on its own 27 set up the third Handley score. After the Judges recovered, Oates carried three times and reached the two, then went over on the next play. Rainsberger's conversion made it 21-0.

Beall averted a shutout in the closing minutes when Hyde scored from the three to climax a long drive. Highlighting the rally was a 23-yard pass from Hyde to Zumpano, who was stopped on the 12. Hyde picked up eight yards in two plays and then scored from the four in third down. Bruce Smith's kick for the point was wide.

The loss was Beall's fourth against as many wins and one tie game. Coach Hunter Maddex's eleven registered its 7th win against two reverses. Lineups:

Tony Anthony Cops Verdict

Wins 7th Straight Over Ray At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tony Anthony, top light heavyweight contender, came from behind Friday night with machine-gun barrages to beat muscular Sonny Ray for a unanimous 10-round decision and his seventh straight victory.

The defeat in their TV fight at Madison Square Garden broke Ray's winning string at nine straight bouts and spoiled his New York debut.

Stocky, bull-shouldered Ray—weighing 172¼ pounds to New Yorker Anthony's 177½, appeared destined in the early rounds to turn in an upset with his bulldozer attack to Anthony's body. But in the second half of the bout, tall Tony came on an appeared likely to score a knockout in the eighth session.

There was some booing among the 2,500 fans after the decision, which had given Anthony a decided margin of victory.

Referee Harry Kessler favored Anthony, 6-3-1. Judges Joe Agnello and Nick Gamboli agreed, 7-3 and 5-4-1, respectively. United Press International had Anthony ahead, 6-4.

Jockeys Are Injured In Spill At Tanforan

SAN BRUNO, Calif., (UPI) — Jockeys Manuel Ycaza and Taylor Powell were rushed to the Peninsula Hospital unconscious Friday after being thrown from their mounts in a three-way spill during the first race at Tanforan.

Neither rider was seriously injured although hard-luck Ycaza suffered a fractured collarbone and concussion. Powell was released from the hospital after X-rays. Doctors said he suffered only a bruised hip.

Ycaza was returning to action following the end of a 20-day suspension which he had received last month at Belmont Park. The 21-year-old Panamanian was aboard Al's O'War, his first mount since the suspension ended.

A 54-yard pass play by Carroll Wilt and Rich Murray produced the touchdown and Joe Footen kicked the extra point in the second period to give LaSalle High School's Explorers a 7-6 decision over the favored Altoona Catholic High School Marauders in a football game staged last night at Cricket Field in Altoona, Pa., before approximately 2,000 spectators.

Altoona took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter when quarterback Miller passed 13 yards to left end Henry in the end zone but Smith's kick for the extra point was wide.

The Marauders kicked off to Jack Bahen who returned the ball to the LaSalle 46. Then Wilt hit Murray with a 30-yard pass and the latter traveled 24 yards to pay dirt. With the score knotted at 6-6, Footen split the uprights to register the point that decided the contest.

It marked the second straight game in which a conversion by Footen had brought LaSalle victory. Last Saturday his extra point boot in the final period beat Moorefield by the score of 14-13.

LaSalle advanced to Altoona's one-foot mark in the third period but was unable to score and on two other occasions the Explorers threatened after Bill Blake and Jim Delaney had recovered fumbles by the home team.

The victory was the third against six losses for Coach Norm Geatz's eleven. Altoona Catholic had a 6-2 record going into last night's contest. Lineups:

Mountaineers Need Win To Bag Title

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—If quarterback Dick Longfellow has another good day West Virginia should have little trouble beating William and Mary and post its 28th consecutive Southern Conference victory here Saturday.

But if the Spencer, W. Va. signal caller is not "on," WVU might be in trouble. The Mountaineers need a victory to clinch their fifth league title in six years.

Coach Resigns

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Johnny Cox, football coach at Huntington High school, resigned Friday.

Cox said he was leaving the position on advice of doctors and not because the Pony Express had just finished its first winless season in history.

Huntington had only a 7-7 tie with Beckley while losing nine other games.

Cox was hanged in effigy several weeks ago by Huntington High School students.

By BILL FAIR

Allegany High's Campers concluded their last battle test before their annual Thanksgiving Day battle with Fort Hill last night by completely outclassing the Moorefield Yellow Jackets, 26-8, before a small stadium crown.

The Campers combatted penalty after penalty with a solid running and passing attack, both of which were conspicuously highlighted by halfback Richard "Baldy" Powell, to ground the inferior Jackets into submission.

Allegany coupled a pair of touchdowns in the first period and another pair in the final quarter while Moorefield, defeated last week here by LaSalle, tallied in the second frame and added a safety in the final heat. Injured Bobby Gaffney, Tim Miller, Powell and Frank Cawood accounted for Alco TDs, while Denton Thorne raced for the visitor's only six-pointer. Bud Allison and Gary Hiser each booted a point after touchdown for the Campers who are now 7-2 on the season.

Gaffney Scores First

Gaffney, operating on one bad cylinder, launched scoring for Coach Ed Schwarz' wards after Powell recovered a Denton Thorne fumble at the Hardy Countians' 29-yard line. Allegany moved to the 18, from where quarterback Gary Shook, on a clever pass pattern, plopped the leather into Gaffney's arms for the touchdown against shocked Moorefield secondary men, who were nowhere around the galloping halfback. Hiser's kick was good for a quick, 7-0, score.

In the same period, after Ronnie Riggs intercepted a Jimmy Paugh aerial at Alco's 30, the Campers inaugurated a sustained drive to the Moorefield six, resulting mainly from the relentless running of Gaffney. Shook sent Miller into the thick of the line for Allegany's second score. Allison "cross-fire" kick satled wide to the left.

Thorne Recovers Fumble

Minutes after second quarter play opened, Jacket fullback Thorne scooped a Shook bobble at the Schwarzmen's 44 and hotfooted it all the way for the West Virginians lone trip into the end zone. Paugh's penalty-caused second kick for the PAT was slapped down by Mike McKenzie. The Campers, plagued by five rule infractions in the second stanza, dominated the period balance, losing the ball on downs at Moorefield's 22, three plays before intermission.

With Miller and the hard-running Cawood toting the leather, Alco brought about the only threat in the third quarter, advancing to the Jackets' 18 where Allison's fourth down field goal attempt fell short.

The Campers, however, unleashed another scoring attack with lightning-like rapidity in the closing period, the ʻrst of which culminated an 80-yard paydirt march shortly after the quarter opened. Powell, Gerald Horton and Miller did the leg work to set the stage for Shook's 29-yard touchdown pass.

The tricky signal-caller sent Powell down the middle and again distant, bewildere' Moorefield pass defenders watched "Baldy" perform his act-ending solo for the score.

Makes Spectacular Catch

Several minutes later, following a Moorefield punt, Horton heaved a fullback pass to Powell who leaped between three defenders to make a spectacular catch at the visitors' nine-yard stripe. With excellent blocking, Cawood sped around end for the score, which was followed by Allison's placement to set the score at 26-6.

The Jackets followed with a drive to Alco's 2, but the reliable Powell recovered a Thorne fumble. Penalties and unsuccessful passes ensued and on Alco's fourth second down, husky Tom Hefner tackled Shook in the end zone for a safety just ʻs the gun sounded. Lineups:

Bowl Bids Are At Stake In College Games Today

LSU, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Syracuse In Important Tests

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Does Louisiana State need incentive to defeat Mississippi State Saturday night in one of the top games on the weekend's college football schedule? Not on your life, brother. The facts speak for themselves.

By winning the Bayou Bengals can: (1) Virtually assure themselves Southeastern Conference representation in the Sugar Bowl; (2) Keep themselves undefeated with a 9-0 mark (3) Lay solid claim to retain the No. 1 ranking in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters; (4) Avenge a 14-6 loss to the Maroons last year; (5) All but lock up the SEC title. If they defeat Tulane next week the conference title job is done.

Bowl Bids At Stake

There are number of bowl bids at stake this weekend and a few conference titles to be decided as the season hits the four - fifths mark.

Iowa (No. 2) won the Big Ten title last week and the Rose Bowl trip. Now it has a grudge battle with Ohio State (No. 16) in its drive for the national championship. The Hawks haven't allowed Ohio State within their 30-yard line in the Ohioans last two visits. They also have a 17-14 defeat to avenge from last year at Ohio State.

Auburn (No. 4) meets Georgia in an SEC game. The Tigers have a slim chance for the conference crown. Auburn has a 4-0-1 SEC mark and LSU loss in its next two games would give the defending national champs the title—provided they keep winning. There is no bowl in sight for Auburn because of an NCAA violation that put them on indefinite probation.

Oklahoma Favored

Oklahoma (No. 6) entertains Missouri in a battle for the Big Eight title and the host spot in the Orange Bowl. The Sooners hurdled Colorado two weeks ago in a similar test and are favored to do the same to the Tigers in a game televised in the Big Eight region.

Down in the Southwest, ninth-ranked Texas Christian defends its share of the Southwest Conference lead against Texas. The other half, Rice (No. 17) meets conference foe Texas A&M. If both leaders win their date the following weekend should decide the champion and a Cotton Bowl slot.

Three of the top 10 play with no bowl bids in prospect. Third-ranked Army meets Villanova in its final tune-up before the No. 29 Army-Navy game. West Point superintendent Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson said no bowl for the Cadets, regardless of the season's success.

The two other clubs are in the Big Ten. Fifth-ranked Wisconsin plays Illinois in an attempt to solidify second place in the conference, while Purdue (No. 8) meets 13th-ranked Northwestern in a regionally telecast game.

Mississippi (No. 7), named as a bowl possibility for the Cotton, Orange and Gator Bowls, meets SEC foe Tennessee. The Air Force Academy (No. 10), with a possibility of playing in the Cotton or Gator bowl if it retains its undefeated, once-tied record, and gets an OK from the Air Force brass in Washington, meets Skyline Conference leader Wyoming.

Tar Heels Play Irish

North Carolina (No. 11), winner of six straight, runs into Notre Dame and its passing wizard George Izo. The Tar Heels are trying to look pretty for the Sugar, Orange, Cotton and Gator bowl selection committees, who have glanced their way recently.

Syracuse plays Colgate and the 12th rated Orangemen are in the running for the Cotton, Orange and Gator bowls. Pitt (No. 14), which found bowl-life with its 29-26 win over Notre Dame last week, meets Nebraska with the four Southern bowls looking its way.

Southern Methodist (No. 15) said to have a possibility of landing a bowl bid, plays SWC neighbor Arkansas and must win if it is to also stay in the winning for the conference title.

Rabbit, Quail Season Opens

The 12-day special deer season for bow hunters ended yesterday in Maryland and the rabbit, quail, pheasant and grouse season is scheduled to get under way today.

During the gunning season for deer, Dec. 1-6, the small game hunting season will be suspended. It will resume Monday, December 8 and continue through January 5.

Bow and arrow hunters may take deer during the gunning season next month but only males with two or more points to one antler and spike bucks with three inch antler.

Teams Share Title

The Giants, coached by Tom Emmart, and the Steelers, coached by Mike Fabbri, battled to a 13-13 tie this week at Frostburg and will share the championship in the Kids Football League for the 1958 season.

Football Schedule Dwindles To Three Games Thanksgiving

Only three more high school games rem in on the 1958 football schedule in the tri-state area and they are the traditional tilts listed for Thanksgiving Day—November 27.

In the annual Turkey Day game here Allegany plays Fort Hill. LaSalle High's Explorers windup their season with the Beall Mountaineers at Frostburg and Martinsburg plays the Handley High School Judges at Winchester.

Two titles hinge on the outcome of the game here. The Campers and Sentinels play for the city championship and Fort Hill can windup in a tie with North High of Hagerstown for the CVAL title if victorious in the holiday game.

Allegany and Fort Hill are meeting for the 23rd time on Thanksgiving Day. The Sentinels lead in the series 11 to 9 in wins with two tie games. LaSalle and Beall will be tangling for the 13th time. The Explorers lead 8 to 3 in wins. One game ended in a tie.

Mel Ott, Wife Are Injured In Two-Car Crash

Other Car Driver Instantly Killed

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (UPI)—Former major league baseball great Mel Ott and his wife were critically injured near here Friday night in a two-car collision in which the driver of the second car was killed instantly.

Ott, who played with the New York Giants for 20 years and managed them for six years, and his wife were in a station wagon. They were pulling onto Highway 90 west of here when their vehicle collided with a car driven by Leslie F. Curry Sr., 50.

Curry was pinned in his car and died instantly.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., said Ott and his wife had been taken to Hancock County Hospital for emergency treatment.

Hospital authorities listed their condition as critical.

Hancock County Hospital authorities said Ott suffered fractures of both legs, lacerations of the left elbow and forehead and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Ott sustained concussions, a fractured left forearm, lacerations of the forehead and possible internal injuries.

LeBaron Has Flu

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Little Eddie LeBaron, the Washington Redskins' passing ace, was ordered to bed Friday with a 102-degree fever.

LeBaron, apparently suffering from flu, was unable to attend the Redskins' final practice session before meeting the Cleveland Browns here Sunday.

Whether he will be able to play Sunday appeared up in the air.

Frostburg GOP Wins

The Frostburg Republican Club won two out of three games from the Woodmen of the World last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League. Bill Hyde of Frostburg and Brant of the W.O.W. led the scorers with 29 points each.

Terps Post 26-14 Win At Miami

Forbes Stands Out, 26,747 See Battle

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Forbes, 190-pound package of dynamite, led the Maryland Terrapins to a 26-14 victory over the downtrodden University of Miami Hurricanes before 26,747 football fans in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

Forbes, 5-foot-10 junior from Basking Ridge, N. J., scored three Maryland touchdowns and ripped through the Miami line for great yardage when the Terps went on the march.

With quarterback Dick Scarbath of Baltimore engineering the drives, Maryland mixed occasional passes with line smashes to outgain and out-score the homestanding Hurricanes and send the Miamians down to their sixth defeat in seven games this fall.

Bonnie Yarbrough passed 79 yards to Bob Rosbaugh for Miami's second touchdown in the final quarter to make the score 20-14 but Maryland buckled down and choked off the Hurricanes' attempts to pull it out.

Miami took an early 7-0 lead in the first quarter but Maryland controlled the ball most of the second and held a 13-7 advantage at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, Maryland tallied again, driving 77 yards in 19 plays. Three plays later Yarbrough's pass which Rosbaugh caught on the 35 brought the crowd to its feet.

Rosbaugh outran the Maryland secondary for the touchdown and Jim Stevens kicked the extra point to make it 20-14.

Maryland scored again with only 36 seconds left in the game, Bob Rusevlyan taking it over from the one.

Ryder Cup Matches Go To California

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—The Professional Golfers' Assn. has announced the 1959 Ryder Cup matches will be played in California instead of Atlantic City, N.J.

PGA President Harold Sargent said the matches, originally scheduled for the Atlantic City, N. J., County Club Oct. 31-Nov. 1 would be played instead at the new El Dorado Country Club in Palm Desert, Calif.

The exact dates for the team play between American and British professionals will be announced later.

Brooks Is Victor In Nebraska Vote

OMAHA (AP)—Democrat Ralph Brooks defeated Republican Gov. Victor E. Anderson by about 1,700 votes on the basis of all but complete unofficial tabulations of the mail vote in last week's election in Nebraska.

Associated Press unofficial tabulations Friday night, including the mail vote from 90 of 93 counties, were: Brooks 210,973, Anderson 209,214—a margin of 1,759 for the McCook schoolman.

The three missing counties expected to complete their counting Saturday. They had about 250 mail votes.

Anderson refused to concede pending the official canvass early next month.

Novelist Obtains Nevada Divorce

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Novelist John P. Marquand Friday was granted a Nevada divorce from Adelaide H. Marquand, his wife of more than 21 years.

Marquand charged mental cruelty. The court was told the couple had signed an out of court agreement settling property rights and custody of three children, Blanche, 18; Timothy, 17, and Elon, 15.

The decree was granted after a brief hearing by District Judge Richard Hana.

Plane Search In Sixth Day

LISBON (UPI)—The search for the Portuguese seaplane that vanished off Cape St. Vincent last Sunday with 36 persons on board entered its sixth day Friday, with scant hope remaining of finding survivors.

The last contact made by the plane was a message flashed one hour after takeoff from Lisbon's Carbo Ruivo airport last Sunday: "Will land in emergency". It gave its position as about 180 miles from the Portuguese coast.

Handley High School's Judges notched their seventh victory of the season when they turned back the Beall High School Mountaineers at Frostburg by the score of 21-6.

All of the scoring was packed into the second half when Butler, Dick and Oates tallied for the Virginians, Rainsberger kicked three extra points and Bill Hyde accounted for Beall's six-pointer in the final stanza.

Beall's first scoring threat came in the first quarter when Hyde ran 57 yards to the Handley 23 before being pulled down from behind. The Mountaineers advanced to the 13 but there the Judges took over on downs.

In the second period, Handley drove to the three and with fourth down and goal to go, Jim Evans intercepted Oates pass as the half ended.

The Winchester team crashed the scoring column in the third period when Butler returned a punt 76 yards for the TD. He was accorded good blocking on his long gallop.

Early in the final period, a 51-yard pass play executed by Oates and Dick produced Handley's second score and Rainsberger's conversion gave the visitors a 14-0 edge.

A Beall fumble on its own 27 set up the third Handley score. After the Judges recovered, Oates carried three times and reached the two, then went over on the next play. Rainsberger's conversion made it 21-0.

Beall averted a shutout in the closing minutes when Hyde scored from the three to climax a long drive. Highlighting the rally was a 23-yard pass from Hyde to Zumpano, who was stopped on the 12. Hyde picked up eight yards in two plays and then scored from the four in third down. Bruce Smith's kick for the point was wide.

The loss was Beall's fourth against as many wins and one tie game. Coach Hunter Maddex's eleven registered its 7th win against two reverses. Lineups:

Tony Anthony Cops Verdict

Wins 7th Straight Over Ray At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tony Anthony, top light heavyweight contender, came from behind Friday night with machine-gun barrages to beat muscular Sonny Ray for a unanimous 10-round decision and his seventh straight victory.

The defeat in their TV fight at Madison Square Garden broke Ray's winning string at nine straight bouts and spoiled his New York debut.

Stocky, bull - shouldered Ray—weighing 172¼ pounds to New Yorker Anthony's 177½, appeared destined in the early rounds to turn in an upset with his bulldozer attack to Anthony's body. But in the second half of the bout, tall Tony came on an appeared likely to score a knockout in the eighth session.

There was some booing among the 2,500 fans after the decision, which had given Anthony a decided margin of victory.

Referee Harry Kessler favored Anthony, 6-3-1. Judges Joe Agnello and Nick Gamboli agreed, 7-3 and 5-4-1, respectively. United Press International had Anthony ahead, 6-4.

Jockeys Are Injured In Spill At Tanforan

SAN BRUNO, Calif., (UPI) — Jockeys Manuel Ycaza and Taylor Powell were rushed to the Peninsula Hospital unconscious Friday after being thrown from their mounts in a three-way spill during the first race at Tanforan.

Neither rider was seriously injured although hard-luck Ycaza suffered a fractured collarbone and concussion. Powell was released from the hospital after X-rays. Doctors said he suffered only a bruised hip.

Ycaza was returning to action following the end of a 20 - day suspension which he had received last month at Belmont Park. The 21 - year - old Panamanian was aboard Al's O'War, his first mount since the suspension ended.

A 54-yard pass play by Carroll Wilt and Rich Murray produced the touchdown and Joe Footen kicked the extra point in the second period to give LaSalle High School's Explorers a 7-6 decision over the favored Altoona Catholic High School Marauders in a football game staged last night at Cricket Field in Altoona, Pa., before approximately 2,000 spectators.

Altoona took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter when quarterback Miller passed 13 yards to left end Henry in the end zone but Smith's kick for the extra point was wide.

The Marauders kicked off to Jack Bahen who returned the ball to the LaSalle 46. Then Wilt hit Murray with a 30-yard pass and the latter traveled 24 yards to pay dirt. With the score knotted at 6-6, Footen split the uprights to register the point that decided the contest.

It marked the second straight game in which a conversion by Footen had brought LaSalle victory. Last Saturday his extra point boot in the final period beat Moorefield by the score of 14-13.

LaSalle advanced to Altoona's one-foot mark in the third period but was unable to score and on two other occasions the Explorers threatened after Bill Blake and Jim Delaney had recovered fumbles by the home team.

The victory was the third against six losses for Coach Norm Geatz's eleven. Altoona Catholic had a 6-2 record going into last night's contest. Lineups:

Mountaineers Need Win To Bag Title

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—If quarterback Dick Longfellow has another good day West Virginia should have little trouble beating William and Mary and post its 28th consecutive Southern Conference victory here Saturday.

But if the Spencer, W. Va. signal caller is not "on," WVU might be in trouble. The Mountaineers need a victory to clinch their fifth league title in six years.

Coach Resigns

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Johnny Cox, football coach at Huntington High school, resigned Friday.

Cox said he was leaving the position on advice of doctors and not because the Pony Express had just finished its first winless season in history.

Huntington had only a 7-7 tie with Beckley while losing nine other games.

Cox was hanged in effigy several weeks ago by Huntington High School students.

Bears Are 3½ Point Favorites Over Baltimore Sunday

Chicago Win Will Tie NFL Western Race

Giants Will Face Steelers; Browns Battle Redskins

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Chicago Bears are 3½ point favorites to tie the Baltimore Colts for first place in the National Football League's Western Division Sunday by whipping them at Wrigley Field in one of the day's key professional games.

Coach George Halas' Bears trail the Colts by one game in the Western race. The Colts scored a 51-38 victory over the Bears at Baltimore early in the season but the Halas huskies are tougher to beat at Wrigley Field and John Unitas, Baltimore's No. 1 quarterback, is injured.

Sunday's other top games will be played at Pittsburgh and Washington. The New York Giants hottest current team, are 1½ point favorites to boost their winning streak to four games by defeating the Steelers at Pitt Stadium. The Cleveland Browns, who dropped into a first - place tie with the Giants in the Eastern race by losing their last two starts, are 5½ point choices to down the Redskins at Griffith Stadium.

Cards-Eagles Even

The Los Angeles Rams (4-3) are favored over the Packers (1-5-1) by 10 points at Green Bay, the Lions (2-4-1) are favored over the San Francisco Forty-Niners by 7½ at Detroit, while the Chicago Cardinals (2-4-1) and Philadelphia Eagles (1-5-1) are rated even for their Franklin Field clash.

Baltimore (6-1) visits the Bears (5-2) after suffering its first 1958 defeat last Sunday at New York, 24-21. Unitas missed that game because of cracked ribs suffered two weeks ago playing against the Packers. Unitas, a rugged "quick healer," practicied this week but Coach Weeb Ewbank said George Shaw probably would do all the signal - calling against the Bears.

The Giants (5-2) upset the Browns (5-2) and the Colts in their last two starts but may run into a roadblock in Pittsburgh (3-4). The Steelers ruined New York's division title hopes in 1950, 1951, 1952 and last year.

New York was a four - point choice in the early betting line this week but became only a 1½ point choice when it was learned Alex Webster, Roosevelt Brown and Jack Stroud probably won't play against the Steelers. These three stars of the offensive unit were injured in last Sunday's game with Baltimore.

Record Crowd Possible

The Giants defeated the Steelers in New York last month, 17-6, but benefited from three Pittsburgh fumbles on a rainy afternoon. The Steeler receivers also dropped nearly a dozen of Bobby Layne's passes in that game.

The Steelers, who moved from Forbes Field to Pitt Stadium this year, may draw a record home crowd Sunday if the weather is good. The team's previous high of 39,075 was set for a game with the Browns in 1954. Pitt Stadium holds 58,000.

Washington (3-4) expects a near capacity 33,000 for its game with Cleveland. The Redskins have been hampered all season by injuries and will play Sunday without defensive halfback Joe Scudero and offensive end John Carson. Tackle Jim Weatherall and guard Dick Stanfel also may be unable to play for the Redskins.

The Browns took a 30-10 whipping from the Lions last week. Mike McCormack, Cleveland right tackle who has been out with a knee injury, is ready to play again. Jim Brown, Cleveland fullback, needs 136 yards to better the NFL season rushing record of 1,146 yards set by Steve Van Buren of the Eagles in 1949.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

It'll be a red hot race for center on the 1958 all-America football team. Voters have a bigger crop than usual to scratch their noggins over with Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech, Jackie Burkett of Auburn, Max Fugler of Louisiana State and Bob Harrison of Oklahoma among the leaders. That list is alphabetical not preferential.

Bob Turley of the Yankees, recent winner of the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher of the year, got that way by being one of the most thorough students of the game including public relations. Any day he hears of a new honor or award he has won he immediately pens a "thank you" note to the parties responsible instead of waiting for an official presentation and acceptance speech. That's rare in this business.

Jack Lavelle, portly scout for the New York football Giants, calls Jack Butler of the Pittsburgh Steelers in his college days, played at St. Bonaventure . . . "He's the best I've seen in many a year," says Lavelle. "His opponents try to throw or run their plays away from his side of the field but that's sorta hard to do. He's all over the place."

Last-Minute Switch

Adrian von Borcke, German trainer of the German thoroughbred, Orsini II, was delighted when his horse drew the No. 2 post position for last Tuesday's $100,000 International at Laurel, Md. "That's goot," he said in high glee. So, on race day, Orsini immediately began to kick up at the post and promptly was moved to the outside where all he could kick was a hedge. Orsini finished fifth.

It'll be no cinch for unbeaten Rutgers to stay that way Saturday against the Quantico Marines. Rutgers ace Bill Austin is handicapped by a broken left hand and included in the Quantico lineup are several familiar names off big-time teams . . . among them: Halfback Harry Jefferson of Illinois, center Sam Valentine of Penn State, tackle Tony Anthony and guard Tony Stremic of Navy.

Ten members of Harvard's football team and an assistant coach missed the train taking the team to Princeton last Friday, catching up on a later train. And as a Boston writer insists, they all missed the boat in the ball game by blowing a two-point conversion try leaving them on the short end of 16-14.

Plea For Gymnasts

When Rice plays Texas A. and M. Saturday it'll be the first time any Rice player ever has faced a single-wing opponent in college. Alabama and Georgia Tech, which have been playing each other since 1902, are even up as they head into Saturday's game. They're 18-all with three ties, two of them scoreless.

The eighth annual National Gymnastic Clinic is coming up at Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 26-31 and sponsors are pleading for a big turnout. That's one of our weakest Olympic sports — and Russia's strongest.

If a certain airliner in service Friday carried stewardesses they caught an eyeful of muscle. The plane was scheduled to pick up Clemson's football team at Greenville, S.C., drop the lads off at Durham, N.C., for a game with Duke and pick up North Carolina's Tar Heels for a trip to Notre Dame.

Shoemaker Posts Jamaica Triple

JAMAICA, N.Y., Nov. 14 (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, the country's winningest jockey, added three more victories to his growing skein at Jamaica Race Track today, climaxing his triple triumph with a last stride triumph on Alvin Handmacher's Meticulous in the featured East Meadow Purse.

Meticulous, 3-year-old daughter of Bully Boy-Northern Deb, was clocked in the good time of 1:11 3/5 for the six furlongs.

William Ewing's Good As Gold finished second a length and a half back and a nose in front of her stablemate, Brae Burn Farm's Roman Song. Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Liberal Lady was a nose out of the money.

Solid choice with the crowd of 19,009, Meticulous returned mutuels of $4.80, $2.60 and $2.30. The Good As Gold-Roman Song entry paid $2.40, 2.50.

Previously, Shoemaker booted home Peter Fuller's Deep Study at $8.60 and Ben-Corral's Pensive Gigi at $7.50.

Ricci Tavi Takes 7th At Pimlico

Defeats Better Bee And Returns $12.60

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14 (AP) — Ricci Tavi, owned by Leigh G. Bishop, gained his second victory of the Maryland fall racing season when he drove to a length score over Better Bee in the $5,000 Shot Tower Purse today at Pimlico.

The 5-year-old son of Rico Monte and Sea Snack is a full-brother to Christiana Stable's Endine, one of the more prominent members of the filly and mare handicap division this year.

Originally owned and raced by Christiana, Ricci Tavi was sold to Bishop this past summer. The horse's victory in today's mile and a sixteenth feature was his second in the Bishop colors.

William S. Miller's Better Bee was installed 3-2 favorite in the Shot Tower Purse. But after dueling for the lead from the start, he faltered through the stretch and wound up second, a head in front of Gallic.

Aurecolt was just a nose back in fourth position.

Ricci Tavi, ridden by Chris Rogers, rewarded his backers in the crowd of 9,297 fans with a $12.60 mutuel.

Iowa Selected For Rose Bowl

CHICAGO (AP) — Conference champion Iowa's expected selection as Big Ten representative in the Rose Bowl football game next New Year's Day was announced Friday by K. L. (Tug) Wilson, conference commissioner.

Wilson said Iowa was named in a mail vote of conference schools. As in the past, the vote was not disclosed.

This will be Iowa's and Coach Forest Evashevski's second trip to the Rose Bowl. Iowa represented the Big Ten in 1957, defeating Pacific Coast Conference champion Oregon State, 35-19.

Iowa's likely opponent this New Year's Day will be California.

Romney High School's Pioneers closed out their 1958 grid season on a successful note yesterday by snapping a five gome losing streak in nosing out Berkeley Springs 7-0, at Romney.

Coach Ed Hartman's eleven pushed across its tally early in the second quarter and then fought the visitors to a standstill to cop the victory, its fourth of the season. Romney lost five, all in succession and played one tie.

The Pioneers engineered the game's only score when they drove from their own 35-yard line to the Berkeley Springs 3. Dave Cessna smacked into the line for the score and John Blue's conversion split the uprights. The goalward drive was highlighted by the running of Cessna, right halfback, and junior left halfback, Ervin McKee, both of whom played outstanding games.

Berkeley Springs, which rung down the curtain on the campaign with a 3-6 record, managed to get within Romney's 10-yard stripe only once. The Pioneer defense refused to yield and Berkeley Springs turned the ball over on downs. Lineups:

Conference Title Hinges On Outcome Of Today's Games

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The West Virginia Conference football championship will be decided Saturday although the two teams in the running have concluded their season.

Keys to the title for Glenville or Shepherd are West Virginia Tech and West Liberty. Tech winds up its season with West Virginia State at Institute and West Liberty plays Bluefield State at Wheeling.

If both Tech and West Liberty win, the title goes to Glenville. However, should Bluefield and Tech win, Shepherd takes the crown under the league's complicated rating system. Glenville ended its season two weeks ago against Fairmont and Shepherd concluded with Bridgewater, Va., last week.

Freeman Sets Record In Chuckle's League

Bill Freeman set a new high of 203-561 for three games in Chuckle's Mixed Bowling League this week as he sparked the Washers to a 2-1 victory over the Screws.

The Nails tightened their grip on first place with a three game sweep over the Nuts while the Bolts mastered the Rivets in three straight games.

Team	W	L	Pct.
Nails	15	6	.714
Screws	12	9	.571
Nuts	11	10	.524
Rivets	10	11	.524
Washers	9	12	.429
Bolts	6	15	.286

League Opens Today

The Sunday School Basketball League will open its season today with 14 games on tap, seven at the Central YMCA and a like number at Allegany High School. Games at Campobello will get under way at 11 a. m., while those at the "Y" start at 12 noon.

Christine Truman Heads Tennis List

LONDON (AP) — Christine Truman, who defeated Althea Gibson in Wightman Cup tennis matches, was named Britain's top woman player Friday by the Lawn Tennis Assn.

Michael Davies of Wales was ranked No. 1 among British men player.

Miss Truman, a London school girl of 17, upset Miss Gibson to steer Britain to its first Wightman Cup victory since 1930. She also won in her doubles match.

Beagles To Vie In Sixth Point Trial Tomorrow

The sixth and final of a series of Point Trials will be held by the Allegany Beagle Club Sunday at the Barton Dairy Farm on McMullen highway.

Gene Giasser, of Derry, will be the judge and will be assisted by members of the host organization.

Place hounds in tomorrow's trial and the five previous events will be eligible for the Winners Stake scheduled for December 7.

Fifteen inch hounds will be drawn at 8 a.m., and 13 inch hounds at noon.

Bayer Paces Havana Open

Shoots Record 64 For Total Of 139

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) —George Bayer of Bremerton, Wash., one of the longest hitters in professional golf, blasted five strokes off a day-old course record Friday with a six-under-par 30-34—64 to take a two-stroke lead at the end of the second round of the $45,000 Havana Open Golf Tournament.

Bayer, who broke the Villa Real course mark of 69 set only 24 hours earlier by Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, thus compiled a two-round total of 139.

Tied for second place at 141 were Tommy Jacobs of Montebello, Calif., who equalled the old record 69, and Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., who had a 71. In a tie for fourth place at 142 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Bill Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., were next at 144.

Some other golfers and their scores:

Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, 69-76—145.
Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., 72-73—145.
Marty Furgol, Sherman Oaks, Calif., 70-75—145.
Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., 77-72—149.
Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N. Y., 73-74—147.
Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 73-74—147.
Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., 72-75—152.

Potomac State Seeks Win To Grab Tri-State Title

Meets Baltimore Junior College In Keyser Today

Potomac State College concludes its football season today and can sew up the championship of the newly formed Tri-State Athletic Conference if victorious over Baltimore Junior College at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The opening kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

Triumphant in their last three outings, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts are hopeful of winding up the campaign with a 5-3-1 record and a 3-0 mark in the first season of competition in the junior college conference which was formed a year ago by 12 schools.

Won First Two Games

In conference games to date, Potomac State has routed Wesley Junior College at Dover, Del., 64-0 and trimmed Montgomery Junior College at Takoma Park, Md., 29-8. It is necessary to compete against a minimum of three other schools in order to become eligible for championships in the various sports.

Coach Lough saw Baltimore Junior College play Wesley and reports the Marylanders are big, fast and well coached. A majority of the players with the visiting team received their early football training at Baltimore City College, Poly, Calvert Hall, Patterson Park and Loyola. The head coach of the visiting team is Steve Hokuf.

Team Showed Hustle

Lough was pleased with the play of the Catamounts in defeating Newport News Apprentice School last Saturday and stressed that his team had more hustle than in any game this season. Defensive play was good and Jerry Kelican, of Charles Town, at quarterback, and Melvin Card, of Leonardo, N. J., at defensive halfback, were outstanding.

Probable starting lineups for today's game:

Pos.	Potomac	Baltimore
LE	Van Meter	Lang
LT	Peters	Trombetta
LG	Williams	Wisniewski
C	Magyar	Roberts
RG	Halterman	Chesser
RT	Wolf	Parker

SS. Peter And Paul Seeks Tie For Lead, To Play St. Mary's

Needing a victory to tie St. Patrick's for first place in the Catholic Youth Football League, SS. Peter and Paul hope to attain that goal when they tackle St. Mary's Gaels Sunday at 2 p.m., at Marydale.

St. Patrick's leads the race with a 3-1 record while SS. Peter and Paul is 2-1. St. Mary's occupies last place with no wins and three losses.

If SS. Peter and Paul wins tomorrow's game, a playoff of the tie for the championship likely will be staged a week later.

Coach Bob Mattingly's "Dutchmen" won the series opener from St. Mary's by the score of 42-7.

Terry McElfish has sewed up the league scoring title for the season with 49 points to his credit. The SS. Peter and Paul star has racked up seven touchdowns and seven conversions and could boost his total in the final game tomorrow. Billy Van Horn, of St. Patrick's, holds the runner-up spot with 30 points on five touchdowns and at present Toby Scaletta of St. Patrick's is third with 19 followed by Mike Miller, SS. Peter & Paul, 13, and Ed Hiett, of St. Mary's 12.

Anderson And Laver Cop Doubles Title

ADELAIDE (AP)—Rallying after dropping the first two sets, Mal Anderson and Rod Laver Friday won the South Australian Doubles Tennis Championship by defeating fellow Australians Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser 4-6, 6-8, 11-9, 9-8 and 6-3.

This caused further worry among the selectors of the Australian Davis Cup team.

The Aussies haven't been effective in tandem play all year and the Cooper - Fraser pairings here were regarded as the country's best. Cooper twice dropped his service in the last set and served eight double faults.

Bullets Make League Start

Baltimore Plays At Wilkes-Barre

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Maryland stars Bob O'Brien and John Nacincik probably will be in the starting lineup when the Baltimore Bullets make their debut in the Eastern Basketball League Saturday night.

The Bullets will open the season against the defending champions, the Wilkes-Barre Barons, in the Pennsylvania city.

Baltimore is coached by Buddy Jeannetee, a Bullet standout when the team was in the old American League and the National Basketball Assn.

Joining Nacincik and O'Brien as likely starters are Ken Murray, former NBA Bullet player; Red Morrison, obtained from the NBA Boston Celtics; and Ron Shavlik, a North Carolina State graduate.

Wilkes-Barre is led by 7-foot Bill Spivey, who did his collegiate playing at Kentucky, and Larry Hennessy, former Villanova star who led the league in scoring last year with an average of almost 33 points a game and was voted the most valuable player.

Baltimore's first home game in the Coliseum will be against the Sunbury (Pa.) Mercuries on Thanksgiving night.

Lanigan Quits Hall Of Fame Historian Job

Started Baseball Writing In 1888

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)— Ernest J. Lanigan, a founding member of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America who did his first writing on baseball in 1888, has retired as historian of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, it was announced Friday.

Lanigan, 85, was named historian emeritus of the hall upon his resignation, which became effective on Oct. 31. He will reside in Philadelphia.

Lanigan joined the staff of the Sporting News in 1888, later he served as press agent for Washington & Lee University, a music critic for New York publications, and also a farmer before becoming a baseball writer.

As a writer for the New York press he helped organize the BWA in 1909. Later he was an official of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League and then was league statistician. A leading authority on records and statistics, he joined the Hall of Fame in 1948 as historian.

Bears Are 3½ Point Favorites Over Baltimore Sunday

Chicago Win Will Tie NFL Western Race

Giants Will Face Steelers; Browns Battle Redskins

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Chicago Bears are 3½ point favorites to tie the Baltimore Colts for first place in the National Football League's Western Division Sunday by whipping them at Wrigley Field in one of the day's key professional games.

Coach George Halas' Bears trail the Colts by one game in the Western race. The Colts scored a 51-38 victory over the Bears at Baltimore early in the season but the Halas huskies are tougher to beat at Wrigley Field and John Unitas, Baltimore's No. 1 quarterback, is injured.

Sunday's other top games will be played at Pittsburgh and Washington. The New York Giants hottest current team, are 1½ point favorites to boost their winning streak to four games by defeating the Steelers at Pitt Stadium. The Cleveland Browns, who dropped into a first - place tie with the Giants in the Eastern race by losing their last two starts, are 5½ point choices to down the Redskins at Griffith Stadium.

Cards-Eagles Even

The Los Angeles Rams (4-3) are favored over the Packers (1-5-1) by 10 points at Green Bay, the Lions (2-4-1) are favored over the San Francisco Forty-Niners by 7½ at Detroit, while the Chicago Cardinals (2-4-1) and Philadelphia Eagles (1-5-1) are rated even for their Franklin Field clash.

Baltimore (6-1) visits the Bears (5-2) after suffering its first 1958 defeat last Sunday at New York, 24-21. Unitas missed that game because of cracked ribs suffered two weeks ago playing against the Packers. Unitas, a rugged "quick healer," practicied this week but Coach Weeb Ewbank said George Shaw probably would do all the signal - calling against the Bears.

The Giants (5-2) upset the Browns (5-2) and the Colts in their last two starts but may run into a roadblock in Pittsburgh (3-4). The Steelers ruined New York's division title hopes in 1950, 1951, 1952 and last year.

New York was a four - point choice in the early betting line this week but became only a 1½ point choice when it was learned Alex Webster, Roosevelt Brown and Jack Stroud probably won't play against the Steelers. These three stars of the offensive unit were injured in last Sunday's game with Baltimore.

Record Crowd Possible

The Giants defeated the Steelers in New York last month, 17-6, but benefited from three Pittsburgh fumbles on a rainy afternoon. The Steeler receivers also dropped nearly a dozen of Bobby Layne's passes in that game.

The Steelers, who moved from Forbes Field to Pitt Stadium this year, may draw a record home crowd Sunday if the weather is good. The team's previous high of 39,075 was set for a game with the Browns in 1954. Pitt Stadium holds 58,000.

Washington (3-4) expects a near capacity 33,000 for its game with Cleveland. The Redskins have been hampered all season by injuries and will play Sunday without defensive halfback Joe Scudero and offensive end John Carson. Tackle Jim Weatherall and guard Dick Stanfel also may be unable to play for the Redskins.

The Browns took a 30-10 whipping from the Lions last week. Mike McCormack, Cleveland right tackle who has been out with a knee injury, is ready to play again. Jim Brown, Cleveland fullback, needs 136 yards to better the NFL season rushing record of 1,146 yards set by Steve Van Buren of the Eagles in 1949.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

It'll be a red hot race for center on the 1958 all-America football team. Voters have a bigger crop than usual to scratch their noggins over with Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech, Jackie Burkett of Auburn, Max Fugler of Louisiana State and Bob Harrison of Oklahoma among the leaders. That list is alphabetical not preferential.

Bob Turley of the Yankees, recent winner of the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher of the year, got that way by being one of the most thorough students of the game including public relations. Any day he hears of a new honor or award he has won he immediately pens a "thank you" note to the parties responsible instead of waiting for an official presentation and acceptance speech. That's rare in this business.

Jack Lavelle, portly scout for the New York football Giants, calls Jack Butler of the Pittsburgh Steelers in his college days, played at St. Bonaventure . . . "He's the best I've seen in many a year," says Lavelle. "His opponents try to throw or run their plays away from his side of the field but that's sorta hard to do. He's all over the place."

Last-Minute Switch

Adrian von Borcke, German trainer of the German thoroughbred, Orsini II, was delighted when his horse drew the No. 2 post position for last Tuesday's $100,000 International at Laurel, Md. "That's goot," he said in high glee. So, on race day, Orsini immediately began to kick up at the post and promptly was moved to the outside where all he could kick was a hedge. Orsini finished fifth.

It'll be no cinch for unbeaten Rutgers to stay that way Saturday against the Quantico Marines. Rutgers ace Bill Austin is handicapped by a broken left hand and included in the Quantico lineup are several familiar names off big-time teams . . . among them: Halfback Harry Jefferson of Illinois, center Sam Valentine of Penn State, tackle Tony Anthony and guard Tony Stremic of Navy.

Ten members of Harvard's football team and an assistant coach missed the train taking the team to Princeton last Friday, catching up on a later train. And as a Boston writer insists, they all missed the boat in the ball game by blowing a two-point conversion try leaving them on the short end of 16-14.

Plea For Gymnasts

When Rice plays Texas A. and M. Saturday it'll be the first time any Rice player ever has faced a single-wing opponent in college. Alabama and Georgia Tech, which have been playing each other since 1902, are even up as they head into Saturday's game. They're 18-all with three ties, two of them scoreless.

The eighth annual National Gymnastic Clinic is coming up at Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 26-31 and sponsors are pleading for a big turnout. That's one of our weakest Olympic sports — and Russia's strongest.

If a certain airliner in service Friday carried stewardesses they caught an eyeful of muscle. The plane was scheduled to pick up Clemson's football team at Greenville, S.C., drop the lads off at Durham, N.C., for a game with Duke and pick up North Carolina's Tar Heels for a trip to Notre Dame.

Shoemaker Posts Jamaica Triple

JAMAICA, N.Y., Nov. 14 (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, the country's winningest jockey, added three more victories to his growing skein at Jamaica Race Track today, climaxing his triple triumph with a last stride triumph on Alvin Handmacher's Meticulous in the featured East Meadow Purse.

Meticulous, 3-year-old daughter of Bully Boy-Northern Deb, was clocked in the good time of 1:11 3/5 for the six furlongs.

William Ewing's Good As Gold finished second a length and a half back and a nose in front of her stablemate, Brae Burn Farm's Roman Song. Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Liberal Lady was a nose out of the money.

Solid choice with the crowd of 19,009, Meticulous returned mutuels of $4.80, $2.60 and $2.30. The Good As Gold-Roman Song entry paid $2.40, 2.50.

Previously, Shoemaker booted home Peter Fuller's Deep Study at $8.60 and Ben-Corral's Pensive Gigi at $7.50.

Ricci Tavi Takes 7th At Pimlico

Defeats Better Bee And Returns $12.60

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14 (AP) — Ricci Tavi, owned by Leigh G. Bishop, gained his second victory of the Maryland fall racing season when he drove to a length score over Better Bee in the $5,000 Shot Tower Purse today at Pimlico.

The 5-year-old son of Rico Monte and Sea Snack is a full-brother to Christiana Stable's Endine, one of the more prominent members of the filly and mare handicap division this year.

Originally owned and raced by Christiana, Ricci Tavi was sold to Bishop this past summer. The horse's victory in today's mile and a sixteenth feature was his second in the Bishop colors.

William S. Miller's Better Bee was installed 3-2 favorite in the Shot Tower Purse. But after dueling for the lead from the start, he faltered through the stretch and wound up second, a head in front of Gallic.

Aurecolt was just a nose back in fourth position.

Ricci Tavi, ridden by Chris Rogers, rewarded his backers in the crowd of 9,297 fans with a $12.60 mutuel.

Iowa Selected For Rose Bowl

CHICAGO (AP) — Conference champion Iowa's expected selection as Big Ten representative in the Rose Bowl football game next New Year's Day was announced Friday by K. L. (Tug) Wilson, conference commissioner.

Wilson said Iowa was named in a mail vote of conference schools. As in the past, the vote was not disclosed.

This will be Iowa's and Coach Forest Evashevski's second trip to the Rose Bowl. Iowa represented the Big Ten in 1957, defeating Pacific Coast Conference champion Oregon State, 35-19.

Iowa's likely opponent this New Year's Day will be California.

Romney High School's Pioneers closed out their 1958 grid season on a successful note yesterday by snapping a five game losing streak in nosing out Berkeley Springs 7-0, at Romney.

Coach Ed Hartman's eleven pushed across its tally early in the second quarter and then fought the visitors to a standstill to cop the victory, its fourth of the season. Romney lost five, all in succession and played one tie.

The Pioneers engineered the game's only score when they drove from their own 35-yard line to the Berkeley Springs 3. Dave Cessna smacked into the line for the score and John Blue's conversion split the uprights. The goalward drive was highlighted by the running of Cessna, right halfback, and junior left halfback, Ervin McKee, both of whom played outstanding games.

Berkeley Springs, which rung down the curtain on the campaign with a 3-6 record, managed to get within Romney's 10-yard stripe only once. The Pioneer defense refused to yield and Berkeley Springs turned the ball over on downs. Lineups:

Conference Title Hinges On Outcome Of Today's Games

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Conference football championship will be decided Saturday although the two teams in the running have concluded their season.

Keys to the title for Glenville or Shepherd are West Virginia Tech and West Liberty. Tech winds up its season with West Virginia State at Institute and West Liberty plays Bluefield State at Wheeling.

If both Tech and West Liberty win, the title goes to Glenville. However, should Bluefield and Tech win, Shepherd takes the crown under the league's complicated rating system. Glenville ended its season two weeks ago against Fairmont and Shepherd concluded with Bridgewater, Va., last week.

Freeman Sets Record In Chuckle's League

Bill Freeman set a new high of 203-561 for three games in Chuckle's Mixed Bowling League this week as he sparked the Washers to a 2-1 victory over the Screws.

The Nails tightened their grip on first place with a three game sweep over the Nuts while the Bolts mastered the Rivets in three straight games.

Individual leaders were: Nails—Bill Chapman 203-484 and Charles Laughlin 176-509. Nuts—Kenny Logsdon 173-486. Screws — Bill Smith 172-420 and William Smith 166-444. Washers — Bill Freeman 203-561. Rivets — Fran Schiller 143-414. Bolts — Herb Staups 163-480. Standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Nails	15	6	.714
Screws	12	9	.571
Nuts	11	10	.524
Rivets	10	11	.524
Washers	9	12	.429
Bolts	6	15	.286

League Opens Today

The Sunday School Basketball League will open its season today with 14 games on tap, seven at the Central YMCA and a like number at Allegany High School. Games at Campobello will get under way at 11 a. m., while those at the "Y" start at 12 noon.

Christine Truman Heads Tennis List

LONDON (AP) — Christine Truman, who defeated Althea Gibson in Wightman Cup tennis matches, was named Britain's top woman player Friday by the Lawn Tennis Assn.

Michael Davies of Wales was ranked No. 1 among British men player.

Miss Truman, a London school girl of 17, upset Miss Gibson to steer Britain to its first Wightman Cup victory since 1930. She also won in her doubles match.

Beagles To Vie In Sixth Point Trial Tomorrow

The sixth and final of a series of Point Trials will be held by the Allegany Beagle Club Sunday at the Barton Dairy Farm on McMullen highway.

Gene Glasser, of Derry, will be the judge and will be assisted by members of the host organization.

Place hounds in tomorrow's trial and the five previous events will be eligible for the Winners Stake scheduled for December 7.

Fifteen inch hounds will be drawn at 8 a.m., and 13 inch hounds at noon.

Bayer Paces Havana Open

Shoots Record 64 For Total Of 139

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) —George Bayer of Bremerton, Wash., one of the longest hitters in professional golf, blasted five strokes off a day-old course record Friday with a six-under-par 30-34—64 to take a two-stroke lead at the end of the second round of the $45,000 Havana Open Golf Tournament.

Bayer, who broke the Villa Real course mark of 69 set only 24 hours earlier by Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, thus compiled a two-round total of 139.

Tied for second place at 141 were Tommy Jacobs of Montebello, Calif., who equalled the old record 69, and Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., who had a 71. In a tie for fourth place at 142 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Bill Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., were next at 144.

Some other golfers and their scores:

Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, 69-76—145.
Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., 72-73—145.
Marty Furgol, Sherman Oaks, Calif., 70-75—145.
Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., 77-72—149.
Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N. Y., 73-74—147.
Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 73-74—147.
Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., 72-75—152.

Potomac State Seeks Win To Grab Tri-State Title

Meets Baltimore Junior College In Keyser Today

Potomac State College concludes its football season today and can sew up the championship of the newly formed Tri-State Athletic Conference if victorious over Baltimore Junior College at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The opening kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

Triumphant in their last three outings, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts are hopeful of winding up the campaign with a 5-3-1 record and a 3-0 mark in the first season of competition in the junior college conference which was formed a year ago by 12 schools.

Won First Two Games

In conference games to date, Potomac State has routed Wesley Junior College at Dover, Del., 64-0 and trimmed Montgomery Junior College at Takoma Park, Md., 29-8. It is necessary to compete against a minimum of three other schools in order to become eligible for championships in the various sports.

Coach Lough saw Baltimore Junior College play Wesley and reports the Marylanders are big, fast and well coached. A majority of the players with the visiting team received their early football training at Baltimore City College, Poly, Calvert Hall, Patterson Park and Loyola. The head coach of the visiting team is Steve Hokuf.

Team Showed Hustle

Lough was pleased with the play of the Catamounts in defeating Newport News Apprentice School last Saturday and stressed that his team had more hustle than in any game this season. Defensive play was good and Jerry Kelican, of Charles Town, at quarterback, and Melvin Card, of Leonardo, N. J., at defensive halfback, were outstanding.

Probable starting lineups for today's game:

Pos.	Potomac	Baltimore
LE	Van Meter	Lang
LT	Peters	Trombetta
LG	Williams	Wisniewski
C	Magyar	Roberts
RG	Halterman	Chesser
RT	Wolf	Parker

SS. Peter And Paul Seeks Tie For Lead, To Play St. Mary's

Needing a victory to tie St. Patrick's for first place in the Catholic Youth Football League, SS. Peter and Paul hope to attain that goal when they tackle St. Mary's Gaels Sunday at 2 p.m., at Marydale.

St. Patrick's leads the race with a 3-1 record while SS. Peter and Paul is 2-1. St. Mary's occupies last place with no wins and three losses.

If SS. Peter and Paul wins tomorrow's game, a playoff of the tie for the championship likely will be staged a week later.

Coach Bob Mattingly's "Dutchmen" won the series opener from St. Mary's by the score of 42-7.

Terry McElfish has sewed up the league scoring title for the season with 49 points to his credit. The SS. Peter and Paul star has racked up seven touchdowns and seven conversions and could boost his total in the final game tomorrow. Billy Van Horn, of St. Patrick's, holds the runner-up spot with 30 points on five touchdowns and at present Toby Scaletta of St. Patrick's is third with 19 followed by Mike Miller, SS. Peter & Paul, 13, and Ed Hiett, of St. Mary's 12.

Anderson And Laver Cop Doubles Title

ADELAIDE (AP)—Rallying after dropping the first two sets, Mal Anderson and Rod Laver Friday won the South Australian Doubles Tennis Championship by defeating fellow Australians Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser 4-6, 6-8, 11-9, 9-8 and 6-3.

This caused further worry among the selectors of the Australian Davis Cup team.

The Aussies haven't been effective in tandem play all year and the Cooper - Fraser pairings here were regarded as the country's best. Cooper twice dropped his service in the last set and served eight double faults.

Bullets Make League Start

Baltimore Plays At Wilkes-Barre

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Maryland stars Bob O'Brien and John Nacincik probably will be in the starting lineup when the Baltimore Bullets make their debut in the Eastern Basketball League Saturday night.

The Bullets will open the season against the defending champions, the Wilkes-Barre Barons, in the Pennsylvania city.

Baltimore is coached by Buddy Jeannetee, a Bullet standout when the team was in the old American League and the National Basketball Assn.

Joining Nacincik and O'Brien as likely starters are Ken Murray, former NBA Bullet player; Red Morrison, obtained from the NBA Boston Celtics; and Ron Shavlik, a North Carolina State graduate.

Wilkes-Barre is led by 7-foot Bill Spivey, who did his collegiate playing at Kentucky, and Larry Hennessy, former Villanova star who led the league in scoring last year with an average of almost 33 points a game and was voted the most valuable player.

Baltimore's first home game in the Coliseum will be against the Sunbury (Pa.) Mercuries on Thanksgiving night.

Lanigan Quits Hall Of Fame Historian Job

Started Baseball Writing In 1888

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—Ernest J. Lanigan, a founding member of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America who did his first writing on baseball in 1888, has retired as historian of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, it was announced Friday.

Lanigan, 85, was named historian emeritus of the hall upon his resignation, which became effective on Oct. 31. He will reside in Philadelphia.

Lanigan joined the staff of the Sporting News in 1888, later he served as press agent for Washington & Lee University, a music critic for New York publications, and also a farmer before becoming a baseball writer.

As a writer for the New York press he helped organize the BWA in 1909. Later he was an official of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League and then was league statistician. A leading authority on records and statistics, he joined the Hall of Fame in 1948 as historian.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Sen. John Kennedy, of Boston, arrived in Los Angeles Friday to be godfather at the baptism of the Peter Lawford baby. She will be named Victoria "Francis." The Victoria was chosen because Miss Lawford was born on the godfather's victorious election day and the "Francis" is for Francis Albert Sinatra, Peter's best friend. The senator is Mrs. Lawford's brother.

After the baptism the Lawfords, with their baby and two other children, fly east with the senator to spend Thanksgiving with the Joseph Kennedy family and to give grandma and grandpa a chance to see the baby.

The christening will be held at St. Monica's Catholic Church at Santa Monica and will be attended by close friends of the Lawfords.

The private wow on the MGM lot is Carmen Phillips. She's the girl who got sick while appearing with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin in "Some Came Running" and, although a newcomer, Director Vincente Minnelli held up the picture waiting for her to recover.

Now, Carmen has been given the important part of Shirley MacLaine's girl friend in "Ask Any Girl," Joe Pasternak's new comedy starring Shirley and David Wayne. The picture starts in December.

Raymond Burr, who works 20 hours a day, five days a week being TV's Perry Mason, has found time to look out for his movie future. He has purchased for his own company a novel called "How Daddy Became a Beachcomber."

This is based on the true story by Marion Hadley about her father, Eli, who right now runs the island trading store at Disneyland. Papa Hadley, back in his native Oklahoma, was fed up with conventional living and yearned to be a beachcomber. But since he didn't have the price of a ticket to a far-off beach, he could only get his family as far as Malibu, so he became a beachcomber there and made a career of it.

There are so many laughs in "The Perfect Furlough" and Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh are so good in their comedy roles in the U-I picture that everyone was in a happy, gay mood for the party the Curtises hosted later at La Rue. Before we talk about the party, a word of praise for Director Blake Edwards for his expert handling of the farce.

Not only did Janet have her bag packed in case she had to make a hurried trip to the hospital, but Dr. Leon Krohn (her doctor) was her guest. All of Janet's and Tony's pals turned out, the Gregory Pecks, Kirk Douglases, Esther Williams and Jeff Chandler, Barbara Rush, Doris Day and Marty Meclher, the Charles Vidors, George Sidneys, Joan Cohn and HarrygKarl, Anne Jeffreys (Bob Sterling is in New York), the Bob Wagners, Jack Lemmon and Felicia Farr, Joan Collins (with Joey Forman), and Sammy Davis Jr.

Years ago Jack Warner held out a helping hand to Jack Santoro, who was stricken with a lung disorder, and arranged for him to live in Palm Springs. Santoro has never forgotten Jack's kindness to him. So when he planned to go away for a rest after the death of his wife, he applied for permission from Warner Bros., for a leave of absence.

Taking all of his savings, Santoro traveled to the hospital in Cannes to see how his boss was getting along. "I was so happily surprised," said Santoro. "Mr. Warner was looking great. I saw him later at tneir villa, and Mrs. Warner was kind enough to say I had cheered Jack up. He'll be home soon, and he getting better every day."

That's good news for all of us.

Along with her first album "Young Romances," Molly Bee sends a bright little note about her plans: "I'm so excited—Bob Hope just called and he wants me to join him along with Frank Sinatra, George Raft, Hugh O'Brian, Gary Crosby and Erin O'Brien for the Spring Hill Catholic College benefit on Saturday Nov. 15 in Mobile, Ala. All of us will do a P.A., in Tampa, Fla., the night before.

"I'll return for Tennessee Ernie Ford's show on Nov. 27 and be with Bob Hope again on his big show introducing the new Explorer Scouts. After all this activity—nothing but Christmas shopping on my schedule."

Gets Building Permit

James W. Swick of 724 Maryland Avenue, has obtained a permit from the building engineer to construct a frame dwelling in Johnson and Dall Addition. The one-story structure is estimated to cost $2,500.

Secrets Of Charm

Spine On A Line

Your back muscles work 16 hours a day.

Unless you relax on a good mattress, sleeping can actually make them more tired. One way you can tell — besides your irritability and looks reflected in the mirror — is if your shoulders and neck feel stiff. If they do, you're certainly not resting well.

Don't think of sleep as a negative function. It does positive good for you. And sleep is like any other beauty rite . . . it needs the proper equipment. For example, have you paid much attention to your mattress? Do you know that to give you the utmost in sleeping comfort, your mattress should be at least 39 inches wide?

We know it may be impossible for you to get another mattress now, but if you know certain points you'll select the proper one the next time you do. A mattress should be on the firm side, although with a certain amount of give. Try it for comfort when you buy, and get the best one you can — in the long run it's less expensive.

Your pillow should be just high enough to keep your head in direct line with your spine while you sleep on your side. Overly high pillows are bad for posture and can prevent proper breathing. In fact, such pillows sometimes push your head forward so much that they cramp the entire chest.

Commercial Haulers Get Site For Garbage Dump

George and Paul Boch, who operate a garbage hauling business in the LaVale area, notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners they and several other haulers have obtained a site for a garbage dump.

The dump is located on a tract just beyond the city's dumping grounds on Oldtown Road and will be made available to all residents outside the city limits, according to George Boch, who added any community or individual interested in using the facility should contact either of the Bochs to make arrangements.

The move comes on the eve of the effective date of the City of Cumberland's new garbage dumping ordinance which requires commercial haulers serving non-resident customers to pay a fee of $10 for each customer annually in order to use the city dump area.

Commercial haulers for non-residents have protested the fee to be charged as unfair.

J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, told the county board yesterday that the dump site meets with the various regulations of the state. The commissioners adopted a resolution whereby the state regulations for garbage dumping areas will be followed.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said the regulations prohibit a garbage dump being located within 500 feet of a residence unless there was a natural obstruction between the site and a roadway. The dump also could not be located where it would be offensive to residents in the area.

Under the new city regulations which go into effect today, 18 commercial haulers who have customers within the city limits had obtained permits yesterday afternoon. These haulers are required to pay only $1 annually regardless of the number of residents served.

Significantly, there had been no applications for a permit from commercial haulers for non-residents. In addition to paying the fee for each customer, the hauler was also to have submitted a notarized list of names and addresses of his customers.

As permits are issued, each hauler is issued a key to allow him access to the dump, the Street Department office said.

Meanwhile, Commissioner John J. Long said that the dump operator had been instructed in enforcing the new regulations by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Street Superintendent Andrew H. Heller.

It was emphasized that local residents who use the dump intermittently are not required to obtain a permit and can gain access by identifying themselves to the dump custodian.

In passing ordinances placing the new rules in effect, the city had pointed out approximately 2,500 non-residents had used dump facilities without charge. Using that figure as a basis, the $10 per customer charge could have meant $25,000 a year.

The city also pointed out that the present dump area is almost filled and in the foreseeable future it will be necessary to acquire another area or purchase an incinerator. This cost could be in excess of $100,000, it was explained.

Effective today, the dump will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays. The dump will be closed Sundays and may be closed at any time upon order of the commissioner of streets and public property.

The city has also authorized Feldstein Iron and Metal Works to have exclusive salvage rights at the dump. The Feldstein firm had bid $205 a month for the privilege.

Although only one fourth of the United States population lives in the northeastern states, they receive nearly one-half of all the lamb and mutton that is used in the nation.

Edward MacWilliams of Virginia Beach, Va., introduced the quiz-type program on radio.

Four Sentenced For Loitering

Three local youths and an Oldtown youth, found guilty of loitering charges, yesterday morning were fined $100 by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick during hearings held in Police Court.

They were sentenced to 60 days in the Allegany County jail in default of fines.

Arrested last night by Detective Kenneth Morrissey were James Matthews, 22, of 140 North Centre Street; Thomas E. (Tex) Edmondson, 20, of Oldtown Road; James Dahl, 25, of 312 Jefferson Street, and Charles Jenkins, 19, of 45 Greene Street.

A 16-year-old brother of one of the four arrested was also picked up by Detective Morrissey. He was lodged in the detention quarters of the Allegany County Infirmary from where he was to be released into the custody of his parents yesterday. The boy will be given a hearing next week in Juvenile Court, where attaches report he is on probation.

Morrissey informed the magistrate that police had received numerous complaints concerning the youths loitering in the 100-block of North Centre Street. Efforts had been made to break up each instance and each individual had been warned to refrain from the practice, the detective said.

San Francisco's "white Christmas" in 1948 was the first in the history of the weather bureau.

Kelly Named Democratic Registrar

John R. Kelly, 727 Maryland Avenue, has been appointed Democratic registrar of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors effective next Monday.

Kelly replaces C. William McDermott, who resigned some weeks ago. Notice of the appointment was received today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in letters from Matthew J. Mullaney, Democratic member of the Election Board, and Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the County Democratic Committee.

It was pointed out that Kelly for the past eight years has been at various times substitute Democratic registrar or custodian of the voting machines.

The county commissioners said they had no objections to the appointment but requested Gorman E. Getty, their attorney, to check the law pertaining to appointments to determine if the procedure was being followed. Getty checked the legislation and determined the form of the appointment had been followed.

The commissioners also received a letter of resignation from Palmer Howsare, who had been constable for the Flintstone district. Howsare said he had to resign as he has moved to Bedford County, Pa.

No action was taken on naming a successor to Howsare.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Sen. John Kennedy, of Boston, arrived in Los Angeles Friday to be godfather at the baptism of the Peter Lawford baby. She will be named Victoria "Francis." The Victoria was chosen because Miss Lawford was born on the godfather's victorious election day and the "Francis" is for Francis Albert Sinatra, Peter's best friend. The senator is Mrs. Lawford's brother.

After the baptism the Lawfords, with their baby and two other children, fly east with the senator to spend Thanksgiving with the Joseph Kennedy family and to give grandma and grandpa a chance to see the baby.

The christening will be held at St. Monica's Catholic Church at Santa Monica and will be attended by close friends of the Lawfords.

The private wow on the MGM lot is Carmen Phillips. She's the girl who got sick while appearing with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin in "Some Came Running" and, although a newcomer, Director Vincente Minnelli held up the picture waiting for her to recover.

Now, Carmen has been given the important part of Shirley MacLaine's girl friend in "Ask Any Girl," Joe Pasternak's new comedy starring Shirley and David Wayne. The picture starts in December.

Raymond Burr, who works 20 hours a day, five days a week being TV's Perry Mason, has found time to look out for his movie future. He has purchased for his own company a novel called "How Daddy Became a Beachcomber."

This is based on the true story by Marion Hadley about her father, Eli, who right now runs the island trading store at Disneyland. Papa Hadley, back in his native Oklahoma, was fed up with conventional living and yearned to be a beachcomber. But since he didn't have the price of a ticket to a far-off beach, he could only get his family as far as Malibu, so he became a beachcomber there and made a career of it.

There are so many laughs in "The Perfect Furlough" and Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh are so good in their comedy roles in the U-I picture that everyone was in a happy, gay mood for the party the Curtises hosted later at La Rue. Before we talk about the party, a word of praise for Director Blake Edwards for his expert handling of the farce.

Not only did Janet have her bag packed in case she had to make a hurried trip to the hospital, but Dr. Leon Krohn (her doctor) was her guest. All of Janet's and Tony's pals turned out, the Gregory Pecks, Kirk Douglases, Esther Williams and Jeff Chandler, Barbara Rush, Doris Day and Marty Meclher, the Charles Vidors, George Sidneys, Joan Cohn and HarrygKarl, Anne Jeffreys (Bob Sterling is in New York), the Bob Wagners, Jack Lemmon and Felicia Farr, Joan Collins (with Joey Forman), and Sammy Davis Jr.

Years ago Jack Warner held out a helping hand to Jack Santoro, who was stricken with a lung disorder, and arranged for him to live in Palm Springs. Santoro has never forgotten Jack's kindness to him. So when he planned to go away for a rest after the death of his wife, he applied for permission from Warner Bros., for a leave of absence.

Taking all of his savings, Santoro traveled to the hospital in Cannes to see how his boss was getting along. "I was so happily surprised," said Santoro. "Mr. Warner was looking great. I saw him later at tneir villa, and Mrs. Warner was kind enough to say I had cheered Jack up. He'll be home soon, and he getting better every day."

That's good news for all of us.

Along with her first album "Young Romances," Molly Bee sends a bright little note about her plans: "I'm so excited—Bob Hope just called and he wants me to join him along with Frank Sinatra, George Raft, Hugh O'Brian, Gary Crosby and Erin O'Brien for the Spring Hill Catholic College benefit on Saturday Nov. 15 in Mobile, Ala. All of us will do a P.A., in Tampa, Fla., the night before.

"I'll return for Tennessee Ernie Ford's show on Nov. 27 and be with Bob Hope again on his big show introducing the new Explorer Scouts. After all this activity—nothing but Christmas shopping on my schedule."

Gets Building Permit

James W. Swick of 724 Maryland Avenue, has obtained a permit from the building engineer to construct a frame dwelling in Johnson and Dall Addition. The one-story structure is estimated to cost $2,500.

Commercial Haulers Get Site For Garbage Dump

George and Paul Boch, who operate a garbage hauling business in the LaVale area, notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners they and several other haulers have obtained a site for a garbage dump.

The dump is located on a tract just beyond the city's dumping grounds on Oldtown Road and will be made available to all residents outside the city limits, according to George Boch, who added any community or individual interested in using the facility should contact either of the Bochs to make arrangements.

The move comes on the eve of the effective date of the City of Cumberland's new garbage dumping ordinance which requires commercial haulers serving non-resident customers to pay a fee of $10 for each customer annually in order to use the city dump area.

Commercial haulers for non-residents have protested the fee to be charged as unfair.

J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, told the county board yesterday that the dump site meets with the various regulations of the state. The commissioners adopted a resolution whereby the state regulations for garbage dumping areas will be followed.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said the regulations prohibit a garbage dump being located within 500 feet of a residence unless there was a natural obstruction between the site and a roadway. The dump also could not be located where it would be offensive to residents in the area.

Under the new city regulations which go into effect today, 18 commercial haulers who have customers within the city limits had obtained permits yesterday afternoon. These haulers are required to pay only $1 annually regardless of the number of residents served.

Significantly, there had been no applications for a permit from commercial haulers for non-residents. In addition to paying the fee for each customer, the hauler was also to have submitted a notarized list of names and addresses of his customers.

As permits are issued, each hauler is issued a key to allow him access to the dump, the Street Department office said.

Meanwhile, Commissioner John J. Long said that the dump operator had been instructed in enforcing the new regulations by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Street Superintendent Andrew H. Heller.

It was emphasized that local residents who use the dump intermittently are not required to obtain a permit and can gain access by identifying themselves to the dump custodian.

In passing ordinances placing the new rules in effect, the city had pointed out approximately 2,500 non-residents had used dump facilities without charge. Using that figure as a basis, the $10 per customer charge could have meant $25,000 a year.

The city also pointed out that the present dump area is almost filled and in the foreseeable future it will be necessary to acquire another area or purchase an incinerator. This cost could be in excess of $100,000, it was explained.

Effective today, the dump will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays. The dump will be closed Sundays and may be closed at any time upon order of the commissioner of streets and public property.

The city has also authorized Feldstein Iron and Metal Works to have exclusive salvage rights at the dump. The Feldstein firm had bid $205 a month for the privilege.

Although only one fourth of the United States population lives in the northeastern states, they receive nearly one-half of all the lamb and mutton that is used in the nation.

Four Sentenced For Loitering

Three local youths and an Oldtown youth, found guilty of loitering charges, yesterday morning were fined $100 by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick during hearings held in Police Court.

They were sentenced to 60 days in the Allegany County jail in default of fines.

Arrested last night by Detective Kenneth Morrissey were James Matthews, 22, of 140 North Centre Street; Thomas E. (Tex) Edmondson, 20, of Oldtown Road; James Dahl, 25, of 312 Jefferson Street, and Charles Jenkins, 19, of 45 Greene Street.

A 16-year-old brother of one of the four arrested was also picked up by Detective Morrissey. He was lodged in the detention quarters of the Allegany County Infirmary from where he was to be released into the custody of his parents yesterday. The boy will be given a hearing next week in Juvenile Court, where attaches report he is on probation.

Morrissey informed the magistrate that police had received numerous complaints concerning the youths loitering in the 100-block of North Centre Street. Efforts had been made to break up each instance and each individual had been warned to refrain from the practice, the detective said.

San Francisco's "white Christmas" in 1948 was the first in the history of the weather bureau.

Kelly Named Democratic Registrar

John R. Kelly, 727 Maryland Avenue, has been appointed Democratic registrar of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors effective next Monday.

Kelly replaces C. William McDermott, who resigned some weeks ago. Notice of the appointment was received today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in letters from Matthew J. Mullaney, Democratic member of the Election Board, and Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the County Democratic Committee.

It was pointed out that Kelly for the past eight years has been at various times substitute Democratic registrar or custodian of the voting machines.

The county commissioners said they had no objections to the appointment but requested Gorman E. Getty, their attorney, to check the law pertaining to appointments to determine if the procedure was being followed. Getty checked the legislation and determined the form of the appointment had been followed.

The commissioners also received a letter of resignation from Palmer Howsare, who had been constable for the Flintstone district. Howsare said he had to resign as he has moved to Bedford County, Pa.

No action was taken on naming a successor to Howsare.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Darlene Radcliff. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

TRUSTEES SALE

OF TWO VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTIES LOCATED ON POLK STREET, IN CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

Under a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, passed in No. 25393 Equity, in which Howard Leasure is complainant and Hattie R. Johnson and others are defendants, the undersigned as Trustees will offer at public sale in front of the Court House in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, on Saturday, December 6, 1958, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. EST, the following described real estate:

FIRST PARCEL:

ALL that lot or parcel of ground situate on the West side of Polk Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the West side of Polk Street at the beginning of the deed from George Blocher et al to Daniel Huebner dated November 27, 1863, and recorded in Liber No. 21, folio 474, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and running thence with said first line, North 66 degrees West 75 feet to the beginning point of the deed from Mary Shaw to Alverna Robinette dated April 8, 1913, and recorded in Liber No. 112, folio 194, of said Land Records; then running with the fourth line of said Robinette deed, reversed, and parallel with Polk Street, North 24 degrees East 30 feet to an alley now known as Shaw Street, then with said Shaw Street, South 66 degrees East 75 feet to the West side of Polk Street; then with the West side of Polk Street, South 24 degrees West 30 feet to the place of beginning.

SAID PROPERTY IS IMPROVED BY A LARGE TWO-STORY FRAME AND BRICK DWELLING KNOWN AS NO. 146 POLK STREET, WHICH IS HEATED BY STOVES AND CONTAINS APPROXIMATELY EIGHT ROOMS AND TWO BATHS AND IS EQUIPPED WITH GAS, ELECTRIC AND WATER.

SECOND PARCEL:

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of ground lying and being on the easterly side of Polk Street known and designated as part of Lots Nos. 7 and 8 in Blocher's Addition to the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, which said parcel is more particularly described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING for the same on the easterly side of Polk Street at the end of the third line of the parcel of ground conveyed by Susman Rosenbaum et ux to Conrad Frey dated March 28, 1907, which is recorded in Liber 100, folio 574, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and running then with said street North 22 degrees East 19 feet, more or less, to a line running through the center wall of the double house standing on the original whole Conrad Frey parcel, then with said line running through the center partition wall of said double house known as Nos. 131 and 133 Polk Street, the approximate course and distance of South 68 degrees East 60 feet to a point on the third line of the parcel of ground conveyed by Conrad Frey et ux to Frederick W. Fochtman dated March 25, 1908, which is recorded in Liber 102, folio 514, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, then with the balance of said third line South 22 degrees West 19 feet, more or less, to a point on the fourth line of said Rosenbaum deed, it also being the dividing line between the parcel herein conveyed and the Methodist Episcopal lot adjoining, and then with part of said fourth line reversed North 68 degrees West 60 feet to the place of beginning.

SAID PROPERTY IS IMPROVED BY A TWO-STORY BRICK DWELLING CONTAINING SIX ROOMS AND BATH, IS EQUIPPED WITH GAS, WATER AND ELECTRICITY AND IS HEATED BY A COAL FIRED STEAM FURNACE.

TERMS OF SALE: One-fourth cash on date of sale, balance upon final ratification of sale. All taxes, water rents and rentals shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. Property can be inspected by making an appointment with Mr. Carscaden of Mr. Getty, telephone PArkview 2-0123.

Animal Society Protests Sale Of Easter Pets

A protest over the sale of chicks, rabbits and ducks during Easter season was registered yesterday by the Allegany County Animal Welfare Society with the county commissioners.

In a letter from the society it was stated the organization has been concerned for a number of years with the annual sale of these small animals and the careless manner in which they are kept in store windows, often they claim, without proper food or water.

The letter, signed by Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, president of the organization, said the animals are also often overcrowded in store windows and children who eventually get them as presents are sometime carteless in handling them so that they endure suffering and then die.

It was stated the City of Cumberland will also be asked to do something about the sale of the young animals. The commissioners took no immediate action and will study the situation to determine what can be done.

Gift Sent To Mission

The Women's Missionary Society of Calvary Methodist Church voted to send a cash gift to Rev. and Mrs. Cramner Kenrick in Haiti for Christmas, at the meeting Thursday in the parsonage, Cresaptown. Mrs. Ethel Wenrick presided, and plans were discussed for distributing clothing to needy families. It was announced four throw rugs have been given for use in the new sanctuary and toddlers rooms.

Work projects, under the direction of Mrs. Dick Summerfield, included making of hospital gowns, dressings, bandages and a quilt. Scrap books were completed and will be sent to Kentucky to be distributed as awards for work accomplished in Bible clubs in and near Barbourville.

Mrs. Clyde Messick, secretary, gave each of the 17 members present the name of some missionary and urged that each become their prayer partner.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Calvin Schram. Lunch was served by the refreshment committee.

Will Probated

The will of William Marshall Sr., Lonaconing, who died October 26 was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court. His daughter, Jane G. Marshall, Lonaconing, was named executrix and his widow, Mrs. Rachel S. Marshall, beneficiary.

New FSTC Faculty Members Honored

FROSTBURG — New faculty members of Frostburg State Teachers College were honored at a coffee hour this week at the college by members of the faculty and the staff activities committee.

The refreshment table was presided over by members of the faculty who took turns in pouring. Mrs. Grace Kopp was committee chairman in charge of arrangements.

New faculty members are Miss Marjorie Berkley, Mrs. Kathleen Layman, Miss Anna Sandberg, Harold Dordts, James Cotton, William Monroe, Jack Snyder and Charles Stansberry.

James Cotton was presented a gift by James A. Hosack on behalf of the faculty and was congratulated on his recent marriage.

PTA Hears Talk On Posture

BARTON—Dr. James Steele of Frostburg and Dr. R. Neil Williams of Westernport were guest speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Barton Parent Teachers Association held Tuesday evening in the school auditorium.

They were presented by Mrs. Norman Metz, program chairman, and used posture as their theme for the evening. A film entitled "How Do You Stand" was shown followed by a discussion with the group.

Mrs. Joan Clark, president, presided over the business meeting which opened with the flag salute and a prayer.

The attendance award was won by Mrs. O'Rouke's first grade room.

Plans were made to hold a Christmas party at their next regular meeting December 2 at 7:30 p.m. The social and program committees will be in charge of arrangements.

Eleven members of the association accepted an offer of the Red Cross to start a Home Nursing Course in the Barton area.

A Christmas treat for the school children will be sponsored by the Association with plans being completed at the next meeting.

Fifteen parents attended the luncheon and meeting of the parent-child study group held Tuesday afternoon at the school. The previous meetings of the group were summarized and discussed.

The parent-child study is a program of the PTA. Mrs. Kathleen Laughlin is chairman.

TRUSTEES SALE

OF TWO VALUABLE
IMPROVED PROPERTIES
LOCATED ON POLK STREET, IN CUMBERLAND,
ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

Under a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, passed in No. 25393 Equity, in which Howard Leasure is complainant and Hattie R. Johnson and others are defendants, the undersigned as Trustees will offer at public sale in front of the Court House in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, on Saturday, December 6, 1958, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. EST, the following described real estate:

FIRST PARCEL:

ALL that lot or parcel of ground situate on the West side of Polk Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the West side of Polk Street at the beginning of the deed from George Blocher et al to Daniel Huebner dated November 27, 1863, and recorded in Liber No. 21, folio 474, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and running thence with said first line, North 66 degrees West 75 feet to the beginning point of the deed from Mary Shaw to Alverna Robinette dated April 8, 1913, and recorded in Liber No. 112, folio 194, of said Land Records; then running with the fourth line of said Robinette deed, reversed, and parallel with Polk Street, North 24 degrees East 30 feet to an alley now known as Shaw Street, then with said Shaw Street, South 66 degrees East 75 feet to the West side of Polk Street; then with the West side of Polk Street, South 24 degrees West 30 feet to the place of beginning.

SAID PROPERTY IS IMPROVED BY A LARGE TWO-STORY FRAME AND BRICK DWELLING KNOWN AS NO. 146 POLK STREET, WHICH IS HEATED BY STOVES AND CONTAINS APPROXIMATELY EIGHT ROOMS AND TWO BATHS AND IS EQUIPPED WITH GAS, ELECTRIC AND WATER.

SECOND PARCEL:

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of ground lying and being on the easterly side of Polk Street known and designated as part of Lots Nos. 7 and 8 in Blocher's Addition to the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, which said parcel is more particularly described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING for the same on the easterly side of Polk Street at the end of the third line of the parcel of ground conveyed by Susman Rosenbaum et ux to Conrad Frey dated March 28, 1907, which is recorded in Liber 100, folio 574, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and running then with said street North 22 degrees East 19 feet, more or less, to a line running through the center wall of the double house standing on the original whole Conrad Frey parcel, then with said line running through the center partition wall of said double house known as Nos. 131 and 133 Polk Street, the approximate course and distance of South 68 degrees East 60 feet to a point on the third line of the parcel of ground conveyed by Conrad Frey et ux to Frederick W. Fochtman dated March 25, 1908, which is recorded in Liber 102, folio 514, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, then with the balance of said third line South 22 degrees West 19 feet, more or less, to a point on the fourth line of said Rosenbaum deed, it also being the dividing line between the parcel herein conveyed and the Methodist Episcopal lot adjoining, and then with part of said fourth line reversed North 68 degrees West 60 feet to the place of beginning.

SAID PROPERTY IS IMPROVED BY A TWO-STORY BRICK DWELLING CONTAINING SIX ROOMS AND BATH, IS EQUIPPED WITH GAS, WATER AND ELECTRICITY AND IS HEATED BY A COAL FIRED STEAM FURNACE.

TERMS OF SALE: One-fourth cash on date of sale, balance upon final ratification of sale. All taxes, water rents and rentals shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. Property can be inspected by making an appointment with Mr. Carscaden of Mr. Getty, telephone PArkview 2-0123.

Animal Society Protests Sale Of Easter Pets

A protest over the sale of chicks, rabbits and ducks during Easter season was registered yesterday by the Allegany County Animal Welfare Society with the county commissioners.

In a letter from the society it was stated the organization has been concerned for a number of years with the annual sale of these small animals and the careless manner in which they are kept in store windows, often they claim, without proper food or water.

The letter, signed by Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, president of the organization, said the animals are also often overcrowded in store windows and children who eventually get them as presents are sometime carteless in handling them so that they endure suffering and then die.

It was stated the City of Cumberland will also be asked to do something about the sale of the young animals. The commissioners took no immediate action and will study the situation to determine what can be done.

Gift Sent To Mission

The Women's Missionary Society of Calvary Methodist Church voted to send a cash gift to Rev. and Mrs. Cramner Kenrick in Haiti for Christmas, at the meeting Thursday in the parsonage, Cresaptown. Mrs. Ethel Wenrick presided, and plans were discussed for distributing clothing to needy families. It was announced four throw rugs have been given for use in the new sanctuary and toddlers rooms.

Work projects, under the direction of Mrs. Dick Summerfield, included making of hospital gowns, dressings, bandages and a quilt. Scrap books were completed and will be sent to Kentucky to be distributed as awards for work accomplished in Bible clubs in and near Barbourville.

Mrs. Clyde Messick, secretary, gave each of the 17 members present the name of some missionary and urged that each become their prayer partner.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Calvin Schram. Lunch was served by the refreshment committee.

Will Probated

The will of William Marshall Sr., Lonaconing, who died October 26 was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court. His daughter, Jane G. Marshall, Lonaconing, was named executrix and his widow, Mrs. Rachel S. Marshall, beneficiary.

Market Absorbs Profit Taking, Hits New High

NEW YORK (UPI) —After absorbing huge amounts of profit-taking the stock market closed in new high territory Friday with more than $1 billion added to total market valuations.

There was nothing specific in the news to account for the rise. Market experts explained that the ability of the list to withstand the profit-selling inspired new buying confidence. There also were reports that investment funds were returning to the buying side.

Trading picked up on the advance with tickers late in the opening and again at the close. Volume rose to 4,390,000 shares from 4,200,000 Thursday.

Gains of a point or more dotted the list and there were several run-ups of about 5 or better. Polaroid and Bell & Howell, both camera manufacturers, were in the latter group and sprinted on reports they are candidates for stock splits.

Pfizer, a drug company, fell back 2¾ Friday after a rise of 88¾ Thursday when a company official said the board would meet Nov. 20 to consider a split.

In the main list oils, steels, appliances, chemicals, rails and utilities all showed strength. The utilities were at a new 28 year high.

In the steels, U.S. Steel, Inland and Republic all were up more than a point. Standard Oil of California was the principal gainer in the international oil section, up a point. Large fractional gains were rung up by Texaco and Standard of New Jersey.

Du Pont and Union Carbide, the nation's two biggest chemical companies, registered gains of a point or more in their section. Allied was up nearly a point.

Appliances, reflecting a better outlook for earnings, showed gains topping 3 points in Zenith and Magnavox.

The "big three" motor companies held at Thursday's level, except for Ford which yielded a small fraction. Both of the "little two" — American Motors and Studebaker - Packard — were in the ten most active list with the former off more than a point and the latter off fractionally.

Thursday American Motors swung through an arc of more than 3 points rising toward the end of the day when its president said a dividend resumption was a distinct possibility.

Sperry Rand was the most actively traded issue Friday, up ¾ on reports it is about to receive fat new contracts.

Of the 1,239 issues traded Friday 643 advanced, 348 declined and 248 held unchanges. New highs were set by 1956 issues and new lows by one.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Easy to firm prices closed grain futures activity today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅜ to off 1 cent; corn (old) up ⅜ to ½ cent; corn (new) up ⅜ to off 1⅛ cents; oats unchanged to off ⅜ cent; rye up ⅝ to off ¼ cent; soybeans up ¼ to off ⅛ cent.

December wheat muscled into strong ranges throughout the day, despite relative easiness in deferred contracts. Commercial houses and local brokers bought it. Germany, observers believe now, will enter the export market next week.

The corn price picture was a checkerboard. Northwest traders sold new March, driving it into heavy tones during the session. New September declined almost two cents a bushel at one point. Locals and some commission interests brought December corn.

Oats and rye kept general firmness during the day. One cash house and several exporters were interested in December oats.

Inactivity made it a dull day in soybeans. There was some buying interest in January, and selling in March; trade, however, dozed in comparison with other grains.

Grains at outside markets were steady to firm. The range:

Market Absorbs Profit Taking, Hits New High

NEW YORK (UPI) —After absorbing huge amounts of profit-taking the stock market closed in new high territory Friday with more than $1 billion added to total market valuations.

There was nothing specific in the news to account for the rise. Market experts explained that the ability of the list to withstand the profit-selling inspired new buying confidence. There also were reports that investment funds were returning to the buying side.

Trading picked up on the advance with tickers late in the opening and again at the close. Volume rose to 4,390,000 shares from 4,200,000 Thursday.

Gains of a point or more dotted the list and there were several run-ups of about 5 or better. Polaroid and Bell & Howell, both camera manufacturers, were in the latter group and sprinted on reports they are candidates for stock splits.

Pfizer, a drug company, fell back 2¾ Friday after a rise of 88¾ Thursday when a company official said the board would meet Nov. 20 to consider a split.

In the main list oils, steels, appliances, chemicals, rails and utilities all showed strength. The utilities were at a new 28 year high.

In the steels, U.S. Steel, Inland and Republic all were up more than a point. Standard Oil of California was the principal gainer in the international oil section, up a point. Large fractional gains were rung up by Texaco and Standard of New Jersey.

Du Pont and Union Carbide, the nation's two biggest chemical companies, registered gains of a point or more in their section. Allied was up nearly a point.

Appliances, reflecting a better outlook for earnings, showed gains topping 3 points in Zenith and Magnavox.

The "big three" motor companies held at Thursday's level, except for Ford which yielded a small fraction. Both of the "little two" — American Motors and Studebaker - Packard — were in the ten most active list with the former off more than a point and the latter off fractionally.

Thursday American Motors swung through an arc of more than 3 points rising toward the end of the day when its president said a dividend resumption was a distinct possibility.

Sperry Rand was the most actively traded issue Friday, up ¾ on reports it is about to receive fat new contracts.

Of the 1,239 issues traded Friday 643 advanced, 348 declined and 248 held unchanges. New highs were set by 1956 issues and new lows by one.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Easy to firm prices closed grain futures activity today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅜ to off 1 cent; corn (old) up ⅜ to ½ cent; corn (new) up ⅜ to off 1⅛ cents; oats unchanged to off ⅜ cent; rye up ⅝ to off ¼ cent; soybeans up ¼ to off ⅛ cent.

December wheat muscled into strong ranges throughout the day, despite relative easiness in deferred contracts. Commercial houses and local brokers bought it. Germany, observers believe now, will enter the export market next week.

The corn price picture was a checkerboard. Northwest traders sold new March, driving it into heavy tones during the session. New September declined almost two cents a bushel at one point. Locals and some commission interests brought December corn.

Oats and rye kept general firmness during the day. One cash house and several exporters were interested in December oats.

Inactivity made it a dull day in soybeans. There was some buying interest in January, and selling in March; trade, however, dozed in comparison with other grains.

Grains at outside markets were steady to firm. The range:

Man Killed In Truck Crash On Route 40

Occupant Treated For Injuries In Hospital Here

One man was killed and another was injured yesterday afternoon when the truck in which they were riding crashed on U.S. Route 40 about six miles east of here.

Maryland State Police identified the victim as Harry B. Bryner, age undetermined, of Farmington, Pa., and said he died of a crushed chest and broken neck.

Bernard Friend, 23, of Friendsville, a passenger in the truck, was treated in Sacred Heart Hospital for lacerations of the neck and scalp, and multiple bruises.

State Police said the accident occurred at 4:15 p.m. after Bryner, driving an open-bed truck toward Cumberland, made an improper pass across a double line.

Wheels Hit Culvert

As the vehicle returned to its own lane, the rear dual wheels of the truck hit a concrete culvert and the truck went out of control.

State Police said the careening truck knocked out six guard rails and 10 fence posts before running over a 45-foot embankment and turning over on its left side.

Mr. Bryner, believed to have been in his mid-20s, was found lying in the bed of a small creek and beneath the vehicle.

Trooper Kenneth Messmer investigated the accident.

The victims were taken to the hospital by the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Department ambulance.

Body Held Here

Mr. Bryner was pronounced dead by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy medical examiner, who drove by shortly after the accident occurred.

State Police said the truck was going too fast on the improper pass.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home here pending word from relatives.

Buffalo Nickel Night Planned By Coin Club

The Western Maryland Coin Club will hold a buffalo nickel night at its meeting Wednesday, November 19 at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Buffalo nickels in good condition, the club reports, are fast becoming rare, especially in the early dates.

Trading, selling or exchange of Buffalo nickels will be possible during the meeting.

The club is sponsored by the City Recreation Department, which will permit members to use the blackboard outside its office to post coins they wish to trade.

Members were urged to bring their Buffalo nickel collections to the meeting, so they may compare their coins with a collection which will be on display.

Number Of Md. Jobless Drops

BALTIMORE (AP(—The number of Maryland unemployed applying for jobless pay dropped modestly last week under the total for the previous week, the Department of Employment Security reported Friday.

Executive Director Robert B. Kimble attributed the drop to the number of persons using up their allotment of benefit checks and therefore no longer entitled to unemployment insurance.

The number of persons hired or rehired by industry remained about the same as for the previous week, he said.

During last week, 30,557 Marylanders filed claims, a drop of 3 per cent from the 31,485 for the week ending Nov. 1.

Mental Health Facilities Aired

A survey report of mental health facilities in Maryland, with emphasis on Allegany County, was discussed last night during a meeting of the Cumberland Community Council at the Woman's Civic Club House on Washington Street. The report was given by the social and economic issues study group of the Cumberland Branch American Association of University Women. Standing at the extreme right is Mrs. John G. Thomas, president of the branch, who introduced the panelists. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Ella Everstine, Mrs. Alice McGuire, Mrs. Arleen Russell and Mrs. Veronica Schleifman.

Beall's Official Vote Margin Was 14,744

Beat D'Alesandro 382,016 To 367,272

BALTIMORE (AP)—Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall won reelection Nov. 4 by an official margin of 14,744 over Thomas D'Alesandro, a complete canvass of Maryland returns showed today.

In the three other statewide races, all won by Democrats, J. Millard Tawes had a record majority of 206,867 over James P. S. Devereux, C. Ferdinand Sybert 225,440 over Robert A. Wallace, and Louis L. Goldstein 133,646 over John A. Derr.

The canvass also was completed in three of the seven Congressional seats, all of them taken by Democrats.

Thomas F. Johnson officially nosed out Edward T. Miller by 1,218 votes in the First District. John R. Foley edged DeWitt S. Hyde by 4,304 in the Sixth. And Daniel B. Brewster outran J. Fife Symington Jr. by 31,502 in the Second.

In the main contest for U. S. Senator, Beall polled a total of 382,016 to 367,272 for D'Alesandro. Beall's winning majority was compiled in the counties where he ran ahead by 45,701. D'Alesandro earned a majority of 30,957 in Baltimore City where he is mayor.

Tawes, in sweeping everywhere, defeated Devereux 485,042 to 278,175. Tawes was given a majority of 116,507 in the counties and 90,360 in Baltimore City.

Sybert, who failed to get a majority only in Garrett County, outscored Wallace by 457,771 to 232,331. His county majority was 123,140 and another 102,300 in the city.

Goldstein, making his first statewide run along with D'Alesandro, drew 411,860 votes to 278,214 for Derr. Goldstein ran in front in 19 of the 23 counties for a lead of 63,147 and added 70,499 in Baltimore.

Johnson scored his upset over six-time Congressman Miller in the First District by 32,828 to 31,610. Johnson had the edge in six of the nine counties on the Eastern Shore.

In the considerably greater populous area of the Sixth District, Foley unseated Hyde by 78,987 to 74,683. The district takes in Allegany, Frederick, Washington, Garrett and Montgomery counties.

Brewster's vote in the Second District of Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties was 87,667 to 56,165 for Symington.

Dempsey Wins Area Paint Sales Contest

Thomas C. Dempsey, 214 Schley Street, won first place among north central region dealer sales representatives of the Sherwin-Williams Company in the paint firm's 1958 top achievement contest.

Mr. Dempsey, who makes his headquarters in Altoona, Pa., registered the greatest sales performance gain over the previous fiscal year among dealer representatives in the nine-state north central region.

Firemen Answer Four Calls

Four calls, including a false alarm, were answered yesterday by local firemen.

About 6:27 p. m. firemen of South End station went to the intersection of Montreal and Ontario streets when Box 69 was pulled. It was a false alarm.

Firemen from Central fire station were called to nearby Bedford Street, when an auto caught fire near the intersection of North Centre Street. The call was received at 5:14 p. m.

West Side firemen checked an auto fire about 2:48 p. m. on South Smallwood Street just off Greene Street. The car bore Pennsylvania license plates and the driver was not around.

Firemen disconnected the battery after learning there was a short circuit in the wiring of the car. They left a note explaining the reason the battery had been disconnected.

South End firemen had an early morning call when a plastic lid caught fire on an electric range in the kitchen at 13 Virginia Avenue. An extinguisher was used, according to firemen, who said there was no damage. The call came in about 7:53 a. m.

Five Area Men Enlist In Army

During the past week, five area men enlisted in the Army at the local recruiting station, according to M/Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley.

Garry W. Hott, 18, Kirby, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Hott enlisted in the Ordnance Corps for three years. He is a graduate of Romney High School.

Richard E. Wilson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Wilson, Lonaconing, enlisted in the Infantry for three years and upon completion of his basic training will be assigned to Europe. He is a graduate of Valley High School.

Dale W. Broadwater, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale N. Broadwater, Cresaptown, enlisted in the Corps of Engineers for three years. He is a graduate of Allegany High School.

Charles C. Cramer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cramer, Cresaptown, also selected the engineers for three years. He is a graduate of Allegany.

Edward E. Dyche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Dyche, 1407 Oldtown Road, enlisted under the Army's Guaranteed School Program and after his basic will attend radar repair school.

Youth Commission To Meet Tuesday

Officers and directors of the Allegany County Youth Commission will meet Tuesday, November 18, at 8 p.m. in the Department of Employment Security office, 239 North Mechanic Street.

Former Chief Judge George Henderson will preside at the session.

Mt. Savage Cow Leads In Butterfat Production

Mayfair Little Pep, a registered Ayrshire owned by William A. Moore and Son, Mt. Savage, was the October champion butterfat producer of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 107 pounds of butterfat in 2,130 pounds of milk.

However, John Tucker Mason of Cresaptown and Fred C. Siple of Fort Ashby, W. Va., between them had seven of the 12 top butterfat producers in the association, according to the monthly report by Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors. Mr. Siple's three top-producing cows placed second, fourth and tied for eighth, respectively.

Mr. Mason's big producers ranked third, fifth, tied for sixth and tied for eighth.

Marshall R. Porter, RFD 3, Frostburg, had two cows on the select list which included 12 cows because of a three-way tie for tenth place. His cows were tied for sixth and tied for tenth.

Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., and Harry J. Barton, Pinto, had the other two cows tied for tenth place.

Ten of the 12 top-producers were Holsteins and the other two Ayrshires.

During October there were 968 cows on test. They averaged 658 pounds of milk, 27.2 pounds of butterfat and 4.12 per cent butterfat.

The high average herd for the month was the one belonging to Wilbert R. Paul. His 21 cows averaged 1,094 pounds fo milk, 43.2 pounds of butterfat and 3.95 per cent butterfat.

Legislators Back Urban Renewal Plan

Cities Turned Down On Truck Regulation

SALISBURY (AP)—The Legislative Council Friday threw its support behind a proposal of the Maryland Municipal League to give cities and counties power to undertake urban renewal proposals.

Sen. Fred Malkus (D-Dorchester, chairman of the council's Judicial Proceedings Committee, said his group approved the proposal and will give it "healthy support" when the General Assembly convenes early next year.

Under present State law, only Baltimore City has the power to undertake urban renewal projects without state approval. The municipal league, holding its 11th annual convention here, has asked for a constitutional amendment to enable other cities and the counties to institute similar programs.

A three-fifths vote of both houses would be required before the proposal could go on the ballot at the next general election in 1960.

Is Turned Down

A second proposal of the league—a request for regulatory power over the movement of trucks through cities and towns—was not acted on by the Legislative Council.

Malkus indicated the second proposal was not approved because his committee felt local authorities might misuse the power.

The league wants the authority for its member cities and towns so they can regulate movement of trucks on the basis of weight. Executive Secretary Edmund L. Mester said the reason the request was made was to protect residential streets.

"We'll try to get some member of the General Assembly to introduce a bill when the session opens," Mester said. If the bill is offered, Malkus said, his group will ask for hearings to present its case.

Urges State Help

The 200 delegates attending second day sessions of the league convention also heard from Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County).

He reiterated the need for proposals advanced earlier in the day by Del. Ernest A. Loveless (D-Prince Georges), Sen. Edward S. Northrop, (D - Montgomery) and University of Maryland officials.

They called for:

1. A state development agency to encourage economic and industrial development. Both Loveless and Northrop had urged establishment of such an agency.

2. A program, called the Maryland Technical Advisory Service, to help communities help themselves by providing consulting service for sanitary and public works engineering projects, advice in preparation of municipal reports, and help to officials in codifying their ordinances or revising their local charters. University officials said the program, operated by the university, would work without any difficulty. The municipal league threw its support behind such a program last year.

US Will Aid

Delegates also heard from Leigh Curry, chief counsel for the federal Urban Renewal Administration. He and Walter Phelan, regional director of the URA, emphasized that urban renewal programs can be developed by any community with Uncle Sam financing on a 50-50 basis any approved community plan for redeveloping blighted areas.

Phelan noted that only about 40 per cent of the cities participating in the program have less than 25,000 population. But he said the reason is simply that the smaller communities of the country are "not informed about how we operate."

Curry outlined a 7-point technical program for communities to follow in applying for urban renewal funds.

The convention ends Saturday with election of officers and adoption of resolutions.

About the only resolution up for consideration is one renewing the league's request for legislation concerning the regulation of truck traffic.

Astronomy Club Meet Set Here

Plans are under way for the organization of an astronomy club in Cumberland.

A meeting will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. in the Cumberland Free Public Library auditorium to discuss the plans.

All persons interested in astronomy are invited to attend. The club is being formed to promote an interest in astronomy, to provide persons with an opportunity to use telescopes and other astronomical equipment.

It will also provide a means of continuing contacts among amateur astronomers of the community. A group headed by Rance Nethkin, graduate of Fort Hill High School, met Thursday to discuss preliminary plans.

The group is being assisted by Miss Mary Walsh, librarian. Three closeup pictures of the moon are now on display at the library. They were taken by Rance Nethkin who mounted a camera on a six-inch reflecting telescope.

Queen City Buys Three Used Buses

Queen City Bus Lines, Inc., the new operator of Cumberland's buses, has purchased three good used buses from Detroit, Mich., and has placed them in operation, according to Lawrence L. Grim, secretary-terasurer of the corporation which was formed recently by the bus drivers.

Mr. Grim said the three new buses all have a 31-passenger capacity. They are in good running order and need only some paint to be placed in top appearance. Detroit is replacing some 200 buses of this type with 51-passenger Diesel-powered buses.

When the Queen City Bus Lines Inc. submitted a bid of $7,500 in Allegany County Circuit Court, October 14, it covered 23 buses owned by the Cumberland Transit Lines, which had gone into receivership. However, Queen City found that 11 of the buses were little more than junk and has disposed of them.

Eleven buses are kept in operation to maintain the existing schedules. They include the three Detroit buses.

Officials of the company have spent a good deal of money for parts to keep the buses running. They now are working on some schedule changes designed to improve service.

Industry Promotion Committee Meets

The industrial promotion committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce met yesterday in the Chamber offices.

Garland L. Johnston, chairman of the newly appointed committee, presided. Business included a review of past activities and plans for the current program.

Legislature May Decide On Service Areas

SRC Asked To Expand Arguments

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The 1959 legislature may have the final say on whether the state may build and lease elaborate service areas on certain highways without complying with local zoning laws.

Circuit Judge Benjamin Michaelson Friday ordered the State Roads Commission to prepare further arguments in a suit asking him to declare such action legal.

Michaelson said he wanted to get a full record in the case because he believes it will wind up in the Court of Appeals.

He gave the SRC 30 days to amend its suit and promised an early hearing. He said he wanted to see the case determined soon so that the losers might have recourse to the 1959 General Assembly.

Pilot Operation

The case involves a state plan to build and lease a service station and restaurant facility on the Baltimore - Washington Expressway near Dorsey Road.

The pilot operation, first of its kind in Maryland, would cost more than one million dollars and would be leased to private interests on a bid basis.

The roads commission had requested rezoning of the proposed site from agriculture to heavy commerce, and a hearing was set by the Anne Arundel County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Then the SRC decided it was immune from county zoning laws and filed a suit to determine the question. The state's bill of complaint named the county commissioners and zoning officials as respondents, and several operators of restaurants and gas stations were allowed to intervene.

Claims Immunity

The state complaint claimed the SRC is an agency of the sovereign state and "enjoys the immunity of such sovereign from the local laws and regulations of any of its counties."

It also said the General Assembly expressly authorized the SRC to acquire lands for parking and service areas on controlled or denied access highways.

The opponents demurred, a legal action contending the state did not make out a case. Judge Michaelson sustained the demurrer "on technical grounds" with leave to amend.

Hyman Pressman, Baltimore attorney representing the intervening businessmen, presented the main objections to the state suit.

Pressman quoted several court rulings in an effort to show that sovereign immunity is a privilege which the state waives when it voluntarily enters litigation.

Claims Suit Deficient

Pressman said the state law giving counties zoning authority does not provide any exceptions for state agencies. He also claimed the suit was deficient because it did not name all the facilities to be leased or say who would operate them.

He said all indications are that the Legislature did not intend to give the roads commission permission for such an operation. He admitted the law authorizes the state to acquire land for parking and service areas on certain highways, but he said the law does not mention restaurants or rest rooms.

Pressman claimed the "service areas" referred to in the law meant gas stations near service roads.

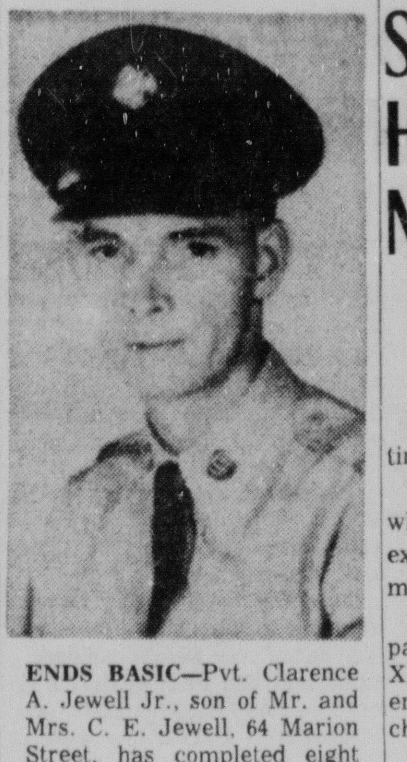
Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general assigned to the roads commission, replied to Pressman's arguments.

He said Stedman Prescott Jr., deputy attorney general, gave State Senate President Louis L. Goldstein an opinion that such an operation is within the law. He said it is not necessary to look for implied power.

Asks Full Record

Buscher noted that two proposals to prohibit such an operation failed in recent sessions of the General Assembly. He said their introduction indicated that the sponsors thought the SRC already had authority for such an operation.

Judge Michaelson interrupted Buscher to ask for preparation of a more complete record with testimony.



ENDS BASIC—Pvt. Clarence A. Jewell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jewell, 64 Marion Street, has completed eight weeks of basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He is to be assigned to electronics specialist school at Fort Jackson for the next 20 weeks. Jewell is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1956, and enlisted in the Army here for three years.

Mediator Seeks Settlement Of Paper Dispute

Westvaco Offers 5-6 Cent Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP) — First steps toward federal settlement of a labor dispute involving three mills of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. were taken Friday by federal mediator Gilbert McCutcheon.

Representatives of the company and the United Paperworkers Union spent a major portion of the day's closed sessions in reviewing for McCutcheon what has transpired since negotiations started on Oct. 28.

Late in the afternoon the general meeting recessed to permit McCutcheon to talk privately with principals of the disputing parties. He then started his talks with D.C. Valentine, coordinator of labor relations for the company. When these talks are concluded he will begin discussions with union officials.

Joint meetings of both parties with McCutcheon will resume at an unspecified date.

The wage boosts offered by the company range from 5 to 6 cents an hour. At the Covington, Va., plant the present range is from $1.78 to $3.38 an hour. The company proposal would raise the range to $1.81 to $3.50 an hour.

At the Luke, Md., plant the $1.78 to $3.17 range would be boosted to $1.81 to $3.26. At the Williamsburg, Pa., plant the $1.79½ to $2.70 range would be from $1.82½ to $2.79.

West Virginia Forest Fire Threatens Homes

A number of homes were threatened yesterday afternoon when a stubborn woods fire burned over an area about a mile south of Ridgeley just off West Virginia State Route 28.

The fire, which flared up a couple of times during the afternoon, was finally brought under control yesterday evening by volunteer firemen of Ridgeley and Wiley Ford.

The first call was received by Ridgeley volunteers just before 1 p.m., and they received another call about 3 p.m.

When the firemen found they couldn't get to a fire burning down over a cliff they lit a back fire. After they left, the wind shifted and they were called for the third time about 5:20 p.m.

Albright Station To Be Closed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Public Service Commission Friday authorized the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. to discontinue an agency station at Albright, Preston County.

The company had told the PSC that there had been a general decrease in the volume of business at the station and that present business indicates the situation will not improve.

Parking Regulations Effective Today

New parking regulations which will go into effect in Cumberland today were explained yesterday morning at Police Headquarters by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

He informed policemen that the regulations will go into effect today throughout the city, and cautioned them that discretion and good judgment must be used in issuing tickets.

The law in regard to red and yellow lines will be enforced strictly so that it will become standardized, Commissioner Fleming stated, adding that he wanted no partiality shown to anyone. He explained that in most cases red lines are in effect for fire lanes and to help the flow of traffic.

He informed the men that he expected each officer to use common sense in issuing tickets for violations, but that if any complaints arose, he, Chief R. Emmett Flynn, Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney and other officials would back the opinion of the patrolman. Any unanticipated problems that may arise should be referred to superior officers for decisions, the commissioner explained.

Fleming also pointed out that the success of the new regulations will depend on the individual action of each officer, and that every member of the department should live up to rules and regulations so that members of the force can retain the trust and confidence of the community.

The commissioner told the men that they should especially see that loading and unloading zones be used only by trucks and service vehicles since the zones were created for such use alone, and that violations tended to cause such vehicles to look for other places to park and thus create congestion.

The police were also informed that they should see that loading and unloading operations are not violated, and in the event of any delay have the vehicle move on until the operations could be resumed.

Fleming stated that he expected complaints concerning parking during rush hours, but that he would handle each instance as it arose. In anticipation of this, he told the police that he has written to some firms and agencies whose trucks have been brought to his attention.

The parking regulations will be in effect 24 hours daily, he stressed, and said that support of the regulations by each officer will tend to lift the morale and efficiency of the department.

Fleming continued:

"No one in Cumberland should be more familiar with the traffic problem than the Police De-

Sacred Heart Hospital Gets New X-Ray Unit

Powerful Equipment Is Being Installed

Sacred Heart Hospital is getting a new diagnostic X-ray unit.

The installation of the unit, which will cost about $25,000, is expected to be completed by the middle of next week.

The Queen City Electric Company here is installing the new X-ray unit and a new transformer and making necessary wiring changes and additions.

The unit is being installed on the fourth floor of the hospital and will replace an old unit which is being turned in.

The X-ray unit will be the second major improvement in the hospital financed through a Ford Foundation grant.

A modern sprinkler system was installed in the older section of the hospital last year, and the grant has also made possible the repairs to some floors of the hospital.

Two oxygen tents were purchased last year and two more, financed by the foundation funds, are on the way, according to a hospital spokesman.

The new X-ray unit will be twice as powerful as the old equipment.

Parents Urged To Encourage Family Music

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, November 25, at West Side School as another step in his campaign to get more music in the homes.

The music supervisor is inviting all parents and other interested persons to a meeting that night to learn the basic rules for playing certain simple musical instruments which can be used readily in the home. He will illustrate particularly the flutophone, the recorder and the autoharp.

Persons are invited to bring their own musical instruments to the November 25 meeting.

Since coming here in the summer of 1957, Dr. Gamble has spoken to parent-teacher associations and service clubs about the importance of music in the home to keep the family together and to provide a wholesome program for relaxation.

Those attending the West Side School meeting will be urged to go back to their own PTA groups to encourage more interest in musical instruments.

Manns Choice Driver Nabbed In Hit-Run

A 31-year-old Manns Choice, Pa. man is being held in Bedford County jail in default of $1,500 bond following his arrest for violation of four motor vehicle violations on Thursday evening.

Eugene Eldon Mowry was charged in a hit-and-run accident which occurred about 5:35 p.m. Thursday near the intersection of Pennsylvania State Routes 96 and 31 at Manns Choice.

Police said he struck the left side of a car being driven by Earl Wallace Garland, 19, Manns Choice, who was forced to go partially off the highway. Police said Mowry is being held for court action on charges of failing to identify himself after the accident, failure to stop at the scene, driving while under license suspension and another serious violation.

Man Killed In Truck Crash On Route 40

Occupant Treated For Injuries In Hospital Here

One man was killed and another was injured yesterday afternoon when the truck in which they were riding crashed on U.S. Route 40 about six miles east of here.

Maryland State Police identified the victim as Harry B. Bryner, age undetermined, of Farmington, Pa., and said he died of a crushed chest and broken neck.

Bernard Friend, 23, of Friendsville, a passenger in the truck, was treated in Sacred Heart Hospital for lacerations of the neck and scalp, and multiple bruises.

State Police said the accident occurred at 4:15 p.m. after Bryner, driving an open-bed truck toward Cumberland, made an improper pass across a double line.

Wheels Hit Culvert

As the vehicle returned to its own lane, the rear dual wheels of the truck hit a concrete culvert and the truck went out of control.

State Police said the careening truck knocked out six guard rails and 10 fence posts before running over a 45-foot embankment and turning over on its left side.

Mr. Bryner, believed to have been in his mid-20s, was found lying in the bed of a small creek and beneath the vehicle.

Trooper Kenneth Messmer investigated the accident.

The victims were taken to the hospital by the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Department ambulance.

Body Held Here

Mr. Bryner was pronounced dead by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy medical examiner, who drove by shortly after the accident occurred.

State Police said the truck was going too fast on the improper pass.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home here pending word from relatives.

Buffalo Nickel Night Planned By Coin Club

The Western Maryland Coin Club will hold a buffalo nickel night at its meeting Wednesday, November 19 at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Buffalo nickels in good condition, the club reports, are fast becoming rare, especially in the early dates.

Trading, selling or exchange of Buffalo nickels will be possible during the meeting.

The club is sponsored by the City Recreation Department, which will permit members to use the blackboard outside its office to post coins they wish to trade.

Members were urged to bring their Buffalo nickel collections to the meeting, so they may compare their coins with a collection which will be on display.

Number Of Md. Jobless Drops

BALTIMORE (AP)—The number of Maryland unemployed applying for jobless pay dropped modestly last week under the total for the previous week, the Department of Employment Security reported Friday.

Executive Director Robert B. Kimble attributed the drop to the number of persons using up their allotment of benefit checks and therefore no longer entitled to unemployment insurance.

The number of persons hired or rehired by industry remained about the same as for the previous week, he said.

During last week, 30,557 Marylanders filed claims, a drop of 3 per cent from the 31,485 for the week ending Nov. 1.

Circuit Court Grants Divorces

Five divorces have been granted in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Myrtle W. Walters has obtained a divorce from Charles D. Walters and the right to resume use of her former name of Myrtle Williams. Ruth R. Starkey was granted a divorce from Randall J. Starkey and the right to resume use of her maiden name of Ruth R. Spangler.

Wilma E. Rizer was granted a divorce from Walter S. Rizer and the father was awarded custody of two minor children. Gatie M. Funk was awarded a divorce from Lee A. Funk. Doris E. Glass obtained a divorce from Francis M. Glass and custody of their six minor children.

Beall's Official Vote Margin Was 14,744

Beat D'Alesandro 382,016 To 367,272

BALTIMORE (AP)—Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall won reelection Nov. 4 by an official margin of 14,744 over Thomas D'Alesandro, a complete canvass of Maryland returns showed today.

In the three other statewide races, all won by Democrats, J. Millard Tawes had a record majority of 206,867 over James P. S. Devereux, C. Ferdinand Sybert 225,440 over Robert A. Wallace, and Louis L. Goldstein 133,646 over John A. Derr.

The canvass also was completed in three of the seven Congressional seats, all of them taken by Democrats.

Thomas F. Johnson officially nosed out Edward T. Miller by 1,218 votes in the First District. John R. Foley edged DeWitt S. Hyde by 4,304 in the Sixth. And Daniel B. Brewster outran J. Fife Symington Jr. by 31,502 in the Second.

In the main contest for U. S. Senator, Beall polled a total of 382,016 to 367,272 for D'Alesandro. Beall's winning majority was compiled in the counties where he ran ahead by 45,701. D'Alesandro earned a majority of 30,957 in Baltimore City where he is mayor.

Tawes, in sweeping everywhere, defeated Devereux 485,042 to 278,175. Tawes was given a majority of 116,507 in the counties and 90,360 in Baltimore City.

Sybert, who failed to get a majority only in Garrett County, outscored Wallace by 457,771 to 232,331. His county majority was 123,140 and another 102,300 in the city.

Goldstein, making his first statewide run along with D'Alesandro, drew 411,860 votes to 278,214 for Derr. Goldstein ran in front in 19 of the 23 counties for a lead of 63,147 and added 70,499 in Baltimore.

Johnson scored his upset over six-time Congressman Miller in the First District by 32,828 to 31,610. Johnson had the edge in six of the nine counties on the Eastern Shore.

In the considerably greater populous area of the Sixth District, Foley unseated Hyde by 78,987 to 74,683. The district takes in Allegany, Frederick, Washington, Garrett and Montgomery counties.

Brewster's vote in the Second District of Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties was 87,667 to 56,165 for Symington.

Dempsey Wins Area Paint Sales Contest

Thomas C. Dempsey, 214 Schley Street, won first place among north central region dealer sales representatives of the Sherwin-Williams Company in the paint firm's 1958 top achievement contest.

Mr. Dempsey, who makes his headquarters in Altoona, Pa., registered the greatest sales performance gain over the previous fiscal year among dealer representatives in the nine-state north central region.

Firemen Answer Four Calls

Four calls, including a false alarm, were answered yesterday by local firemen.

About 6:27 p. m. firemen of South End station went to the intersection of Montreal and Ontario streets when Box 69 was pulled. It was a false alarm.

Firemen from Central fire station were called to nearby Bedford Street, when an auto caught fire near the intersection of North Centre Street. The call was received at 5:14 p. m.

West Side firemen checked an auto fire about 2:48 p. m. on South Smallwood Street just off Greene Street. The car bore Pennsylvania license plates and the driver was not around.

Firemen disconnected the battery after learning there was a short circuit in the wiring of the car. They left a note explaining the reason the battery had been disconnected.

South End firemen had an early morning call when a plastic lid caught fire on an electric range in the kitchen at 13 Virginia Avenue. An extinguisher was used, according to firemen, who said there was no damage. The call came in about 7:53 a. m.

Five Area Men Enlist In Army

During the past week, five area men enlisted in the Army at the local recruiting station, according to M/Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley.

Garry W. Hott, 18, Kirby, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Hott enlisted in the Ordnance Corps for three years. He is a graduate of Romney High School.

Richard E. Wilson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Wilson, Lonaconing, enlisted in the Infantry for three years and upon completion of his basic training will be assigned to Europe. He is a graduate of Valley High School.

Dale W. Broadwater, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale N. Broadwater, Cresaptown, enlisted in the Corps of Engineers for three years. He is a graduate of Allegany High School.

Charles C. Cramer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cramer, Cresaptown, also selected the engineers for three years. He is a graduate of Allegany.

Edward E. Dyche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Dyche, 1407 Oldtown Road, enlisted under the Army's Guaranteed School Program and after his basic will attend radar repair school.

Youth Commission To Meet Tuesday

Officers and directors of the Allegany County Youth Commission will meet Tuesday, November 18, at 8 p.m. in the Department of Employment Security office, 239 North Mechanic Street.

Former Chief Judge George Henderson will preside at the session.

Mt. Savage Cow Leads In Butterfat Production

Mayfair Little Pep, a registered Ayrshire owned by William A. Moore and Son, Mt. Savage, was the October champion butterfat producer of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 107 pounds of butterfat in 2,130 pounds of milk.

However, John Tucker Mason of Cresaptown and Fred C. Siple of Fort Ashby, W. Va., between them had seven of the 12 top butterfat producers in the association, according to the monthly report by Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors. Mr. Siple's three top-producing cows placed second, fourth and tied for eighth, respectively.

Mr. Mason's big producers ranked third, fifth, tied for sixth and tied for eighth.

Marshall R. Porter, RFD 3, Frostburg, had two cows on the select list which included 12 cows because of a three-way tie for tenth place. His cows were tied for sixth and tied for tenth.

Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., and Harry J. Barton, Pinto, had the other two cows tied for tenth place.

Ten of the 12 top-producers were Holsteins and the other two Ayrshires.

During October there were 968 cows on test. They averaged 658 pounds of milk, 27.2 pounds of butterfat and 4.12 per cent butterfat.

The high average herd for the month was the one belonging to Wilbert R. Paul. His 21 cows averaged 1,094 pounds fo milk, 43.2 pounds of butterfat and 3.95 per cent butterfat.

Legislators Back Urban Renewal Plan

Cities Turned Down On Truck Regulation

SALISBURY (AP)—The Legislative Council Friday threw its support behind a proposal of the Maryland Municipal League to give cities and counties power to undertake urban renewal proposals.

Sen. Fred Malkus (D-Dorchester, chairman of the council's Judicial Proceedings Committee, said his group approved the proposal and will give it "healthy support" when the General Assembly convenes early next year.

Under present State law, only Baltimore City has the power to undertake urban renewal projects without state approval. The municipal league, holding its 11th annual convention here, has asked for a constitutional amendment to enable other cities and the counties to institute similar programs.

A three-fifths vote of both houses would be required before the proposal could go on the ballot at the next general election in 1960.

Is Turned Down

A second proposal of the league—a request for regulatory power over the movement of trucks through cities and towns—was not acted on by the Legislative Council.

Malkus indicated the second proposal was not approved because his committee felt local authorities might misuse the power.

The league wants the authority for its member cities and towns so they can regulate movement of trucks on the basis of weight. Executive Secretary Edmund L. Mester said the reason the request was made was to protect residential streets.

"We'll try to get some member of the General Assembly to introduce a bill when the session opens," Mester said. If the bill is offered, Malkus said, his group will ask for hearings to present its case.

Urges State Help

The 200 delegates attending second day sessions of the league convention also heard from Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County).

He reiterated the need for proposals advanced earlier in the day by Del. Ernest A. Loveless (D-Prince Georges), Sen. Edward S. Northrop, (D-Montgomery) and University of Maryland officials.

They called for:

1. A state development agency to encourage economic and industrial development. Both Loveless and Northrop had urged establishment of such an agency.

2. A program, called the Maryland Technical Advisory Service, to help communities help themselves by providing consulting service for sanitary and public works engineering projects, advice in preparation of municipal reports, and help to officials in codifying their ordinances or revising their local charters. University officials said the program, operated by the university, would work without any difficulty. The municipal league threw its support behind such a program last year.

US Will Aid

Delegates also heard from Leigh Curry, chief counsel for the federal Urban Renewal Administration. He and Walter Phelan, regional director of the URA, emphasized that urban renewal programs can be developed by any community with Uncle Sam financing on a 50-50 basis any approved community plan for redeveloping blighted areas.

Phelan noted that only about 40 per cent of the cities participating in the program have less than 25,000 population. But he said the reason is simply that the smaller communities of the country are "not informed about how we operate."

Curry outlined a 7-point technical program for communities to follow in applying for urban renewal funds.

The convention ends Saturday with election of officers and adoption of resolutions.

About the only resolution up for consideration is one renewing the league's request for legislation concerning the regulation of truck traffic.

Astronomy Club Meet Set Here

Plans are under way for the organization of an astronomy club in Cumberland.

A meeting will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. in the Cumberland Free Public Library auditorium to discuss the plans.

All persons interested in astronomy are invited to attend. The club is being formed to promote an interest in astronomy, to provide persons with an opportunity to use telescopes and other astronomical equipment.

It will also provide a means of continuing contacts among amateur astronomers of the community. A group headed by Rance Nethkin, graduate of Fort Hill High School, met Thursday to discuss preliminary plans.

The group is being assisted by Miss Mary Walsh, librarian. Three closeup pictures of the moon are now on display at the library. They were taken by Rance Nethkin who mounted a camera on a six-inch reflecting telescope.

Queen City Buys Three Used Buses

Queen City Bus Lines, Inc., the new operator of Cumberland's buses, has purchased three good used buses from Detroit, Mich., and has placed them in operation, according to Lawrence L. Grim, secretary-terasurer of the corporation which was formed recently by the bus drivers.

Mr. Grim said the three new buses all have a 31-passenger capacity. They are in good running order and need only some paint to be placed in top appearance. Detroit is replacing some 200 buses of this type with 51-passenger Diesel-powered buses.

When the Queen City Bus Lines Inc. submitted a bid of $7,500 in Allegany County Circuit Court, October 14, it covered 23 buses owned by the Cumberland Transit Lines, which had gone into receivership. However, Queen City found that 11 of the buses were little more than junk and has disposed of them.

Eleven buses are kept in operation to maintain the existing schedules. They include the three Detroit buses.

Officials of the company have spent a good deal of money for parts to keep the buses running. They now are working on some schedule changes designed to improve service.

Industry Promotion Committee Meets

The industrial promotion committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce met yesterday in the Chamber offices.

Garland L. Johnston, chairman of the newly appointed committee, presided. Business included a review of past activities and plans for the current program.

Legislature May Decide On Service Areas

SRC Asked To Expand Arguments

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The 1959 legislature may have the final say on whether the state may build and lease elaborate service areas on certain highways without complying with local zoning laws.

Circuit Judge Benjamin Michaelson Friday ordered the State Roads Commission to prepare further arguments in a suit asking him to declare such action legal.

Michaelson said he wanted to get a full record in the case because he believes it will wind up in the Court of Appeals.

He gave the SRC 30 days to amend its suit and promised an early hearing. He said he wanted to see the case determined soon so that the losers might have recourse to the 1959 General Assembly.

Pilot Operation

The case involves a state plan to build and lease a service station and restaurant facility on the Baltimore - Washington Expressway near Dorsey Road.

The pilot operation, first of its kind in Maryland, would cost more than one million dollars and would be leased to private interests on a bid basis.

The roads commission had requested rezoning of the proposed site from agriculture to heavy commerce, and a hearing was set by the Anne Arundel County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Then the SRC decided it was immune from county zoning laws and filed a suit to determine the question. The state's bill of complaint named the county commissioners and zoning officials as respondents, and several operators of restaurants and gas stations were allowed to intervene.

Claims Immunity

The state complaint claimed the SRC is an agency of the sovereign state and "enjoys the immunity of such sovereign from the local laws and regulations of any of its counties."

It also said the General Assembly expressly authorized the SRC to acquire lands for parking and service areas on controlled or denied access highways.

The opponents demurred, a legal action contending the state did not make out a case. Judge Michaelson sustained the demurrer "on technical grounds" with leave to amend.

Hyman Pressman, Baltimore attorney representing the intervening businessmen, presented the main objections to the state suit.

Pressman quoted several court rulings in an effort to show that sovereign immunity is a privilege which the state waives when it voluntarily enters litigation.

Claims Suit Deficient

Pressman said the state law giving counties zoning authority does not provide any exceptions for state agencies. He also claimed the suit was deficient because it did not name all the facilities to be leased or say who would operate them.

He said all indications are that the Legislature did not intend to give the roads commission permission for such an operation. He admitted the law authorizes the state to acquire land for parking and service areas on certain highways, but he said the law does not mention restaurants or rest rooms.

Pressman claimed the "service areas" referred to in the law meant gas stations near service roads.

Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general assigned to the roads commission, replied to Pressman's arguments.

He said Stedman Prescott Jr., deputy attorney general, gave State Senate President Louis L. Goldstein an opinion that such an operation is within the law. He said it is not necessary to look for implied power.

Asks Full Record

Buscher noted that two proposals to prohibit such an operation failed in recent sessions of the General Assembly. He said their introduction indicated that the sponsors thought the SRC already had authority for such an operation.

Judge Michaelson interrupted Buscher to ask for preparation of a more complete record with testimony.

ENDS BASIC—Pvt. Clarence A. Jewell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jewell, 64 Marion Street, has completed eight weeks of basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He is to be assigned to electronics specialist school at Fort Jackson for the next 20 weeks. Jewell is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1956, and enlisted in the Army here for three years.

Mediator Seeks Settlement Of Paper Dispute

Westvaco Offers 5-6 Cent Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP) — First steps toward federal settlement of a labor dispute involving three mills of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. were taken Friday by federal mediator Gilbert McCutcheon.

Representatives of the company and the United Paperworkers Union spent a major portion of the day's closed sessions in reviewing for McCutcheon what has transpired since negotiations started on Oct. 28.

Late in the afternoon the general meeting recessed to permit McCutcheon to talk privately with principals of the disputing parties. He then started his talks with D.C. Valentine, coordinator of labor relations for the company. When these talks are concluded he will begin discussions with union officials.

Joint meetings of both parties with McCutcheon will resume at an unspecified date.

The wage boosts offered by the company range from 5 to 6 cents an hour. At the Covington, Va., plant the present range is from $1.78 to $3.38 an hour. The company proposal would raise the range to $1.81 to $3.50 an hour.

At the Luke, Md., plant the $1.78 to $3.17 range would be boosted to $1.81 to $3.26. At the Williamsburg, Pa., plant the $1.79½ to $2.70 range would be from $1.82½ to $2.79.

West Virginia Forest Fire Threatens Homes

A number of homes were threatened yesterday afternoon when a stubborn woods fire burned over an area about a mile south of Ridgeley just off West Virginia State Route 28.

The fire, which flared up a couple of times during the afternoon, was finally brought under control yesterday evening by volunteer firemen of Ridgeley and Wiley Ford.

The first call was received by Ridgeley volunteers just before 1 p.m., and they received another call about 3 p.m.

When the firemen found they couldn't get to a fire burning down over a cliff they lit a back fire. After they left, the wind shifted and they were called for the third time about 5:20 p.m.

Albright Station To Be Closed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Public Service Commission Friday authorized the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. to discontinue an agency station at Albright, Preston County.

The company had told the PSC that there had been a general decrease in the volume of business at the station and that present business indicates the situation will not improve.

Parking Regulations Effective Today

New parking regulations which will go into effect in Cumberland today were explained yesterday morning at Police Headquarters by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

He informed policemen that the regulations will go into effect today throughout the city, and cautioned them that discretion and good judgment must be used in issuing tickets.

The law in regard to red and yellow lines will be enforced strictly so that it will become standardized, Commissioner Fleming stated, adding that he wanted no partiality shown to anyone. He explained that in most cases red lines are in effect for fire lanes and to help the flow of traffic.

He informed the men that he expected each officer to use common sense in issuing tickets for violations, but that if any complaints arose, he, Chief R. Emmett Flynn, Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney and other officials would back the opinion of the patrolman. Any unanticipated problems that may arise should be referred to superior officers for decisions, the commissioner explained.

Fleming also pointed out that the success of the new regulations will depend on the individual action of each officer, and that every member of the department should live up to rules and regulations so that members of the force can retain the trust and confidence of the community.

The commissioner told the men that they should especially see that loading and unloading zones be used only by trucks and service vehicles since the zones were created for such use alone, and that violations tended to cause such vehicles to look for other places to park and thus create congestion.

The police were also informed that they should see that loading and unloading operations are not violated, and in the event of any delay have the vehicle move on until the operations could be resumed.

Fleming stated that he expected complaints concerning parking during rush hours, but that he would handle each instance as it arose. In anticipation of this, he told the police that he has written to some firms and agencies whose trucks have been brought to his attention.

The parking regulations will be in effect 24 hours daily, he stressed, and said that support of the regulations by each officer will tend to lift the morale and efficiency of the department.

Fleming continued:

Sacred Heart Hospital Gets New X-Ray Unit

Powerful Equipment Is Being Installed

Sacred Heart Hospital is getting a new diagnostic X-ray unit.

The installation of the unit, which will cost about $25,000, is expected to be completed by the middle of next week.

The Queen City Electric Company here is installing the new X-ray unit and a new transformer and making necessary wiring changes and additions.

The unit is being installed on the fourth floor of the hospital and will replace an old unit which is being turned in.

The X-ray unit will be the second major improvement in the hospital financed through a Ford Foundation grant.

A modern sprinkler system was installed in the older section of the hospital last year, and the grant has also made possible the repairs to some floors of the hospital.

Two oxygen tents were purchased last year and two more, financed by the foundation funds, are on the way, according to a hospital spokesman.

The new X-ray unit will be twice as powerful as the old equipment.

Parents Urged To Encourage Family Music

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, November 25, at West Side School as another step in his campaign to get more music in the homes.

The music supervisor is inviting all parents and other interested persons to a meeting that night to learn the basic rules for playing certain simple musical instruments which can be used readily in the home. He will illustrate particularly the flutophone, the recorder and the autoharp.

Persons are invited to bring their own musical instruments to the November 25 meeting.

Since coming here in the summer of 1957, Dr. Gamble has spoken to parent-teacher associations and service clubs about the importance of music in the home to keep the family together and to provide a wholesome program for relaxation.

Those attending the West Side School meeting will be urged to go back to their own PTA groups to encourage more interest in musical instruments.

Manns Choice Driver Nabbed In Hit-Run

A 31-year-old Manns Choice, Pa. man is being held in Bedford County jail in default of $1,500 bond following his arrest for violation of four motor vehicle violations on Thursday evening.

Eugene Eldon Mowry was charged in a hit-and-run accident which occurred about 5:35 p.m. Thursday near the intersection of Pennsylvania State Routes 96 and 31 at Manns Choice.

Police said he struck the left side of a car being driven by Earl Wallace Garland, 19, Manns Choice, who was forced to go partially off the highway. Police said Mowry is being held for court action on charges of failing to identify himself after the accident, failure to stop at the scene, driving while under license suspension and another serious violation.
